Missionaries Buried At Site Of Massacre

Ground Parties In Ecuador Locate All Five Bodies

QUITO, Ecuador, Jan. 13 (AP)—All five American missionaries who flew into the Auca Indian Jungle last week with hopes of Christianizing those savage, stone-age tribesmen are dead.

The five were buried today in the Curaray River valley where they fell under attack, apparently just after radioing last Sunday: "Here comes a group of Aucas we have not known before."

Grady Parrott, president of the Missionary Aviation Fellowship, announced this end of the mission to the Aucas, a bloodthirsty Ecuadorean tribe of naked, painted lancers who know almost nothing of modern civilization.

Ground and air searchers found the fifth body today. The others had been spotted at intervals since last Tuesday in a quest directed from Shell Mera, 100 miles southeast of Quito.

At least one body was pierced by a primitive lance.

The victims were Peter Fleming, Seattle, Wash.; Nathaniel Saint, Huntingdon Valley, Pa.; James Elliott, Portland, Ore.; Edward McCulley, Milwaukee, Wis.; and Roger Youderian, Lansing, Mich.

The missionaries had worked since last September to win the friendship of the tribesmen. They flew repeatedly in a light plane over an Auca village on the river and dropped gifts — machetes, beads, clothing, combs—which the Indians received with evident delight.

Thus encouraged, the five landed on a beach of the river Jan. 3 and put up a prefabricated hut in a tree to serve as their advance camp.

Entries from Fleming's diary—made public yesterday by Abraham Vanderpuy, president of the Inter-American Fellowship of Ecuador—told of the first direct contact of the missionaries with the Aucas. They were two men and a girl — all completely nude — they lured from the jungle by shouting in the Aucan tongue. All seemed unafraid.

The dairy said: "Today is a great day for Christ's evangelism."

Baton Rouge Gas Off Pending Check Of 35,000 Meters

BATON ROUGE, Jan. 13 (AP) — Baton Rouge muttered about Friday the 13th bad luck and shivered today as utility service men called on outside help in restoring gas service, blasted when flames cut two feeder gas mains.

The weather bureau predicted a low temperature tonight of 30 degrees. Ninety per cent of the city is without heat or cooking facilities.

Service was halted about 5:45 a.m. when a leak in two 20-inch mains, the chief supply for the city, caught fire at Olin Gas Transmission Corporation.

Olin officials thought a gas heater in two frame buildings housing control valves started the blaze.

Firemen had the fire out in about two hours and repairs on the break were completed at 2:15 p.m.

But then began a long and tedious job for Gulf States Utilities Co., a meter by meter check of all 35,000 customers affected by the shutoff.

An official explained the check was needed to prevent possible explosions or suffocation from leaking gas after the gas is turned on.

"Just suppose a man left early to go to work," the official said. "He left a heater on. All he has to do is walk in with a cigaret and the whole house may be blown up."

Service men from New Orleans Public Service Inc., Louisiana Power and Light Co. and Norco Gas Company, along with local plumbers, are helping the Gulf States men.

The Gulf States spokesman said they expected to have all the meters checked by "six or seven tonight. Then we'll be able to turn the gas on and start turning the meters on again."

He explained the service men must retrace their steps tonight to turn the 35,000 meters back on.

Earth Satellites To Be Launched From Missile Base In Cocoa, Florida

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—The United States today announced the launching site and first specific details of the earth satellites it hopes to send whizzing into lower space. The program has been described as a first step toward "manned space flight."

Russia has also anonunced plans to launch an artificial satellite. One report is that Soviet scientists expect to get their's aloft at least six months ahead of the first American launching. This is expected to take place sometime after July 1957.

The Defense Department disclosed that Patrick Air Force Base at Cocoa, Fla., had been selected as the U.S. take-off point. The rocket-launched "baby moons" are expected to girdle the earth in an egg-shaped orbit ranging from 200 to 800 miles from earth.

The satellites—whizzing at an 18,000 - mile - an - hour clip and circling the earth once every 90 minutes—would be used as scientific outposts to get new information on the earth, sun and universe. This information conceivably would lead

Youth Acquitted Of Killing Father

MEXIA, Tex., Jan. 13—UP—Joe David Pounds, 18, was acquitted by a jury of six men and six women Thursday night in the fatal shooting of his father.

The crowded courtroom, which included mostly Pounds' teen-age high school friends, rose and applauded the not guilty verdict in the fatal shooting of I. D. Pounds, 56, last May.

Pounds and his mother testified that the elder Pounds, a railroad worker and church deacon, had threatened to kill them shortly before the youth shot him through the heart with a .22 caliber rifle.

Pounds' attorney pleaded accidental homicide and self defense.

Utah Governor Refuses Payment Of Income Taxes

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 13 (AP)—Utah's governor challenged the federal government today to collect by court order the tax on his 1955 income.

Gov. J. Bracken Lee said he believes it is unconstitutional for the federal government to use tax revenue to aid foreign nations. His refusal to pay tax, he said, is intended to test that contention.

"The Constitution," Lee said "grants limited powers to the U. S. government and reserves to the states and the people those powers not otherwise delegated.

"There is no provision anywhere in the Constitution granting the U.S. government the right to appropriate taxpayers' money for the support of foreign nations."

Lee is a Republican, completing his second four-year term as governor. He has long been critical of President Eisenhower's administration and has said he favors the nomination of Sen. William F. Knowland of California as the Republican presidential candidate.

As governor, Lee draws a salary of $10,000 per year. It is subject to the federal witholding tax. But he also has an undisclosed amount of income from investments and it is on that income Lee said he is refusing to pay his tax. He declined

Newsman Refused Access To Billy Mitchell Record

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—UP—A House Government Operations subcommittee on information revealed Friday that the Defense Department once refused to let a newsman examine the 30-year-old record of Gen. Billy Mitchell's courtmartial.

Subcommittee counsel Jacob Scher said the group, headed by Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif.), is investigating other instances of alleged news suppression by the Defense Department.

Honaman, who left his defense post Dec. 30 to return to Bell Telephone Laboratories, defended the order of Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson last March 29 barring the release of information not considered "a constructive contribution to the primary mission" of the department.

He said he knew of no instances in which the directive has been used to suppress information to which newsmen were entitled.

"Would you consider that it is not 'constructive' to release the transcript of the Billy Mitchell courtmartial case 30 years ago?" Scher asked. He said a newspaper asked for a look at the transcript last November, but was refused.

Honaman said he doesn't know anything about the incident. He refused to say whether he thinks the transcript should have been made available. He said that inasmuch as he knew nothing about it he couldn't answer a "hypothetical question."

Honaman testified that Wilson issued the order to stop the Army, Navy and Air Forces from issuing press releases which "reflected discredit on sister services."

Grand Jury At Boston Indicts Brinks Bandits

Double-Crossed Gangster Talks, Gives Jury Story

BOSTON, Jan. 13 —UP— The Suffolk county grand jury heard a double-crossed gangster Friday and then indicted him and his one-time pals for staging the $1,210,000 Brink's holdup.

The grand jury returned the indictments an hour after Joseph (Specs) O'Keefe, a skinny mobster reportedly charged out of the Brink's loot, unburdened his bitter heart.

Indicted on armed robbery and multiple other charges were the entire 11-man gang that allegedly staged the world's biggest cash holdup Jan. 17, 1950.

These included the six men arrested Thursday by the FBI, O'Keefe and another man already serving jail sentences on other charges, two others still at large, and one who is dead.

A total of 46 indictments — with 148 counts — were returned against O'Keefe, 49; Adolph (Jazz) Maffie, 44; Anthony Pino, 48; Vincent J. Coasta, 41; Michael V. Geagan, 47; Joseph F. McGinnis, 52; and Henry Baker, 49; all of the Boston area.

Also indicted were Stanley A. Gusciora, 36, who was in a Pittsburgh jail, James I. Faherty, 44, and Thomas F. (Sandy) Richardson, 48, both of whom still are at large, and Joseph S. Banfield, who died a year ago of natural causes.

The surviving members of the gang will be arraigned next week. No definite date was set.

O'Keefe, his thinning hair cropped close, was District Attorney Garrett H. Byrne's star witness before the 19-member grand jury that included three women.

"He (O'Keefe) talked freely," said a policeman who was in the grand jury room.

O'Keefe also poured out his resentfulness in private interrogation by Byrne in the latter's office. The puny gangster related how he and his confederates planned the Halloween - masked robbery but quarreled among themselves over division of the loot.

O'Keefe said he received nothing.

He said his underworld cronies hired New York gangster Elmer (Trigger) Burke to rub him out with a machine gun in 1954 when he spoke out about the Brink's loot.

Burke was captured after the bungled assassination attempt but escaped from Charles Street jail in a still talked-about walkaway. Burke subsequently was recaptured in South Carolina and returned to New York where he was convicted and sentenced to death for the slaying of a barroom pal.

O'Keefe told Byrne the gang took 18 months to "case" the Brink's job. They watched from nearby roofs and held "rehearsals" in the counting house garage at night after Brink's employes left.

The gang, before the robbery, re-

GM And Chyrsler Order Layoffs For 7,500 Employes

DETROIT, Jan. 13 (AP)—Two of the "Big Three" of the auto industry — General Motors and Chrysler — today reported adjustments in production schedules will result in layoffs affecting nearly 7,500 employes. Ford previously reported a layoff of 4,000 workers.

General Motors said about 3,900 workers are being laid off beginning today at six assembly plants in a scheduled readjustment of Buick, Oldsmobile and Pontiac production.

The GM plants are at Framingham, Mass.; Kansas City; Arlington, Tex.; Wilmington, Del.; Linden, N. J., and Southgate, Calif.

GM has a total work force of 525,000 in the United States.

Chrysler Corp. said it is laying off 3,581 workers at plants in Detroit and Evansville, Ind. The layoffs include 1,400 at the automotive body division and 1,000 at Chrysler division in Detroit, and 1,181 at two Evansville plants. The Plymouth body and assembly plants in Evansville have been employing about 7,000 workers. Chrysler has a nationwide work force of 160,000 including 130,000 in Detroit.

Baptist Mission Burned By Irate Jordan Rioters

Mother Sees No Danger To Son In Latest Flareups

"No, I don't feel that he is in danger as a result of the hospital-burning at Ajlun," Mrs. Joe Gibson, of Ruston, said Friday night when contacted at her home.

She was asked if she thought her son, Dr. James Young, and his family, are in serious danger because of the anti-Western riot Thursday in Ajlun, Jordan, where an American Southern Baptist mission hospital was stormed and burned to the ground. Four Americans were taken by Arab Legion troops to Amman, Jordan, for safety.

Mrs. Gibson said her son is on duty in a mission at Gaza, Palestine, located on the Mediterranean Sea about 100 miles from Ajlun.

Mrs. Gibson also said she had not received any word from her son since the Ajlun incident in which a mob stoned and later stormed the building. No one was reported injured in the riot, but the U. S. Embassy in Amman warned the estimated 300 Americans there of danger zones and outlined security arrangements.

Dr. Young, whose wife also works in the mission hospital where he is, wrote his mother a letter in December just before Christmas. She said it came to her Thursday and that it had been censored. It was the first of his letters to her that was censored, she added.

Special Board To Keep Watch Over U.S. Intelligence

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 —UP— President Eisenhower Friday set up a special eight - member board to keep tabs on the super-secret Central Intelligence Agency and the military spy systems.

The President said the board, which was recommended by the Hoover Commission, would study all the government's foreign intelligence activities but would pay "particular, detailed attention" to the Central Intelligence Agency.

The White House said the eight prominent Americans named to the board have the 'fullest confidence" of the President and will require the highest type of security clearance. All were selected from outside government.

Named as chairman was Dr. James R. Killian Jr., president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Mr. Eisenhower wrote Killiam and the other board members asking them to meet at least once every six months.

The President charged the group with responsibility of studying "over-all progress" in the foreign intelligence field. It appeared that board members will have access to most of the government's closely - guarded secrets in this area.

There have been repeated suggestions in congress that a joint House-Senate committee be appointed to check on the activities of the CIA just as the joint atomic energy committee watches over the Atomic Energy Commission. But nothing ever has come of the proposals.

Crossett Housewife Nails Morning World's Puzzle Jackpot To Collect $675

By BONANZA BILL

A Crossett, Ark. housewife, and former school teacher, who has been working cross word puzzles for several years, this week won her first prize for her efforts, and nailed down the $675 jackpot in the Morning World series.

Mrs. K. B. Crossland, 704 Beech street, wife of a paper mill employee, achieved the fete after trying to solve puzzles in the weekly competition for five weeks.

After a check for $675 had been presented to her yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Leslie Moore, Crossett correspondent for the Morning World, Mrs. Crossland revealed that she plans to give 10 per cent of the money to her church.

Danger Of Air Collisions Reaches Alarming Levels

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—UP—The government reported Friday that danger of air collisions has reached alarming proportions. It called for drastic steps to modernize the current air control system.

The report, made public by President Eisenhower's Budget Bureau, said passenger airlines now have an average of four near-collisions a day and all other planes confront similar danger.

It said action is urgently needed to avert "even more dangerous conditions" in the air over the United States where 90,000 active civilian and military planes now operate.

It said the federal air traffic control system now run by the Civil Aeronautics Administration is "outmoded" and "overloaded."

Chairman A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) of the Senate Aviation subcommittee said the report "proves the case of those of us who have been protesting against the ground-mindedness" of Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks.

He said the present inadequate air traffic control system is "the direct result of Weeks' penny-pinching budgetary policies" where air traffic control improvements are concerned.

Monroney also took issue with the report's recommendation that a leading individual be appointed to draft a master plan for air traffic control.

"This is the time for action rather than for further study," he told a reporter. "It's later than they think."

Election Fraud Charges Hurled In St. Bernard

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 13 (AP) — New charges of election corruption in nearby St. Bernard Parish were advanced today in a court suit brought against Clerk of Court Anthony B. Nunez.

The suit was filed by assessor candidate Kenneth Edwards a few hours after Sidney Torres, a candidate for Nunez' clerk of court post, charged that four more absentee ballots were accepted for people who were out of the state at the time.

Nunez, a follower of political boss Leander Perez, is a candidate for sheriff against N. P. Trist, who broke with the Perez forces.

Earlier in the week Trist supporters charged that an airman was on duty in Illinois at the same time an absentee ballot bearing his name was filed in St. Bernard.

In his suit, Edwards charged that "voters are afraid to vote according to their wishes for fear of political reprisals." He cited five alleged violations:

1. Voters denied the right to vote in secrecy.
2. Voters were furnished with partisan sample ballots with the names of the Nunez candidates already blocked in.
3. An accurate list of registered voters was not posted in the clerk's office.
4. Nunez and his deputies have been urging voters to cast absentee ballots without telling them they must be absent on election day.
5 Voters have been permitted to file fraudulent ballots, particularly members of the armed forces.

Judge Bruce Nunez set a court hearing on the charges Jan. 24, a week after the first primary election.

Edwards charged that "each and every" fraudulent absentee ballot was cast by "political followers" of Nunez.

Torres, in making his charges, said absentee ballots were cast in the name of Clyde Billy Molero,

Arabs Protest Entrance Into Baghdad Pact

Four Americans Taken To Safety By Legion Troops

AMMAN, Jordan, Jan. 13 (AP)—Four Americans were brought here to safety today by Arab Legion troops after rioters burned down two buildings of a Southern Baptist mission hospital and looted others in northern Jordan.

The hospital's staff was not injured when the mob stormed the building at Ajlun yesterday. Lloyd Lovegreen, hospital director, was among the rescued Americans. The hospital was stoned last Monday.

Violent anti - Western rioting against the pro-Western Baghdad Alliance has been erupting in Jordan for nearly a week. New reports of violence came from outlying regions. In Remtha, near the Syrian border, police fought with rioters yesterday, but the town was quiet today.

In Richmond, Va., the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board said it had been informed by the State Department the rioters were beaten off before the Ajlun hospital sustained severe damage.

The report said all personnel are safe and the hospital is continuing its work, said Dr. Baker James Cauthen, executive secretary of the board.

He identified the Americans at the hospital at the time of the attack as Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd August Lovegreen of Birmingham, Ala.; a nurse, Miss Viola Popp of Cumberland, Md.; and Dr. Lovegreen's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Levi Lovegreen.

Dr. Cauthern said the elder Dr. Lovegreen was a missionary of the Conservative Baptist mission who had recently been released by the Chinese Communists at Hong Kong.

He said Dr. Levi Lovegreen and his wife stopped at Ajlun to visit their son on the way back to the United States.

Another nurse at the Ajlun mission, Miss Anna Cowan of Ulrich, Mo., was believed away from the hospital at the time of the attack, Dr. Cauthen said.

The arrival of the hospital group leaves only four Americans on the east bank of the Jordan River. An estimated 300 American government employes, businessmen, hospital and social workers now are in Amman, organized under district wardens. A bulletin issued daily by the U.S. Embassy warns them of the danger zones and outlines security arrangements.

Several American installations have been attacked by rioters, in-

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Jan. 13—UP— A runaway freight train smashed into a rail bus carrying 60 children home from school Friday, killing at least 20 of them.

Some 20 other persons, most of them children, were reported injured.

Railroad employes saw the disaster coming and frantically sought to stop the freight and evacuate the bus but the train thundered into the small passenger unit at 60 miles an hour. The disaster occurred near Kopparberg, about 140 miles northwest of here.

O'Keefe said he received nothing.

He said his underworld cronies hired New York gangster Elmer (Trigger) Burke to rub him out with a machine gun in 1954 when he spoke out about the Brink's loot.

Burke was captured after the bungled assassination attempt but escaped from Charles Street jail in a still talked-about walkaway. Burke subsequently was recaptured in South Carolina and returned to New York where he was convicted and sentenced to death for the slaying of a barroom pal.

O'Keefe told Byrne the gang took 18 months to "case" the Brink's job. They watched from nearby roofs and held "rehearsals" in the counting house garage at night after Brink's employes left.

The gang, before the robbery, re-

GM And Chyrsler Order Layoffs For 7,500 Employes

DETROIT, Jan. 13 (AP)—Two of the "Big Three" of the auto industry — General Motors and Chrysler — today reported adjustments in production schedules will result in layoffs affecting nearly 7,500 employes. Ford previously reported a layoff of 4,000 workers.

General Motors said about 3,900 workers are being laid off beginning today at six assembly plants in a scheduled readjustment of Buick, Oldsmobile and Pontiac production.

The GM plants are at Framingham, Mass.; Kansas City; Arlington, Tex.; Wilmington, Del.; Linden, N. J., and Southgate, Calif.

GM has a total work force of 525,000 in the United States.

Chrysler Corp. said it is laying off 3,581 workers at plants in Detroit and Evansville, Ind. The layoffs include 1,400 at the automotive body division and 1,000 at Chrysler division in Detroit, and 1,181 at two Evansville plants. The Plymouth body and assembly plants in Evansville have been employing about 7,000 workers. Chrysler has a nationwide work force of 160,000 including 130,000 in Detroit.

Newsman Refused Access To Billy Mitchell Record

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—UP—A House Government Operations subcommittee on information revealed Friday that the Defense Department once refused to let a newsman examine the 30-year-old record of Gen. Billy Mitchell's courtmartial.

Subcommittee counsel Jacob Scher said the group, headed by Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif.), is investigating other instances of alleged news suppression by the Defense Department.

Honaman, who left his defense post Dec. 30 to return to Bell Telephone Laboratories, defended the order of Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson last March 29 barring the release of information not considered "a constructive contribution to the primary mission" of the department.

He said he knew of no instances in which the directive has been used to suppress information to which newsmen were entitled.

"Would you consider that it is not 'constructive' to release the transcript of the Billy Mitchell courtmartial case 30 years ago?" Scher asked. He said a newspaper asked for a look at the transcript last November, but was refused.

Honaman said he doesn't know anything about the incident. He refused to say whether he thinks the transcript should have been made available. He said that inasmuch as he knew nothing about it he couldn't answer a "hypothetical question."

Honaman testified that Wilson issued the order to stop the Army, Navy and Air Forces from issuing press releases which "reflected discredit on sister services."

Baptist Mission Burned By Irate Jordan Rioters

Mother Sees No Danger To Son In Latest Flareups

"No, I don't feel that he is in danger as a result of the hospital-burning at Ajlun," Mrs. Joe Gibson, of Ruston, said Friday night when contacted at her home.

She was asked if she thought her son, Dr. James Young, and his family, are in serious danger because of the anti-Western riot Thursday in Ajlun, Jordan, where an American Southern Baptist mission hospital was stormed and burned to the ground. Four Americans were taken by Arab Legion troops to Amman, Jordan, for safety.

Mrs. Gibson said her son is on duty in a mission at Gaza, Palestine, located on the Mediterranean Sea about 100 miles from Ajlun.

Mrs. Gibson also said she had not received any word from her son since the Ajlun incident in which a mob stoned and later stormed the building. No one was reported injured in the riot, but the U. S. Embassy in Amman warned the estimated 300 Americans there of danger zones and outlined security arrangements.

Dr. Young, whose wife also works in the mission hospital where he is, wrote his mother a letter in December just before Christmas. She said it came to her Thursday and that it had been censored. It was the first of his letters to her that was censored, she added.

Commenting that it took longer

Special Board To Keep Watch Over U.S. Intelligence

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 —UP— President Eisenhower Friday set up a special eight - member board to keep tabs on the super-secret Central Intelligence Agency and the military spy systems.

The President said the board, which was recommended by the Hoover Commission, would study all the government's foreign intelligence activities but would pay "particular, detailed attention" to the Central Intelligence Agency.

The White House said the eight prominent Americans named to the board have the 'fullest confidence" of the President and will require the highest type of security clearance. All were selected from outside government.

Named as chairman was Dr. James R. Killian Jr., president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Mr. Eisenhower wrote Killiam and the other board members asking them to meet at least once every six months.

The President charged the group with responsibility of studying "over-all progress" in the foreign intelligence field. It appeared that board members will have access to most of the government's closely - guarded secrets in this area.

There have been repeated suggestions in congress that a joint House-Senate committee be appointed to check on the activities of the CIA just as the joint atomic energy committee watches over the Atomic Energy Commission. But nothing ever has come of the proposals.

The President said that he be-

By BONANZA BILL

A Crossett, Ark. housewife, and former school teacher, who has been working cross word puzzles for several years, this week won her first prize for her efforts, and nailed down the $675 jackpot in the Morning World series.

Mrs. K. B. Crossland, 704 Beech street, wife of a paper mill employee, achieved the fete after trying to solve puzzles in the weekly competition for five weeks.

After a check for $675 had been presented to her yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Leslie Moore, Crossett correspondent for the Morning World, Mrs. Crossland revealed that she plans to give 10 per cent of the money to her church.

Election Fraud Charges Hurled In St. Bernard

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 13 (AP) — New charges of election corruption in nearby St. Bernard Parish were advanced today in a court suit brought against Clerk of Court Anthony B. Nunez.

The suit was filed by assessor candidate Kenneth Edwards a few hours after Sidney Torres, a candidate for Nunez' clerk of court post, charged that four more absentee ballots were accepted for people who were out of the state at the time.

Nunez, a follower of political boss Leander Perez, is a candidate for sheriff against N. P. Trist, who broke with the Perez forces.

Earlier in the week Trist supporters charged that an airman was on duty in Illinois at the same time an absentee ballot bearing his name was filed in St. Bernard.

In his suit, Edwards charged that "voters are afraid to vote according to their wishes for fear of political reprisals." He cited five alleged violations:

1. Voters denied the right to vote in secrecy.

2. Voters were furnished with partisan sample ballots with the names of the Nunez candidates already blocked in.

3. An accurate list of registered voters was not posted in the clerk's office.

4. Nunez and his deputies have been urging voters to cast absentee ballots without telling them they must be absent on election day.

5 Voters have been permitted to file fraudulent ballots, particularly members of the armed forces.

Judge Bruce Nunez set a court hearing on the charges Jan. 24, a week after the first primary election.

Edwards charged that "each and every" fraudulent absentee ballot was cast by "political followers" of Nunez.

Torres, in making his charges said absentee ballots were cast in the name of Clyde Billy Molero,

Danger Of Air Collisions Reaches Alarming Levels

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—UP—The government reported Friday that danger of air collisions has reached alarming proportions. It called for drastic steps to modernize the current air control system.

The report, made public by President Eisenhower's Budget Bureau, said passenger airlines now have an average of four near-collisions a day and all other planes confront similar danger.

It said action is urgently needed to avert "even more dangerous conditions" in the air over the United States where 90,000 active civilian and military planes now operate.

It said the federal air traffic control system now run by the Civil Aeronautics Administration is "outmoded" and "overloaded."

Chairman A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) of the Senate Aviation subcommittee said the report "proves the case of those of us who have been protesting against the ground-mindedness" of Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks.

He said the present inadequate air traffic control system is "the direct result of Weeks' penny-pinching budgetary policies" where air traffic control improvements are concerned.

Monroney also took issue with the report's recommendation that a leading individual be appointed to draft a master plan for air traffic control.

"This is the time for action rather than for further study," he told a reporter. "It's later than they think."

Arabs Protest Entrance Into Baghdad Pact

Four Americans Taken To Safety By Legion Troops

AMMAN, Jordan, Jan. 13 (AP)—Four Americans were brought here to safety today by Arab Legion troops after rioters burned down two buildings of a Southern Baptist mission hospital and looted others in northern Jordan.

The hospital's staff was not injured when the mob stormed the building at Ajlun yesterday. Lloyd Lovegreen, hospital director, was among the rescued Americans. The hospital was stoned last Monday.

Violent anti - Western rioting against the pro-Western Baghdad Alliance has been erupting in Jordan for nearly a week. New reports of violence came from outlying regions. In Remtha, near the Syrian border, police fought with rioters yesterday, but the town was quiet today.

In Richmond, Va., the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board said it had been informed by the State Department the rioters were beaten off before the Aljun hospital sustained severe damage.

The report said all personnel are safe and the hospital is continuing its work, said Dr. Baker James Cauthen, executive secretary of the board.

He identified the Americans at the hospital at the time of the attack as Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd August Lovegreen of Birmingham, Ala.; a nurse, Miss Viola Popp of Cumberland, Md.; and Dr. Lovegreen's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Levi Lovegreen.

Dr. Cauthern said the elder Dr. Lovegreen was a missionary of the Conservative Baptist mission who had recently been released by the Chinese Communists at Hong Kong.

He said Dr. Levi Lovegreen and his wife stopped at Ajlun to visit their son on the way back to the United States.

Another nurse at the Ajlun mission, Miss Anna Cowan of Ulrich, Mo., was believed away from the hospital at the time of the attack, Dr. Cauthen said.

The arrival of the hospital group leaves only four Americans on the east bank of the Jordan River. An estimated 300 American government employes, businessmen, hospital and social workers now are in Amman, organized under district wardens. A bulletin issued daily by the U.S. Embassy warns them of the danger zones and outlines security arrangements.

Several American installations have been attacked by rioters, in-

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Jan. 13—UP— A runaway freight train smashed into a rail bus carrying 60 children home from school Friday, killing at least 20 of them.

Some 20 other persons, most of them children, were reported injured.

Railroad employes saw the disaster coming and frantically sought to stop the freight and evacuate the bus but the train thundered into the small passenger unit at 60 miles an hour. The disaster occurred near Kopparberg, about 140 miles northwest of here.

Classic Paradox Faces Police In Killing Where No Body Can Be Found

By ARTHUR EVERETT

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—Police today were faced with the classic paradox of crime fiction—a homicide case without a body.

Sixty detectives were assigned to try to find some trace of the dissected body of 20-year-old Jacqueline Smith, victim of a bungled abortion.

Her body was dismembered Christmas Eve into more than 50 pieces, police said, and these were wrapped in gay Christmas gift wrapping and dropped in trash containers in side streets off Upper Broadway.

Miss Smith's lover, 24-year-old Thomas G. Daniel, and a friend, Leo Pijuan, 46, are held on homicide charges. Pijuan is accused of the abortion and Daniel is alleged to have assisted him in the operation and the dissection of the body of the pretty blonde girl.

Sanitation Department trash collectors were being questioned on the chance they may have noted the bizarre gift-wrapped parcels. Unburned piles of rubbish in city dumps also were being sifted.

The body may have been burned piece by piece in one of the city's trash incinerators. If so, no trace of it may ever be found.

However, the district attorney's office was prepared to proceed with its case without a body.

Contrary to fiction, the law does not always require the production of a body to sustain a homicdie case. If it can be established by some other means that Miss Smith met death during an abortion, no body might be necessary.

Cast in the role of potential star witness against Daniel and Pijuan is a young Mexican doctor, Ramiro Morales. Authorities say he was called in in the midst of the abortion and pronounced Miss Smith dead. His testimony might offset the lack of a body.

He has cooperated with authorities, who have emphasized that the physician himself is in no way guilty of any wrong-doing.

A grand jury must eventually specify the degree of homicide in the state's case against Daniel and Pijuan.

Normally, a homicide occurring during the commission of a felony is first degree murder, punishable by death in the electric chair. However, New York has a special statute covering abortion deaths which limits the degree of the charge to manslaughter, punishable by a maximum 20 years in prison.

Miss Smith came to New York from her Lebanon, Pa., home a year ago, thirsting for a career as a fashion artist. She found work as a fashion designer in a textile house.

Last June, she crossed paths with Daniel a poet and part-time intellectual who worked for a harness firm in downtown New York.

Authorities said she moved into his East 27th Street apartment and he became her lover. Finding herself six weeks pregnant, it is alleged, she consented to an abortion at Daniel's apartment after he refused to marry her.

Her father, Chester Smith, reported her missing Dec. 30 and a police investigation led to the arrest of Daniel and Pijuan yesterday.

Police On Alert For Trio Mailing Red Propaganda

BATON ROUGE, Jan. 13 (AP) — State police broadcast a statewide alert today for three women in a green station wagon for investigation in the mailing of communist literature here.

State law bans communist activity. District attorney J. St.Clair Favrot Tuesday said mailing of the four-page leaflets was discovered here.

The leaflets recruited party memberships and attacked segregation.

Favrot said the FBI was informed of the activity. He attempted to locate persons responsible for the mailing through the Baton Rouge postoffice.

State police said only a few details were given in the broadcast. It was believed the station wagon was a 1952 or 1953 model bearing an Illinois license. No description of the women was available.

Orders were for any patrol unit sighting the vehicle to watch its movements and report to the district attorney's office here. There were no instructions to halt the vehicle.

The literature causing the search was signed by the Southern Regional Committee of the Communist Party, giving a St. Louis, Mo., postoffice address.

$50 Cow Causes $1,400 Collision Near Sterlington

A $50 cow caused a $1,400 auto damage near here Thursday night.

The cow darted across the Sterlington Road about 10 miles north of Monroe on the Sterlington Road, and was struck by an automobile which in turn was hit from the rear by another vehicle.

Driver of the vehicle which struck and killed the animal was identified by State Police as James Earl Shivers, 49, of Oak Grove.

Driver of the second vehicle was Mrs. Lorie Moore Brown, 28, wife of Assistant District Attorney Gilbert T. Brown. Brown was a passenger in the auto. No injuries were sustained by either of the trio.

According to police reports, Mrs. Brown had attempted to go around Shivers' car when he hit the cow which threw his vehicle in the path of Mrs. Brown.

Grevemberg Asks Opponent's Stand On Tax Stamp Bill

ABBEVILLE, La., Jan. 13 (AP)—Former state police Supt. Francis Grevemberg tonight challenged his four opponents in the governor's race to say where they stand on the gambling stamp bill.

Grevemberg said his bill to make possession of a federal gambling stamp prima facie evidence of gambling was killed by the 1954 Legislature through efforts of Gov. Robert Kennon and a filibuster engineered by New Orleans Mayor deLesseps Morrison.

"There is no reason why a man should purchase a gambling stamp unless he is a gambler," Grevemberg said. "We are either for gambling or against it."

Grevemberg again said Morrison's law enforcement record was poor and former Gov. Earl Long allowed "the vice lords and racketeers to run rampant in Louisiana."

Gambling, he said, attracts other vices and leads to corruption of public officials, whether it is operated illegally, as in Louisiana, or legally, as in Nevada.

Look Magazine Article Branded As 'False' By Principle In Till Trial

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP) — A magazine article saying Emmett Till, Chicago negro, was slain by one of two white men who were tried and acquitted of the crime in Mississippi has been placed in the Congressional Record by Rep. Diggs (D-Mich).

The second man tried, the article says, was at the scene when Till was shot and thrown into a river last August.

Diggs, a Negro, said the article published in Look Magazine showed a need for congressional action to permit Negroes to qualify for jury duty in all states and "exercise influence in the election of fair-minded public officials."

In his own introductory remarks printed in the Congressional Record for yesterday's session, Diggs said:

"There is no doubt in my mind that the information came from the killers themselves, J. W. Milam and Roy Bryant."

Milam and Bryant, who were acquitted by a Mississippi jury, have reiterated their innocence and denied talking with the author of the Look article.

The article, written by William Bradford Huie, is titled "The Shocking Story of Approved Killing in Mississippi." It says Milam shot Till and he and Bryant wired a heavy weight to the youth's neck and rolled his body into the river. This was a few days after Till was said to have whistled at Mrs. Bryant.

Milam, whom the article purports to quote, said in Jackson, Miss.: "I don't know a damn thing about it, and you can quote me on that. . . .

"I never saw anyone named William Bradford Huie that I know of . . . I've never made statements like that to anyone. . . ."

Bryant said of the article, "It's false."

"To date, nobody mentioned in the article, including J. W. Milam and Roy Bryant—has contacted Look about the article and neither has Look been contacted by lawyers representing any of the people mentioned in the article.

"To the best of our knowledge, neither has anyone mentioned in the article—or lawyers representing any of the people mentioned in the article — contacted William Bradford Huie."

Huie said in a separate statement that he had "talked to all of the important sources in Mississippi."

"Naturally, because of the tensions in Mississippi and the danger involved to the people I talked to if I reveal their identity," he said, "I cannot, as a responsible newsman, enumerate these sources by name. . . ."

Circuit Judge Arthur Jordan said in Greenwood, Miss., there was a "possibility" that Bryant and Milam still could be indicted for kidnaping, but he said, "No grand jury is going to indict on the basis of a magazine article."

Kugler Funeral To Be Held At 10 A.M. At Grace Church

Funeral services for J. B. Kugler will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. at the Grace Episcopal Church with Rev. John M. Allin officiating. Interment will follow in Riverview Burial park under the direction of Hixson Brothers Funeral Home.

Mr. Kugler, half owner of the Monroe Steam Laundry, died from a heart attack at his home, 101 Bright Avenue, Monday, shortly after 1 o'clock Friday morning.

He was a nephew of the late Mrs. Cooley and at her death some months ago, he inherited the Cooley residence and most of the Cooley estate.

Mr. Kugler is survived by his wife, and one daughter, Mrs. A. P. Curty, Jr. of Monroe.

Wisconsin farmers used an estimated 239,880,000 gallons of gasoline on their farms in 1953. About 43 per cent was used in tractors.

Northeast Faculty Members Slate 2:30 P.M. Program

Four Northeast State faculty members will participate in the college's bi-weekly television program scheduled at 2:30 p.m. today.

The instructors will offer a resolution concerning their respective departments of fields of work in college which they think will be beneficial to the public.

Members of the faculty participating will be Dr. Gladys Jones, reading specialist in the special education clinic; Dr. Harry M. Lemert, head of the fine arts department; Emmett J. Foster, head of pure and applied sciences; and James W. Parkerson, member of the fine arts faculty and Northeast's radio and television program chairman.

Northeast State's telecasts are built around the school, its faculty and students. In accord with this policy, the television program chairman is planning to introduce within the near future another phase of school activities. The innovation will be a series on Indian lore presented by the science department.

Mrs. LeBlanc, 68, Dies; Rites Today

Mrs. Linnie Priest LeBlanc, 68, died late Thursday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bessie Sciara of Monroe.

Funeral services will be held at 9 a.m. Saturday, from St. Matthew's Catholic Church. Interment under the direction of Hall Funeral Home will follow in the Memorial Park Cemetery.

There was a Rosary Service at the Chapel of Hall Funeral Home at 7 p.m. Friday evening.

She is survived by one son, Paul J. LeBlanc, Los Angeles, Calif.; three daughters, Mrs. Bessie Sciara, Monroe, Mrs. Marguerite Benson, Houston, Texas, Mrs. Mollie Melton, Abiline, Texas; two sisters Mrs. Maggie O'Keefe of Houston, Texas, Mrs. Birdie Tanner of Monticello, Ark., and three grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Vincent Marsala, Duffy Brown, Wilmer Lawson Jr., Ray Frankowicz, Sam Lasuzzo, and Harold Breard.

Dulles Meets Solon

George Refuses To Give Support For Aid Measure

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga) emerged from a long conference with Secretary of State Dulles today as strongly opposed as ever to President Eisenhower's proposal for long-range foreign economic commitments.

George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told reporters he is not willing to vote to tie this government to any amount of foreign assistance "for any number of years in advance."

Before his meeting with George which lasted an hour and a half, Dulle conferred with Sen. H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey, second-ranking Republican on the Foreign Relations Committee.

Later in the day the secretary had an appointment with the Senate Republican leader, Sen. Knowland of California. Knowland frequently differs with administration foreign policy, whereas Smith generally has supported it.

The conferences presumably were part of a series planned by Dulles in an effort to win support for the Eisenhower program in advance of its formal submission to Congress.

George, who has played a major role in steering Eisenhower administration foreign aid proposals through Congress in the past, could hold the key to sucess or failure of the program this year.

Also, his stand could conceivably have an effect to his own campaign for renomination to the Senate. His prospective opponent, former Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia, has been bearing down hard in opposition to foreign aid, calling it a "global WPA."

After leaving the State Department meeting, George told a reporter:

"I am not excluding foreign aid and assistance, but I am opposed to committing ourselves for any number of years in advance as to what we will spend on any country.

"We must be free to say what countries we are to deal with, and that they are friendly. We must be free to make the programs in Congress." He added.

"I believe the whole program should be kept entirely flexible.

While George spoke freely enough of his own views, he declined to discuss his conversation with Dulles. The secretary likewise had nothing to say.

George said the conference covered "many subjects and was not directed specifically at his outspoken opposition to the new aid policy.

Without reference to anything Dulles may have told him, George said he feels world conditions are "not in a very happy state."

He said the Geneva foreign ministers conference had made it clear that "so far as the Kremlin can control it, Germany never will be unified except on Russian terms."

He said the situation remains "acute" in the Middle East, where Israel and Arab nations are involved in border disputes. The situation there apparently has "moved no nearer solution," he remarked.

George called conditions in France "chaotic' and the problems of Southeast Asia remain unsolved.

"One can't say the state of the world is happy or pleasing but I don't accept the conclusion that it is hopeless, George said.

Eisenhower asked Congress in his State of the Union message for limited authority to make long-term commitments on economic aid to countries needing help on development projects which might take years in the completion.

Dulles is preparing to ask Congress to vote $4,900,000,000 in new foreign military and economic aid for the fiscal year starting July 1. This is nearly double the current years appropriation but not all of it would be spent in the year ahead. Some of it would be used to replenish the pipeline for future deliveries.

The proposals have stirred up signs of opposition in the Senate, in Republican as well as Democratic quarters. Knowland has refuesd to commit himself in advance.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—Police today were faced with the classic paradox of crime fiction—a homicide case without a body.

Sixty detectives were assigned to try to find some trace of the dissected body of 20-year-old Jacqueline Smith, victim of a bungled abortion.

Her body was dismembered Christmas Eve into more than 50 pieces, police said, and these were wrapped in gay Christmas gift wrapping and dropped in trash containers in side streets off Upper Broadway.

Miss Smith's lover, 24-year-old Thomas G. Daniel, and a friend, Leo Pijuan, 46, are held on homicide charges. Pijuan is accused of the abortion and Daniel is alleged to have assisted him in the operation and the dissection of the body of the pretty blonde girl.

Sanitation Department trash collectors were being questioned on the chance they may have noted the bizarre gift-wrapped parcels. Unburned piles of rubbish in city dumps also were being sifted.

The body may have been burned piece by piece in one of the city's trash incinerators. If so, no trace of it may ever be found.

However, the district attorney's office was prepared to proceed with its case without a body.

Contrary to fiction, the law does not always require the production of a body to sustain a homicidie case. If it can be established by some other means that Miss Smith met death during an abortion, no body might be necessary.

Cast in the role of potential star witness against Daniel and Pijuan is a young Mexican doctor, Ramiro Morales. Authorities say he was called in in the midst of the abortion and pronounced Miss Smith dead. His testimony might offset the lack of a body.

He has cooperated with authorities, who have emphasized that the physician himself is in no way guilty of any wrong-doing.

A grand jury must eventually specify the degree of homicide in the state's case against Daniel and Pijuan.

Normally, a homicide occurring during the commission of a felony is first degree murder, punishable by death in the electric chair. However, New York has a special statute covering abortion deaths which limits the degree of the charge to manslaughter, punishable by a maximum 20 years in prison.

Miss Smith came to New York from her Lebanon, Pa., home a year ago, thirsting for a career as a fashion artist. She found work as a fashion designer in a textile house.

Last June, she crossed paths with Daniel a poet and part-time intellectual who worked for a harness firm in downtown New York.

Authorities said she moved into his East 27th Street apartment and he became her lover. Finding herself six weeks pregnant, it is alleged, she consented to an abortion at Daniel's apartment after he refused to marry her.

Her father, Chester Smith, reported her missing Dec. 30 and a police investigation led to the arrest of Daniel and Pijuan yesterday.

Police On Alert For Trio Mailing Red Propaganda

BATON ROUGE, Jan. 13 (AP) — State police broadcast a statewide alert today for three women in a green station wagon for investigation in the mailing of communist literature here.

State law bans communist activity. District attorney J. St.Clair Favrot Tuesday said mailing of the four-page leaflets was discovered here.

The leaflets recruited party memberships and attacked segregation.

Favrot said the FBI was informed of the activity. He attempted to locate persons responsible for the mailing through the Baton Rouge postoffice.

State police said only a few details were given in the broadcast. It was believed the station wagon was a 1952 or 1953 model bearing an Illinois license. No description of the women was available.

Orders were for any patrol unit sighting the vehicle to watch its movements and report to the district attorney's office here. There were no instructions to halt the vehicle.

The literature causing the search was signed by the Southern Regional Committee of the Communist Party, giving a St. Louis, Mo., postoffice address.

$50 Cow Causes $1,400 Collision Near Sterlington

A $50 cow caused a $1,400 auto damage near here Thursday night.

The cow darted across the Sterlington Road about 10 miles north of Monroe on the Sterlington Road, and was struck by an automobile which in turn was hit from the rear by another vehicle.

Driver of the vehicle which struck and killed the animal was identified by State Police as James Earl Shivers, 49, of Oak Grove.

Driver of the second vehicle was Mrs. Lorie Moore Brown, 28, wife of Assistant District Attorney Gilbert T. Brown. Brown was a passenger in the auto. No injuries were sustained by either of the trio.

According to police reports, Mrs. Brown had attempted to go around Shivers' car when he hit the cow which threw his vehicle in the path of Mrs. Brown.

Grevemberg Asks Opponent's Stand On Tax Stamp Bill

ABBEVILLE, La., Jan. 13 (AP)—Former state police Supt. Francis Grevemberg tonight challenged his four opponents in the governor's race to say where they stand on the gambling stamp bill.

Grevemberg said his bill to make possession of a federal gambling stamp prima facie evidence of gambling was killed by the 1954 Legislature through efforts of Gov. Robert Kennon and a filibuster engineered by New Orleans Mayor deLesseps Morrison.

"There is no reason why a man should purchase a gambling stamp unless he is a gambler," Grevemberg said. "We are either for gambling or against it."

Grevemberg again said Morrison's law enforcement record was poor and former Gov. Earl Long allowed "the vice lords and racketeers to run rampant in Louisiana."

Gambling, he said, attracts other vices and leads to corruption of public officials, whether it is operated illegally, as in Louisiana, or legally, as in Nevada.

Francis O. Lattier Dies In Winnfield

Look Magazine Article Branded As 'False' By Principle In Till Trial

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP) — A magazine article saying Emmett Till, Chicago negro, was slain by one of two white men who were tried and acquitted of the crime in Mississippi has been placed in the Congressional Record by Rep. Diggs (D-Mich).

The second man tried, the article says, was at the scene when Till was shot and thrown into a river last August.

Diggs, a Negro, said the article published in Look Magazine showed a need for congressional action to permit Negroes to qualify for jury duty in all states and "exercise influence in the election of fair-minded public officials."

In his own introductory remarks printed in the Congressional Record for yesterday's session, Diggs said:

"There is no doubt in my mind that the information came from the killers themselves, J. W. Milam and Roy Bryant."

Milam and Bryant, who were acquitted by a Mississippi jury, have reiterated their innocence and denied talking with the author of the Look article.

The article, written by William Bradford Huie, is titled "The Shocking Story of Approved Killing in Mississippi." It says Milam shot Till and he and Bryant wired a heavy weight to the youth's neck and rolled his body into the river. This was a few days after Till was said to have whistled at Mrs. Bryant.

Milam, whom the article purports to quote, said in Jackson, Miss.: "I don't know a damn thing about it, and you can quote me on that. . . .

"I never saw anyone named William Bradford Huie that I know of . .. I've never made statements like that to anyone. ..."

Bryant said of the article, "It's false."

"To date, nobody mentioned in the article, including J. W. Milam and Roy Bryant—has contacted Look about the article and neither has Look been contacted by lawyers representing any of the people mentioned in the article.

"To the best of our knowledge, neither has anyone mentioned in the article—or lawyers representing any of the people mentioned in the article — contacted William Bradford Huie."

Huie said in a separate statement that he had "talked to all of the important sources in Mississippi."

"Naturally, because of the tensions in Mississippi and the danger involved to the people I talked to if I reveal their identity," he said, "I cannot, as a responsible newsman, enumerate these sources by name. . . ."

Circuit Judge Arthur Jordan said in Greenwood, Miss., there was a "possibility" that Bryant and Milam still could be indicted for kidnaping, but he said, "No grand jury is going to indict on the basis of a magazine article."

Kugler Funeral To Be Held At 10 A.M. At Grace Church

Funeral services for J. B. Kugler will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. at the Grace Episcopal Church with Rev. John M. Allin officiating. Interment will follow in Riverview Burial park under the direction of Hixson Brothers Funeral Home.

Mr. Kugler, half owner of the Monroe Steam Laundry, died from a heart attack at his home, 101 Bright Avenue, Monday, shortly after 1 o'clock Friday morning.

He was a nephew of the late Mrs. Cooley and at her death some months ago, he inherited the Cooley residence and most of the Cooley estate.

Mr. Kugler is survived by his wife, and one daughter, Mrs. A. P. Curty, Jr. of Monroe.

Wisconsin farmers used an estimated 239,880,000 gallons of gasoline on their farms in 1953. About 43 per cent was used in tractors.

Northeast Faculty Members Slate 2:30 P.M. Program

Four Northeast State faculty members will participate in the college's bi-weekly television program scheduled at 2:30 p.m. today.

The instructors will offer a resolution concerning their respective departments of fields of work in college which they think will be beneficial to the public.

Members of the faculty participating will be Dr. Gladys Jones, reading specialist in the special education clinic; Dr. Harry M. Lemert, head of the fine arts department; Emmett J. Foster, head of pure and applied sciences; and James W. Parkerson, member of the fine arts faculty and Northeast's radio and television program chairman.

Northeast State's telecasts are built around the school, its faculty and students. In accord with this policy, the television program chairman is planning to introduce within the near future another phase of school activities. The innovation will be a series on Indian lore presented by the science department.

Mrs. LeBlanc, 68, Dies; Rites Today

Mrs. Linnie Priest LeBlanc, 68, died late Thursday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bessie Sciara of Monroe.

Funeral services will be held at 9 a.m. Saturday, from St. Mathew's Catholic Church. Interment under the direction of Hall Funeral Home will follow in the Memorial Park Cemetery.

There was a Rosary Service at the Chapel of Hall Funeral Home at 7 p.m. Friday evening.

She is survived by one son, Paul J. LeBlanc, Los Angeles, Calif.; three daughters, Mrs. Bessie Sciara, Monroe, Mrs. Marguerite Benson, Houston, Texas, Mrs. Mollie Melton, Abiline, Texas; two sisters Mrs. Maggie O'Keefe of Houston, Texas, Mrs. Birdie Tanner of Monticello, Ark., and three grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Vincent Marsala, Duffy Brown, Wilmer Lawson Jr., Ray Frankowicz, Sam Lasuzzo, and Harold Breard.

Dulles Meets Solon

George Refuses To Give Support For Aid Measure

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga) emerged from a long conference with Secretary of State Dulles today as strongly opposed as ever to President Eisenhower's proposal for long-range foreign economic commitments.

George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told reporters he is not willing to vote to tie this government to any amount of foreign assistance "for any number of years in advance."

Before his meeting with George which lasted an hour and a half, Dulle conferred with Sen. H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey, second-ranking Republican on the Foreign Relations Committee.

Later in the day the secretary had an appointment with the Senate Republican leader, Sen. Knowland of California. Knowland frequently differs with administration foreign policy, whereas Smith generally has supported it.

The conferences presumably were part of a series planned by Dulles in an effort to win support for the Eisenhower program in advance of its formal submission to Congress.

George, who has played a major role in steering Eisenhower administration foreign aid proposals through Congress in the past, could hold the key to sucess or failure of the program this year.

Also, his stand could conceivably have an effect to his own campaign for renomination to the Senate. His prospective opponent, former Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia, has been bearing down hard in opposition to foreign aid, calling it a "global WPA."

After leaving the State Department meeting, George told a reporter:

"I am not excluding foreign aid and assistance, but I am opposed to committing ourselves for any number of years in advance as to what we will spend on any country.

"We must be free to say what countries we are to deal with, and that they are friendly. We must be free to make the programs in Congress." He added.

"I believe the whole program should be kept entirely flexible.

While George spoke freely enough of his own views, he declined to discuss his conversation with Dulles. The secretary likewise had nothing to say.

George said the conference covered "many subjects and was not directed specifically at his outspoken opposition to the new aid policy.

Without reference to anything Dulles may have told him, George said he feels world conditions are "not in a very happy state."

He said the Geneva foreign ministers conference had made it clear that "so far as the Kremlin can control it, Germany never will be unified except on Russian terms."

He said the situation remains "acute" in the Middle East, where Israel and Arab nations are involved in border disputes. The situation there apparently has "moved no nearer solution," he remarked.

George called conditions in France "chaotic' and the problems of Southeast Asia remain unsolved.

"One can't say the state of the world is happy or pleasing but I don't accept the conclusion that it is hopeless, George said.

Eisenhower asked Congress in his State of the Union message for limited authority to make long-term commitments on economic aid to countries needing help on development projects which might take years in the completion.

Dulles is preparing to ask Congress to vote $4,900,000,000 in new foreign military and economic aid for the fiscal year starting July 1. This is nearly double the current years appropriation but not all of it would be spent in the year ahead. Some of it would be used to replenish the pipeline for future deliveries.

The proposals have stirred up signs of opposition in the Senate, in Republican as well as Democratic quarters. Knowland has refuesd to commit himself in advance.

MAN OF INTEGRITY!

The No. 1 qualification of any man seeking public office is proven integrity . . . when a candidate has served in public office, the best way to gauge his honesty and sincerity is to examine his record. Where there is none, we voters have no method of judging this quality.

Chep Morrison Has Such a Record . . .

Chep Morrison's complete honesty is acknowledged by all. During ten years in which he administered over 140 million dollars of public monies, not even his bitterest enemies have ever suggested that any of these funds were improperly handled.

In enforcing the laws, Chep Morrison has demonstrated a high order of moral courage by stamping out slot machines and other forms of gambling and vice, even in the face of angry and violent public opposition. He has actively used his authority to bring about sweeping reforms in the city's Police Department.

Likewise, Cap Barham's integrity is a matter of record. In 1954 all factions of the Louisiana Legislature joined in an unanimous resolution praising his honesty and courage.

Guest In The House Becomes Parasite

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX: Some time ago we accepted a young neighbor into our home. At the time we thought she was ill and, since her parents work, offered her our hospitality. Her folks aren't poor, by any means, it's simply that we liked the girl and thought she would be company and a help for me.

After a thorough examination, the doctor could find nothing wrong with her, and subsequent events have shown her to be a malingerer. She does nothing at all to help me, doesn't attend school and makes no move toward finding a job. The rest of her family is all hardworking, industrious and progressive. Her parents don't try to make her do anything.

My husband and I are about fed up with her. We are planning a long trip and she's making plans to go with us, though she certainly isn't wanted. We have no desire to hurt anyone's feelings, but would like to let her know we've had enough of the present arrangement.

Mrs. G. K.

ANSWER: The parents in this case were probably glad to be rid of their lazy offspring or, to give them the benefit of the doubt, perhaps they thought outsiders could do something with the girl. The responsibility for her actions, however, is not yours except insofar as your misplaced kindness contributed a larger opportunity for the exercise of her lethargy — the only exercise she got, it appears.

I don't see that you'd be hurting anyone's feelings by saying you were going away without the company of your little parasite. You provided a good thing while it lasted but now the dream is over, as far as she's concerned. Be a bit more careful the next time your good nature takes over.

SELFISH STEADY

DEAR MISS DIX: My steady boy friend claims that I should give up all outside activities, including membership in a girl's church club, as they take time away from him. Is he right?

Norma

ANSWER: Giving in to this selfish whim would be very bad tactics. Suppose something happened to this "steady" friendship? Wouldn't you be out on a limb, with no friends and no fun for solace?

It's never good policy to give in completely to unreasonable demands. Many gals do it in the belief that thereby a boy's love is assured, but believe me, 'tain't so.

DEAR MISS DIX: My mother-in-law, a widow, is employed and also owns a house from which she collects rent. Yet she is always asking my husband for money. We've only been married two months and I feel we should save for our own home.

Bea

ANSWER: Whether or not your mother-in-law needs financial assistance can be determined only by a fair appraisal of facts. Don't jump to hasty conclusions; after all, you've been in the family a very short time. Give this situation a chance to iron itself out, then if you have grumbling to do, do it in order, at the right time.

Exhibit Slated Of Ford Paintings

NATCHITOCHES, Jan. 13 (Special) — Northwestern State College will have a two-week exhibit, starting Feb. 5, of the outstanding Ford Motor Company collection of watercolor paintings.

Orville Hanchey, head of the art department, said the exhibit was requested by the college soon after an announcement was made as to its availability.

One of Hanchey's paintings — a street scene of the Natchitoches Christmas Festival — will be included in the exhibition, entitled "Watercolors in a Big Way." Hanchey was the only artist in Louisiana to have one of his paintings chosen by Ford Motor company publications from a group of more than 4,000. Altogether, 27 artists are represented.

Peter Hurd, one of the most famous artists in America, is one of those whose creativeness will be exhibited. His painting, titled 'Carrizozo Country Club, New Mexico," is a scene of a golf course considered by many as the most unusual in the world. It was prescribed by a local physician to ease the tension of ranchers worried by a current drought.

Arthur T. Lougee, art director of Ford publications, describes the exhibit as remarkable in scope, containing excellent examples of various and successful uses of the medium (watercolors).

Processors have estimated more than 50,000 tons of dry feathers are produced yearly. Scientists say the great volume of waste is a source of almost pure protein.

Olla Post Office Gives Annual Report

OLLA, Jan. 13 (Special) — Olla Postmaster Charles R. Gaines announced today that postal receipts for the calendar year of 1955 amounted to $9,564.90, marking a sharp increase over 1954.

Money orders issued amounted to a total of $164,033.49. Money order fees amounted to $2,192.25, Gaines said, marking a sharp increase over 1954.

The Olla post office, which is a second class office, has two regular post office clerks, one substitute clerk, one rural mail carrier and one star route carrier The office. Gaines said, has shown rapid growth since 1940 when the receipts of the office were $3,800.

The alfalfa weevil was found in North Carolina for the first time in 1955.

Exhibit Slated Of Ford Paintings

NATCHITOCHES, Jan. 13 (Special) — Northwestern State College will have a two-week exhibit, starting Feb. 5, of the outstanding Ford Motor Company collection of watercolor paintings.

Orville Hanchey, head of the art department, said the exhibit was requested by the college soon after an announcement was made as to its availability.

One of Hanchey's paintings — a street scene of the Natchitoches Christmas Festival — will be included in the exhibition, entitled "Watercolors in a Big Way." Hanchey was the only artist in Louisiana to have one of his paintings chosen by Ford Motor company publications from a group of more than 4,000. Altogether, 27 artists are represented.

Peter Hurd, one of the most famous artists in America, is one of those whose creativeness will be exhibited. His painting, titled 'Carrizozo Country Club, New Mexico," is a scene of a golf course considered by many as the most unusual in the world. It was prescribed by a local physician to ease the tension of ranchers worried by a current drought.

Arthur T. Lougee, art director of Ford publications, describes the exhibit as remarkable in scope, containing excellent examples of various and successful uses of the medium (watercolors).

Processors have estimated more than 50,000 tons of dry feathers are produced yearly. Scientists say the great volume of waste is a source of almost pure protein.

Olla Post Office Gives Annual Report

OLLA, Jan. 13 (Special) — Olla Postmaster Charles R. Gaines announced today that postal receipts for the calendar year of 1955 amounted to $9,564.90, marking a sharp increase over 1954.

Money orders issued amounted to a total of $164,033.49. Money order fees amounted to $2,192.25, Gaines said, marking a sharp increase over 1954.

The Olla post office, which is a second class office, has two regular post office clerks, one substitute clerk, one rural mail carrier and one star route carrier The office, Gaines said, has shown rapid growth since 1940 when the receipts of the office were $3,800.

The alfalfa weevil was found in North Carolina for the first time in 1955.

Sen. Sparks Deserves Re-Election

Tuesday State Senator James D. Sparks will be up for re-election as the senator from Jackson and Ouachita parishes. He has served this district for the past four years, having been elected as an independent in 1952 by a large majority in the first primary over two opponents.

From the standpoint of experience and training he is well qualified to serve in the Legislature. He is a combat veteran of World War II, a practicing attorney, a family and business man of this city. More important than the basic qualifications is, we believe, the question of how well has he done his job since he went to Baton Rouge, for an accurate picture of the future can usually be obtained by taking a look at the past.

At the outset, let us here take note of the fact that a member of the Louisiana Legislature is one of the most important governmental jobs in Louisiana. The Governor cannot spend one cent of the taxpayers' money without the approval of the members of the Louisiana House and Senate, and today state expenditures are fast approaching the two-million-dollar a day figure.

This state is growing by leaps and bounds and the business of government at the state level is fast approaching that of Washington in the complexity of the problems and the amount of time and ability required of a senator in order to adequately represent us in Baton Rouge. There are only 39 men in the Louisiana Senate, and one vote either way in this body has tremendous power and is frequently crucial. With this in mind, let us take a look at Sparks' record.

Immediately after election in 1952, he was named to the recently formed Louisiana Legislative Council as the Senate member from the Fifth Congressional District. The Council is an independent governmental research body with broad powers.

When the Council ordered a two-year engineering study of our Louisiana road problem he was named as Chairman of its Highway Committee, and immediately undertook the work. Thirty-two public and private hearings were held throughout the state, and upon completion of its work, Louisiana had for the first time in its history a comprehensive picture of its road problem at all levels and recommendations as to what should be done. Thereafter the Louisiana Legislature created a Joint Highway Committee of the House and Senate to draft laws to carry out the recommendations contained in the Legislative Council survey, and Sparks was unanimously elected Chairman by the 16 members of this committee. He is the author and co-sponsor of the six long range laws drafted by the committee. All of these acts were overwhelmingly enacted into law at the legislative session in May, 1955, in which a three-fourths vote of both houses was necessary before the legislation could even be considered. If the voters of this state approve the constitutional amendments providing for the financing of the road program in April of this year, Louisiana will have its first long range road modernization program in 30 years.

Further, this legislation is tied in with the federal road program, and if Congress eventually passes a long range road improvement law, Louisiana has all the statutes it needs to immediately start building interstate roads.

There are many other things worthy of mention. We believe too little publicity has been given to the fact that Sparks served as a member of a committee which spent several days in New York last spring urging bond rating firms to upgrade our Louisiana highway bonds from "A" to "AA." These efforts have paid dividends, for in the last 30 days one of the most important firms in New York has upgraded its ratings on all Louisiana highway bonds as requested by the committee. It is conservatively estimated that this action alone will eventually result in an interest savings to the taxpayers of Louisiana of approximately $10,000,000.

The time of a member of the Louisiana Legislature, or for that matter, a member of any legislative body, is never wholly his own. Phone calls can be expected at all hours of the day and night. Conferences with business and professional leaders, labor groups, farmers, school teachers and many others must be held constantly. The Legislature now meets every year instead of biennially. Most Louisiana legislators agree that the office takes at least one-half of their time. Other than an expense allowance, the office pays nothing whatever, and of necessity entails some financial loss to any Senator who devotes the required amount of time to his work. Jim Sparks has done that and more. Therefore, this paper not only endorses his candidacy, but urges voters in Jackson and Ouachita parishes to go to the polls Tuesday and vote for Jim Sparks. We sincerely believe that his proven leadership in the Louisiana Senate should be maintained and perpetuated by his election to another four-year term.

Too High A Price

The Herald, of Brownsville, Texas, has printed a thoughtful editorial on the farm problem and its political repercussions. It touches on the situation facing livestock producers and other farmers, and on the varied stratagems with which the major political parties are seeking to gain the farm vote. Then it says: "Certainly we would like to see some system which will insulate agriculture against catastrophic drops in net income. Above that, however, our farmers generally feel that our best bet lies in free and untrammeled production. We know that any government program which attempts to maintain prices through artificial juggling of the laws of supply and demand and interlocking price relationships inevitably brings with it some type of production or marketing controls.

"This in turn hamstrings the productive genius of our farmers and removes the privileges of adapting our production and distribution methods to the demands of the market place. This is too high a price to pay in order to assure the prosperity of some farmers."

It could be added that the kind of "prosperity" that government aid and controls produces is a frail reed indeed, subject as it is to the ever-changing political winds. And it is certainly evident that the taxpayers of the country cannot forever subsidize farm production which goes into storage, not consumption. The bill for that now has run far into the billions and the whole surplus problem is extremely critical.

More Teen Age Nonsense

I received a notice from a press agent firm that the First Commercial Bank of Chicago has instituted a "Teen Age Loan Fund" by which a kid can borrow money from a bank without going to his parents for the cash. This is another example of the breakdown of the home, of parental authority. It turns the adolescent into a big shot. I can imagine this conversation:

"Father: What do you want $35 for? Do you think money grows on trees?

Son: Aw, stop nagging. I need the dough.

Father: What for? How is it you spend every cent of your allowance? How is it that you can't save a nickel a week?

Son: Saving is old-fashioned. What's the good of saving? You saved all your life and what've you got& You're always worried about money and nag if anybody asks you for a buck.

Father: You've never wanted for anything people like us can afford.

Son: That's just it. I can't afford a lot of things. Give me that $35 and I'll do some big time on Friday night when the boys go out. I'll pick up the tab for a change."

Now, that son does not need to plead with his father or submit to family discipline. He can be a big shot by borrowing from the bank on his own signature which is make-believe anyhow as it can have no legal validity. Read this stuff and think of the moral values involved:

"To be considered for a loan, the student must fill in an application form, stating why he needs the money and how he proposes to pay it back. If the board decides the purpose of the loan is a good one and that the student is a good risk, then the loan is granted and a check issued. Only 3 percent interest, considerably lower than regular bank rates, is charged so that the youngster learns that banks do not give away money, that it does cost something to borrow.

(I can borrow money to pay my income taxes at between three and four percent.)

"A part-time job is required before a teen-ager is given a loan. This requirement was established by the board of directors, not by the bank. 'We can't count on kids to pay back just out of their allowances, they reasoned. "Suppose their folks get mad at them and cut off their allowances. Then where would we be? However, any part-time work, even baby sitting, qualifies in applicant as being employed, so this is rarely a problem when the applicatn is sincere.

Imagine a bank lending money to a minor whose father has cut off his allowance as a disciplinary measure!

The gimmick in this is that if the teen-ager does not repay the loan plus the three percent, papa must pay anyhow. The law does not recognize the financial and contractual independence of a minor and the parent can be held responsible for the contracted debt. So that all that this scheme can accomplish is to increase the disrespect of the child for the parent without minimizing the parents responsibility. It is very much like those school teachers who set themselves up as superior to parents because they lack the intellectual qualifications, documents, diplomas and Phi Beta Kappa keys, only to discover that it is just as easy or easier for a fresh kid to show disrespect for a teacher as for a parent. The principal cause for juvenile delinquency, or other misbehaviors, is disrespect.

Most colleges have loan bureaus to help students on the way but they do not make a commercial business of it. They know what they are doing because they know the student. They also do not create a market for such loans. And they do not encourage disrespect for parents as the circular from which I quote does. The error in this bank's idea is that the parent is the one who should provide for his own child, even if he has to borrow to do it. The parent should discipline the child as the parent is solely responsible for the child.

Our Children

Better Schools

Everybody who sends children to our public schools wants the very best school possible. "Better schools," is heard on every hand thest days. Fine. The public school is the base of American life. Its health and quality is vital to the health and quality of the oncoming citizenry. The better the schools are the better American life today and in the future. There is no denial of this by anybody, anywhere.

"What we want," say the parents of schoolchildren, "are better school buildings. There must be more space in the classrooms and fewer children to a teacher. There should be shops, kitchens, laboratories, libraries, lunchrooms, gyms, pools, playgrounds, equipment for all of these. We want and must have better trained teachers.

"We want, too, better medical care for schoolchildren. A doctor for every school; a psychologist and a nurse and a psychiatrist on call. Space and equipment for them must be provided. And don't forget the dentist. The loss of the six-year molars is shocking."

This may sound startling to those who, having no children at school, have not been interested in what goes on there. The older people whose children are grown and have children of their own are likely to turn back to their school days and say, "Ridiculous. We never had any such thing and we never felt the need of them. What are parents for, anyway? Can't they bring up their own children? If not they ought to be made to."

Somehow, during this past generation or more, life in the United States has changed greatly. Homes are not built for the old-style rearing of children. Work has gone out of the home and so have the workers, and mothers as well as fathers work outside their homes. The needs for rearing children in better physical and mental health have become clearer to us, and many of them cannot be met in the home by itself but must be done by specialists. The school, built, organized and equipped for this care is the logical answer.

Such schools cost money — a lot of it. Now the question arises: Who is going to pay for them? Nobody wants to pay taxes. School taxes are already too high for many people, especially the older people living in the country towns and villages. Suddenly they are called on for increased taxes which they cannot pay. Even people who could pay more object strenuously. Still, this school bill must be met for the good of this nation. We all belong to it and the children belong to us. The only thing to do is to get busy and raise the money. How that is to be done is the responsibility of the political office holders.

The schools must be made fit to rear fine citizens for this great country of our.

IN WASHINGTON

Foreign Aid Showdown

Although the congressional spotlight has not yet centered on it, the division at this session over foreign aid is expected to bring the showdown on that issue which has been avoided through two presidential administrations.

Opposition to continuance of the erstwhile program of appropriating billions in a lump sum for distribution as administration officials decide is strong in both houses and is widening the division in the Republican party, as well as causing leading Democrats to take a long hard look.

The situation indicates that voters are becoming restive over the prospect of continuing to pay the tremendous bill run up yearly for the purpose of protecting the free world from communism. They are beginning to doubt that the effort has been successful, and many members of congress agree with them.

The French elections, with their further drift away from stable government and toward Communist control of a makeshift parliament, have intensified the feeling that our federal treasury has financed a series of costly mirages stemming from the original Marshall Plan, with its theory of providing all but a small part of the money necessary to put war damaged nations back on their feet.

Senator Richard Russell (Dem.-Ga.) one of the more conservative thinkers in congress summed up the views of many with this statement:

"The state department is so sterile of ideas that the only answer it has for the Russians is to ask for more money. If Khrushchev and Bulganin keep on traveling around the world, they may succeed in bankrupting this country."

President Eisenhower's State of the Union message was well received but the passages on foreign aid gave no indication that multi-million dollar item will be reduced as one contribution toward balancing the federal budget.

One of his questioned assertions was " . . . Our (foreign aid) policy must be dynamic as well as flexible, designed primarily to forward the achievements of our own objectives rather than to meet each shift and change on the Communist front."

The comment of some Republicans here who have reluctantly gone along with the administration on foreign aid in the past is that the policy is no longer either dynamic or flexible, that the Communists spending not more than one tenth of the money that we do on other nations — and possibly not that much — are apparently making more headway than we are in impressing nations either still free or apparently swinging toward communism.

At this point, some of the representatives and senators who have been touring Europe and Asia since congress was last in session may be expected to propose some variation of the foreign aid plan. One suggestion is that when the Russians add a country, they send along throngs of propagandists, language specialists and enough technicians to direct every phase of the assistance. Our plan has been to send a skeleton group limited largely to technicians, and attempt to train people to carry out the project, which usually requires more money and winds up with the U. S. getting minimum credit.

The U. S. Method also seems to avoid that contact with native peoples which creates understanding between our representatives and those who have only a vague idea of what we are attempting to do.

That this could be done by the state department is doubtful. It is significant that the United States and Great Britain whose foreign services for years have resembled one another and have operated by like methods are suddenly realizing that they have been outwitted diplomatically by the Soviet in Asia. One criticism made both in London and Washington is that average foreign service officer trained by traditional methods does not think it necessary to learn what the people of doubtful countries are thinking. What has been reported along that line, by our foreign representatives in other services, such as those of the agriculture and commerce departments, seems to have been largely disregarded.

Meanwhile many members of congress are saying that the vast expenditures for military aid have left us about where we were in both Europe and Asia, with our limited armed forces bearing all the burden against vastly larger Communist military strength.

Proposals will also be made that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles remain in Washington for a time to study foreign aid instead of dashing across the oceans to patch up the seams every time the Communists apply some new pressure.

RIPLEY'S — Believe It Or Not!

Worry Clinic

By Dr. George W. Crane

Howard didn't realize that he had offended his devoted wife all the years of their marriage. It wasn't until he widened his perspective with the Rating Scales described below, that he saw himself through her eyes. All married couples can have fun, and also profit greatly, by rating themselves, or each other. Use them in your church and neighborhood clubs.

plained yesterday about his soured, tobacco halitosis.

"Dr. Crane, I never knew before that my breath was repulsive," he conceded, in honest surprise.

"For nobody had ever mentioned that fact to me. If it has offended Janet, it may likewise have cost me many sales, for I sell insurance.

"And I find from your 'Test for Husbands' that there are a lot of other things I had never stopped to think about.

"So I'll try to remedy my halitosis, for I have a wonderful wife and love her with all my heart."

Rating scales are often quite illuminating, especially to people with one-track minds.

And some of our greatest scientists, as well as many business executives, are of that sort.

A famous American publisher of my acquaintance always looked out of his two eyes as if he were on a one-way street.

"If I like political columns, everybody likes them," was his usual attitude, for he failed to realize that other folks might not share his own viewpoint.

("I like myself," is thus the opinion of most husbands, "so my wife must like me, too."

But a person needs to be jogged into a keen analysis of himself, as by using that "Test for Husbands" which contains 50 of the most common merits of American males, as well as their 50 most common faults.

I developed that test after personal interviews with 600 apparently happily married wives. Taking each woman in my private office, I asked her in confidence to tell me what she liked best about her husband.

"Why do you love Howard?" I would ask. "What attracts you to him? Why did you marry him instead of somebody else, etc.?"

Women are naturally more diplomatic than men, so these wives gave me their frank opinions, even though they had never mentioned them to their husbands.

And after obtaining the spontaneous reasons why wives loved their husbands, I then reverse my query and said:

"Does Howard have any faults, big or little? Is there anything he does or says that gets on your nerves? Would you change him in any way if you could do so without his knowing it or without incurring his anger?"

Then these 600 wives gave me their specific dislikes about their mates, which had often lain dormant and unspoken ever since their wedding day.

My "Test for Wives" was developed in the same manner by confidential interviews with the 600 happily married husbands.

So you have an excellent chance to see yourself as others observe you when you go down the list of the 50 most common merits of husbands (or wives), and the 50 most frequent demerits or faults.

You also are measuring yourself against the standard of current American husbands and wives and not against an arbitrary yardstick which we psychologists have prepared.

If you fall short, don't blame us psychologists, for these tests are the actual attitudes of wives and husbands, confidentially telling their inner secrets about their mates.

So send for the "Tests for Husbands & Wives," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Use them on the Married Class at Sunday school or at your Club Meetings. They are not only fun, but basically are helpful psychological aids.

Sen. Sparks Deserves Re-Election

Tuesday State Senator James D. Sparks will be up for re-election as the senator from Jackson and Ouachita parishes. He has served this district for the past four years, having been elected as an independent in 1952 by a large majority in the first primary over two opponents.

From the standpoint of experience and training he is well qualified to serve in the Legislature. He is a combat veteran of World War II, a practicing attorney, a family and business man of this city. More important than the basic qualifications is, we believe, the question of how well has he done his job since he went to Baton Rouge, for an accurate picture of the future can usually be obtained by taking a look at the past.

At the outset, let us here take note of the fact that a member of the Louisiana Legislature is one of the most important governmental jobs in Louisiana. The Governor cannot spend one cent of the taxpayers' money without the approval of the members of the Louisiana House and Senate, and today state expenditures are fast approaching the two-million-dollar a day figure.

This state is growing by leaps and bounds and the business of government at the state level is fast approaching that of Washington in the complexity of the problems and the amount of time and ability required of a senator in order to adequately represent us in Baton Rouge. There are only 39 men in the Louisiana Senate, and one vote either way in this body has tremendous power and is frequently crucial. With this in mind, let us take a look at Sparks' record.

Immediately after election in 1952, he was named to the recently formed Louisiana Legislative Council as the Senate member from the Fifth Congressional District. The Council is an independent governmental research body with broad powers.

When the Council ordered a two-year engineering study of our Louisiana road problem he was named as Chairman of its Highway Committee, and immediately undertook the work. Thirty-two public and private hearings were held throughout the state, and upon completion of its work, Louisiana had for the first time in its history a comprehensive picture of its road problem at all levels and recommendations as to what should be done. Thereafter the Louisiana Legislature created a Joint Highway Committee of the House and Senate to draft laws to carry out the recommendations contained in the Legislative Council survey, and Sparks was unanimously elected Chairman by the 16 members of this committee. He is the author and co-sponsor of the six long range laws drafted by the committee. All of these acts were overwhelmingly enacted into law at the legislative session in May, 1955, in which a three-fourths vote of both houses was necessary before the legislation could even be considered. If the voters of this state approve the constitutional amendments providing for the financing of the road program in April of this year, Louisiana will have its first long range road modernization program in 30 years.

Further, this legislation is tied in with the federal road program, and if Congress eventually passes a long range road improvement law, Louisiana has all the statutes it needs to immediately start building interstate roads.

There are many other things worthy of mention. We believe too little publicity has been given to the fact that Sparks served as a member of a committee which spent several days in New York last spring urging bond rating firms to upgrade our Louisiana highway bonds from "A" to "AA." These efforts have paid dividends, for in the last 30 days one of the most important firms in New York has upgraded its ratings on all Louisiana highway bonds as requested by the committee. It is conservatively estimated that this action alone will eventually result in an interest savings to the taxpayers of Louisiana of approximately $10,000,000.

The time of a member of the Louisiana Legislature, or for that matter, a member of any legislative body, is never wholly his own. Phone calls can be expected at all hours of the day and night. Conferences with business and professional leaders, labor groups, farmers, school teachers and many others must be held constantly. The Legislature now meets every year instead of biennially. Most Louisiana legislators agree that the office takes at least one-half of their time. Other than an expense allowance, the office pays nothing whatever, and of necessity entails some financial loss to any Senator who devotes the required amount of time to his work. Jim Sparks has done that and more. Therefore, this paper not only endorses his candidacy, but urges voters in Jackson and Ouachita parishes to go to the polls Tuesday and vote for Jim Sparks. We sincerely believe that his proven leadership in the Louisiana Senate should be maintained and perpetuated by his election to another four-year term.

Too High A Price

The Herald, of Brownsville, Texas, has printed a thoughtful editorial on the farm problem and its political repercussions. It touches on the situation facing livestock producers and other farmers, and on the varied stratagems with which the major political parties are seeking to gain the farm vote. Then it says: "Certainly we would like to see some system which will insulate agriculture against catastrophic drops in net income. Above that, however, our farmers generally feel that our best bet lies in free and untrammeled production. We know that any government program which attempts to maintain prices through artificial juggling of the laws of supply and demand and interlocking price relationships inevitably brings with it some type of production or marketing controls.

"This in turn hamstrings the productive genius of our farmers and removes the privileges of adapting our production and distribution methods to the demands of the market place. This is too high a price to pay in order to assure the prosperity of some farmers."

It could be added that the kind of "prosperity" that government aid and controls produces is a frail reed indeed, subject as it is to the ever-changing political winds. And it is certainly evident that the taxpayers of the country cannot forever subsidize farm production which goes into storage, not consumption. The bill for that now has run far into the billions and the whole surplus problem is extremely critical.

More Teen Age Nonsense

I received a notice from a press agent firm that the First Commercial Bank of Chicago has instituted a "Teen Age Loan Fund" by which a kid can borrow money from a bank without going to his parents for the cash. This is another example of the breakdown of the home, of parental authority. It turns the adolescent into a big shot. I can imagine this conversation:

"Father: What do you want $35 for? Do you think money grows on trees?

Son: Aw, stop nagging. I need the dough.

Father: What for? How is it you spend every cent of your allowance? How is it that you can't save a nickel a week?

Son: Saving is old-fashioned. What's the good of saving? You saved all your life and what've you got& You're always worried about money and nag if anybody asks you for a buck.

Father: You've never wanted for anything people like us can afford.

Son: That's just it. I can't afford a lot of things. Give me that $35 and I'll do some big time on Friday night when the boys go out. I'll pick up the tab for a change."

Now, that son does not need to plead with his father or submit to family discipline. He can be a big shot by borrowing from the bank on his own signature which is make-believe anyhow as it can have no legal validity. Read this stuff and think of the moral values involved:

"To be considered for a loan, the student must fill in an application form, stating why he needs the money and how he proposes to pay it back. If the board decides the purpose of the loan is a good one and that the student is a good risk, then the loan is granted and a check issued. Only 3 percent interest, considerably lower than regular bank rates, is charged so that the youngster learns that banks do not give away money, that it does cost something to borrow.

(I can borrow money to pay my income taxes at between three and four percent.)

"A part-time job is required before a teen-ager is given a loan. This requirement was established by the board of directors, not by the bank. 'We can't count on kids to pay back just out of their allowances, they reasoned. "Suppose their folks get mad at them and cut off their allowances. Then where would we be? However, any part-time work, even baby sitting, qualifies in applicant as being employed, so this is rarely a problem when the applicatn is sincere.

Imagine a bank lending money to a minor whose father has cut off his allowance as a disciplinary measure!

The gimmick in this is that if the teen-ager does not repay the loan plus the three percent, papa must pay anyhow. The law does not recognize the financial and contractual independence of a minor and the parent can be held responsible for the contracted debt. So that all that this scheme can accomplish is to increase the disrespect of the child for the parent without minimizing the parents responsibility. It is very much like those school teachers who set themselves up as superior to parents because they lack the intellectual qualifications, documents, diplomas and Phi Beta Kappa keys, only to discover that it is just as easy or easier for a fresh kid to show disrespect for a teacher as for a parent. The principal cause for juvenile delinquency, or other misbehaviors, is disrespect.

Most colleges have loan bureaus to help students on the way but they do not make a commercial business of it. They know what they are doing because they know the student. They also do not create a market for such loans. And they do not encourage disrespect for parents as the circular from which I quote does. The error in this bank's idea is that the parent is the one who should provide for his own child, even if he has to borrow to do it. The parent should discipline the child as the parent is solely responsible for the child.

Better Schools

Everybody who sends children to our public schools wants the very best school possible. "Better schools," is heard on every hand thest days. Fine. The public school is the base of American life. Its health and quality is vital to the health and quality of the oncoming citizenry. The better the schools are the better American life today and in the future. There is no denial of this by anybody, anywhere.

"What we want," say the parents of schoolchildren, "are better school buildings. There must be more space in the classrooms and fewer children to a teacher. There should be shops, kitchens, laboratories, libraries, lunchrooms, gyms, pools, playgrounds, equipment for all of these. We want and must have better trained teachers.

"We want, too, better medical care for schoolchildren. A doctor for every school; a psychologist and a nurse and a psychiatrist on call. Space and equipment for them must be provided. And don't forget the dentist. The loss of the six-year molars is shocking."

This may sound startling to those who, having no children at school, have not been interested in what goes on there. The older people whose children are grown and have children of their own are likely to turn back to their school days and say, "Ridiculous. We never had any such thing and we never felt the need of them. What are parents for, anyway? Can't they bring up their own children? If not they ought to be made to."

Somehow, during this past generation or more, life in the United States has changed greatly. Homes are not built for the old-style rearing of children. Work has gone out of the home and so have the workers, and mothers as well as fathers work outside their homes. The needs for rearing children in better physical and mental health have become clearer to us, and many of them cannot be met in the home by itself but must be done by specialists. The school, built, organized and equipped for this care is the logical answer.

Such schools cost money — a lot of it. Now the question arises: Who is going to pay for them? Nobody wants to pay taxes. School taxes are already too high for many people, especially the older people living in the country towns and villages. Suddenly they are called on for increased taxes which they cannot pay. Even people who could pay more object strenuously. Still, this school bill must be met for the good of this nation. We all belong to it and the children belong to us. The only thing to do is to get busy and raise the money. How that is to be done is the responsibility of the political office holders.

The schools must be made fit to rear fine citizens for this great country of our.

IN WASHINGTON

Foreign Aid Showdown

Although the congressional spotlight has not yet centered on it, the division at this session over foreign aid is expected to bring the showdown on that issue which has been avoided through two presidential administrations.

Opposition to continuance of the erstwhile program of appropriating billions in a lump sum for distribution as administration officials decide is strong in both houses and is widening the division in the Republican party, as well as causing leading Democrats to take a long hard look.

The situation indicates that voters are becoming restive over the prospect of continuing to pay the tremendous bill run up yearly for the purpose of protecting the free world from communism. They are beginning to doubt that the effort has been successful, and many members of congress agree with them.

The French elections, with their further drift away from stable government and toward Communist control of a makeshift parliament, have intensified the feeling that our federal treasury has financed a series of costly mirages stemming from the original Marshall Plan, with its theory of providing all but a small part of the money necessary to put war damaged nations back on their feet.

Senator Richard Russell (Dem.-Ga.) one of the more conservative thinkers in congress summed up the views of many with this statement:

"The state department is so sterile of ideas that the only answer it has for the Russians is to ask for more money. If Khrushchev and Bulganin keep on traveling around the world, they may succeed in bankrupting this country."

President Eisenhower's State of the Union message was well received but the passages on foreign aid gave no indication that multimillion dollar item will be reduced as one contribution toward balancing the federal budget.

One of his questioned assertions was " . . . Our (foreign aid) policy must be dynamic as well as flexible, designed primarily to forward the achievements of our own objectives rather than to meet each shift and change on the Communist front."

The comment of some Republicans here who have reluctantly gone along with the administration on foreign aid in the past is that the policy is no longer either dynamic or flexible, that the Communists spending not more than one tenth of the money that we do on other nations — and possibly not that much — are apparently making more headway than we are in impressing nations either still free or apparently swinging toward communism.

At this point, some of the representatives and senators who have been touring Europe and Asia since congress was last in session may be expected to propose some variation of the foreign aid plan. One suggestion is that when the Russians add a country, they send along throngs of propagandists, language specialists and enough technicians to direct every phase of the assistance. Our plan has been to send a skeleton group limited largely to technicians, and attempt to train people to carry out the project, which usually requires more money and winds up with the U. S. getting minimum credit.

The U. S. Method also seems to avoid that contact with native peoples which creates understanding between our representatives and those who have only a vague idea of what we are attempting to do.

That this could be done by the state department is doubtful. It is significant that the United States and Great Britain whose foreign services for years have resembled one another and have operated by like methods are suddenly realizing that they have been outwitted diplomatically by the Soviet in Asia. One criticism made both in London and Washington is that average foreign service officer trained by traditional methods does not think it necessary to learn what the people of doubtful countries are thinking. What has been reported along that line, by our foreign representatives in other services, such as those of the agriculture and commerce departments, seems to have been largely disregarded.

Meanwhile many members of congress are saying that the vast expenditures for military aid have left us about where we were in both Europe and Asia, with our limited armed forces bearing all the burden against vastly larger Communist military strength.

Proposals will also be made that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles remain in Washington for a time to study foreign aid instead of dashing across the oceans to patch up the seams every time the Communists apply some new pressure.

RIPLEY'S — Believe It Or Not!

Worry Clinic

By Dr. George W. Crane

Howard didn't realize that he had offended his devoted wife all the years of their marriage. It wasn't until he widened his perspective with the Rating Scales described below, that he saw himself through her eyes. All married couples can have fun, and also profit greatly, by rating themselves, or each other. Use them in your church and neighborhood clubs.

plained yesterday about his soured, tobacco halitosis.

"Dr. Crane, I never knew before that my breath was repulsive," he conceded, in honest surprise.

"For nobody had ever mentioned that fact to me. If it has offended Janet, it may likewise have cost me many sales, for I sell insurance.

"And I find from your 'Test for Husbands' that there are a lot of other things I had never stopped to think about.

"So I'll try to remedy my halitosis, for I have a wonderful wife and love her with all my heart."

Rating scales are often quite illuminating, especially to people with one-track minds.

And some of our greatest scientists, as well as many business executives, are of that sort.

A famous American publisher of my acquaintance always looked out of his two eyes as if he were on a one-way street.

"If I like political columns, everybody likes them," was his usual attitude, for he failed to realize that other folks might not share his own viewpoint.

("I like myself," is thus the opinion of most husbands, "so my wife must like me, too."

But a person needs to be jogged into a keen analysis of himself, as by using that "Test for Husbands" which contains 50 of the most common merits of American males, as well as their 50 most common faults.

I developed that test after personal interviews with 600 apparently happily married wives. Taking each woman in my private office, I asked her in confidence to tell me what she liked best about her husband.

"Why do you love Howard?" I would ask. "What attracts you to him? Why did you marry him instead of somebody else, etc.?"

Women are naturally more diplomatic than men, so these wives gave me their frank opinions, even though they had never mentioned them to their husbands.

And after obtaining the spontaneous reasons why wives loved their husbands, I then reverse my query and said:

"Does Howard have any faults, big or little? Is there anything he does or says that gets on your nerves? Would you change him in any way if you could do so without his knowing it or without incurring his anger?"

Then these 600 wives gave me their specific dislikes about their mates, which had often lain dormant and unspoken ever since their wedding day.

My "Test for Wives" was developed in the same manner by confidential interviews with the 600 happily married husbands.

So you have an excellent chance to see yourself as others observe you when you go down the list of the 50 most common merits of husbands (or wives), and the 50 most frequent demerits or faults.

You also are measuring yourself against the standard of current American husbands and wives and not against an arbitrary yardstick which we psychologists have prepared.

If you fall short, don't blame us psychologists, for these tests are the actual attitudes of wives and husbands, confidentially telling their inner secrets about their mates.

So send for the "Tests for Husbands & Wives," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Use them on the Married Class at Sunday school or at your Club Meetings. They are not only fun, but basically are helpful psychological aids.

Economic, Ideological Competition Changing Concepts Of Cold War

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

World politics has entered an era of economic and ideological competition which promises to render obsolete such concepts as containment and purely military alignments.

In today's world, both concepts seem negative. Containment worked for a while after World War II, when the Soviet Union struggled to repair the damages of the war and groped its way cautiously for avenues of expansion.

At this stage, however, the idea bespeaks a cherished notion that if the Soviet Union and Communist China are ringed and menaced with dire calamity, the existing threat will evaporate. Both the containment idea and the policy of purely military alignments have a look of immobility which restricts the activity of the Western alliance and causes it to improvise its strategy from day to day.

The Communist policy is dynamic, and if it is to be countered successfully it must be met with measures even more dynamic. The threat that the United States is willing to flirt with world catastrophe—to indulge in "the art" of approaching the brink of atomic war, in the words attributed to Secretary of State Dulles, is hardly an answer to Communist thrusts.

If the Geneva summit conference demonstrated anything at all, it showed an inclination, on both sides to concede that nuclear warfare would mean the end of Western civilization. An admission that the United States, still the most powerful nation on earth, contemplated risking such a world holocaust, is surely enough to make European spines tinge in fear.

Friends of the United States abroad do not fully understand the vagaries of American politics in a presidential year. Statements which might be intended wholly for consumption of the American voting public are likely to be taken at face value abroad, producing frustration among friends of the United States, fear among the neutrals and ammunition for the enemies.

The United States has done more and can do more for backward and needy nations of the world than any country in history. Too frequently, this is taken for granted.

Since world politics has entered this era of ideological competition, one of the first tasks would seem to be to perfect the West's ideological weapons. What seems to be needed—aside from the obvious advantages of a bipartisan and truly unified foreign policy—is a determined, intelligent propaganda counter-offensive aimed not only at kicking the props from under the Niagara of slanders poured upon the United States, but at convincing all free peoples there is little future for them in flirtation with a system of ruthless totalitarianism.

There has been no adequate answer from the United States thus far to the Communist charges of colonialism and imperialism, yet these charges come from a modern imperialist state whose recent colonialism is a matter of cold, cruel record. There has been little adequate answer to the Red charges of warmongering against the United States—charges from a nation armed to the teeth and straining every muscle to arm even more.

A national conference on American propaganda, free from the impediments of political publicity, might do the American cause a great deal of good.

A.W.O.L. Private Pleads Guilty To Armed Robbery

A fraudently-enlisted army private, Richard Arnold Brown, 20, plead guilty in Fourth District Court yesterday to charges of armed robbery of an Alexandria cab-driver on the outskirts of Monroe late Monday night.

He was remanded for sentencing by Judge David I. Garrett, presiding.

Brown was arrested by the Ouachita Parish sheriff's department Tuesday morning in a local bar. He confessed to the robbery shortly thereafter.

Earlier it was reported that Brown was a native of Tacoma, Washington, but yesterday he told Judge Garrett he was from Pennsylvania.

Marcelin Beridon, the taxi-driver, who brought Brown to Monroe was relieved of $36 in the robbery.

Toney Watson, also brought before the court, was fined $25 and costs, or 10 days default, on another armed robbery, one that never happened. He called the Ouachita parish sheriff's office, recently, and reported that he had been robbed, but after several hours of investigation his complaint proved to be a hoax. He was charged with disturbing the peace and pleaded guilty.

Among the other sentences handed down Friday morning was that of Raymond K. West, 24, who gave his address at 106 Parker street. He was charged with theft of rings valued at $37, which he said he gave to his wife as a Christmas present. He was sentenced to one year in jail, which was suspended, and fined $100 and costs, or 60 days more. Restitution was made on the theft.

Cleveland Robinson, 22, Negro, charged with simple rape, pleaded guilty through his attorney and was sentenced to one year in jail from the time of incarceration, about three months ago.

Among the felonies were Emmett Jackson, charged with simple burglary, and Louis Webb, charged with attempted murder. Both pleaded not guilty through their attorneys and no trial dates were set.

Sylvester Jones, Negro, arraigned on two charges, that of theft of an automobile, valued at $500 and for simple burglary of a dwelling, pleaded not guilty to both counts. Trial dates were not set.

Many arraignments were made for traffic misdemeanors, including several that involved one vehicle passing another that was turning off the highway.

Oscar E. Allen and David Hodge, two truck drivers, were each fined $75 and costs or 30 days default for speeding.

Jerry K. Corbin and Robert Nelson, Negro, involved in an accident, when one of the two turned off the highway and the second driver hit him, each pleaded not guilty to reckless driving, and their trials were set for January 20. Billy L. Antley and Henry L. Morris, also charged with reckless driving were involved in a similar traffic accident. Antley pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and costs, or 10 days. Morris pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for January 20.

Merlin L. Hester, Negro, Mike Stafford, and Ivy T. Walker, were each fined $300 and costs, or 60 days, for driving while intoxicated.

Robert L. McHand and Harry L. Ramsey were each fined $50 and costs, default 20 days, for reckless driving, when both pleaded guilty. The two were involved in an accident, as their trucks met on a narrow bridge, when neither stopped, causing an accident.

Among those arraigned for disturbing the peace and the disposition of their cases include: Harlon H. Blaylock, guilty; John Rockymore, Jr., guilty, and Leon H. Wray, guilty, all fined $25 and costs or 10 days in jail. Lawrence Harrell, Negro, of Winnfield, pleaded not guilty, and his trial was set for February 10. His bond was set at $50.

Two persons were brought before the court on vagrancy charges. Wayne E. Bussa, 17, who said he was from Ohio, was remanded for sentencing, when he pleaded guilty. Thelma Smith, Negro, pleaded not guilty and her trial was set for February 10.

Among those charged with speeding were Pete Frisby, not present, and called on his bond; William R. Gregory, guilty, fined $50 and costs or 15 days; and Tatum H. Pitman, guilty, $25 and costs, or 10 days.

Among the other arraignments was that of Joe W. Gibson, Negro, charged with driving with defective brakes and driving with switched license plates. He pleaded guilty to the first charge and was fined $25 and costs, or 10 days. Gibson pleaded not guilty to the second offense and his trial was set for January 20.

Others were Billy Joe Phillips, Negro, charged with driving without a license, guilty, $25 and costs, or 10 days; Clark W. Hildabridle, improper parking, guilty, $25 and costs, or 10 days; and Bennie Reed, Negro, driving with defective brakes, guilty, $25 and costs, or 10 days.

Charged with reckless driving were Francis F. Brown, Negro, guilty, $25 and costs, or 10 days; Earl C. Herrington, not guilty, set January 20; and John P. Moore, guilty, $25 and costs or 10 days.

Several cases were scheduled to be set for trial.

Federal Reserve Board Member Is Accorded Honor

ATLANTA, Jan. 13 (AP)—Directors, officers and employes of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta today honored Dr. Rufus Carrollton Harris for his 18 years of service on the bank's board of directors.

Dr. Harris, president of Tulane University, retired last Dec. 31 as chairman of the board of directors.

At a luncheon in his honor he was presented a silver bowl by Malcom H. Bryan, president of the bank, as a token of "affection and esteem of the directors, officers and employes of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta."

The luncheon at Atlanta's exclusive Capital City Club was given by Frank Neely of Atlanta, who Harris succeeded as chairman in 1954.

The guest of honor recalled it was 18 years ago "to the day and in this very same club" Neely also was host at a luncheon in his honor as a new director.

A native of Monroe, Ga., Harris went to Tulane as a law professor and later became president of the university. He was elected a director of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta in January, 1938, and served as chairman of the directors' research and personnel committees.

When Neely became chairman in 1949, Harris was made deputy chairman, and succeeded to the chairmanship when Neely retired in 1954.

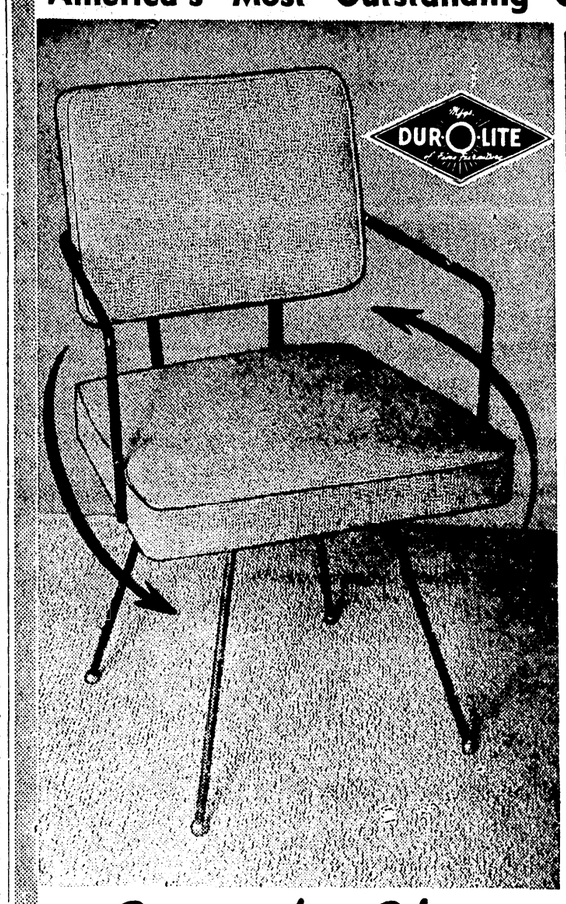

On Jan. 1, Harris was succeeded as chairman by Walter Mitchell of Atlanta, head of the Draper Corp.

Economic, Ideological Competition Changing Concepts Of Cold War

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

World politics has entered an era of economic and ideological competition which promises to render obsolete such concepts as containment and purely military alignments.

In today's world, both concepts seem negative. Containment worked for a while after World War II, when the Soviet Union struggled to repair the damages of the war and groped its way cautiously for avenues of expansion.

At this stage, however, the idea bespeaks a cherished notion that if the Soviet Union and Communist China are ringed and menaced with dire calamity, the existing threat will evaporate. Both the containment idea and the policy of purely military alignments have a look of immobility which restricts the activity of the Western alliance and causes it to improvise its strategy from day to day.

The Communist policy is dynamic, and if it is to be countered successfully it must be met with measures even more dynamic. The threat that the United States is willing to flirt with world catastrophe—to indulge in "the art" of approaching the brink of atomic war, in the words attributed to Secretary of State Dulles, is hardly an answer to Communist thrusts.

If the Geneva summit conference demonstrated anything at all, it showed an inclination on both sides to concede that nuclear warfare would mean the end of Western civilization. An admission that the United States, still the most powerful nation on earth, contemplated risking such a world holocaust, is surely enough to make European spines tinge in fear.

Friends of the United States abroad do not fully understand the vagaries of American politics in a presidential year. Statements which might be intended wholly for consumption of the American voting public are likely to be taken at face value abroad, producing frustration among friends of the United States, fear among the neutrals and ammunition for the enemies.

The United States has done more and can do more for backward and needy nations of the world than any country in history. Too frequently, this is taken for granted.

Since world politics has entered this era of ideological competition, one of the first tasks would seem to be to perfect the West's ideological weapons. What seems to be needed—aside from the obvious advantages of a bipartisan and truly unified foreign policy—is a determined, intelligent propaganda counter-offensive aimed not only at kicking the props from under the Niagara of slanders poured upon the United States, but at convincing all free peoples there is little future for them in flirtation with a system of ruthless totalitarianism.

There has been no adequate answer from the United States thus far to the Communist charges of colonialism and imperialism, yet these charges come from a modern imperialist state whose recent colonialism is a matter of cold, cruel record. There has been little adequate answer to the Red charges of warmongering against the United States—charges from a nation armed to the teeth and straining every muscle to arm even more.

A national conference on American propaganda, free from the impediments of political publicity, might do the American cause a great deal of good.

A.W.O.L. Private Pleads Guilty To Armed Robbery

A fraudently-enlisted army private, Richard Arnold Brown, 20, plead guilty in Fourth District Court yesterday to charges of armed robbery of an Alexandria cab-driver on the outskirts of Monroe late Monday night.

He was remanded for sentencing by Judge David I. Garrett, presiding.

Brown was arrested by the Ouachita Parish sheriff's department Tuesday morning in a local bar. He confessed to the robbery shortly thereafter.

Earlier it was reported that Brown was a native of Tacoma, Washington, but yesterday he told Judge Garrett he was from Pennsylvania.

Marcelin Beridon, the taxi-driver, who brought Brown to Monroe was relieved of $36 in the robbery.

Toney Watson, also brought before the court, was fined $25 and costs, or 10 days default, on another armed robbery, one that never happened. He called the Ouachita parish sheriff's office, recently, and reported that he had been robbed, but after several hours of investigation his complaint proved to be a hoax. He was charged with disturbing the peace and pleaded guilty.

Among the other sentences handed down Friday morning was that of Raymond K. West, 24, who gave his address at 106 Parker street. He was charged with theft of rings valued at $37, which he said he gave to his wife as a Christmas present. He was sentenced to one year in jail, which was suspended, and fined $100 and costs, or 60 days more. Restitution was made on the theft.

Cleveland Robinson, 22, Negro, charged with simple rape, pleaded guilty through his attorney and was sentenced to one year in jail from the time of incarceration, about three months ago.

Among the felonies were Emmett Jackson, charged with simple burglary, and Louis Webb, charged with attempted murder. Both pleaded not guilty through their attorneys and no trial dates were set.

Sylvester Jones, Negro, arraigned on two charges, that of theft of an automobile, valued at $500 and for simple burglary of a dwelling, pleaded not guilty to both counts. Trial dates were not set.

Many arraignments were made for traffic misdemeanors, including several that involved one vehicle passing another that was turning off the highway.

Oscar E. Allen and David Hodge, two truck drivers, were each fined $75 and costs or 30 days default for speeding.

Jerry K. Corbin and Robert Nelson, Negro, involved in an accident, when one of the two turned off the highway and the second driver hit him, each pleaded not guilty to reckless driving, and their trials were set for January 20. Billy L. Antley and Henry L. Morris, also charged with reckless driving were involved in a similar traffic accident. Antley pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and costs, or 10 days. Morris pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for January 20.

Merlin L. Hester, Negro, Mike Stafford, and Ivy T. Walker, were each fined $300 and costs, or 60 days, for driving while intoxicated.

Robert L. McHand and Harry L. Ramsey were each fined $50 and costs, default 20 days, for reckless driving, when both pleaded guilty. The two were involved in an accident, as their trucks met on a narrow bridge, when neither stopped, causing an accident.

Among those arraigned for disturbing the peace and the disposition of their cases include: Harlon H. Blaylock, guilty; John Rockymore, Jr., guilty, and Leon H. Wray, guilty, all fined $25 and costs or 10 days in jail. Lawrence Harrell, Negro, of Winnfield, pleaded not guilty, and his trial was set for February 10. His bond was set at $50.

Two persons were brought before the court on vagrancy charges. Wayne E. Bussa, 17, who said he was from Ohio, was remanded for sentencing, when he pleaded guilty. Thelma Smith, Negro, pleaded not guilty and her trial was set for February 10.

Among those charged with speeding were Pete Frisby, not present, and called on his bond; William R. Gregory, guilty, fined $50 and costs or 15 days; and Tatum H. Pitman, guilty, $25 and costs, or 10 days.

Among the other arraignments was that of Joe W. Gibson, Negro, charged with driving with defective brakes and driving with switched license plates. He pleaded guilty to the first charge and was fined $25 and costs, or 10 days. Gibson pleaded not guilty to the second offense and his trial was set for January 20.

Others were Billy Joe Phillips, Negro, charged with driving without a license, guilty, $25 and costs, or 10 days; Clark W. Hildabridle, improper parking, guilty, $25 and costs, or 10 days; and Bennie Reed, Negro, driving with defective brakes, guilty, $25 and costs, or 10 days.

Charged with reckless driving were Francis F. Brown, Negro, guilty, $25 and costs, or 10 days; Earl C. Herrington, not guilty, set January 20; and John P. Moore, guilty, $25 and costs or 10 days.

Several cases were scheduled to be set for trial.

5,078 Seniors Take Second Merit Exams

CHICAGO, Jan. 13 (AP)—A total of 5,078 brilliant high school seniors will take second examinations tomorrow otdetermine which 2,500 of them will still be in the running for college merit scholarships next fall.

They are the survivors of nearly 60,000 hand-picked seniors who took the first examination Oct. 26 in the National Merit Scholarship Corp. talent search.

The second tests will be given at hundreds of testing stations throughout the nation, but no student will have to travel more than 90 miles.

The 2,500 finalists will be considered by a board of judges. The board will review their scholastic records and their activities records in and out of school. The students will be asked to submit statements of their plans for college and ambitions later.

At least 445 and possibly 500 will be given four-year scholarships to colleges of their choice. They also will get cost of living allowances based on need.

The scholarship program was made possible largely by a grant from the Ford Foundation. Nine major corporations subsequently announced plans to cooperate and increase the number of such scholarships.

Results will be known in about five weeks.

LAKE PROVIDENCE, Jan. 13 (Special) — A pick-up truck left the road on a curve a few miles south of here late Thursday, and two Negro men, tenants on the I. O. Morris plantation near Transylvania, miraculously escaped death.

Police officers investigating the wreck stated that the truck rolled over and over, a distance of some 430 feet. Henry Everfield, Negro, driver of the truck, and an unidentified companion, were thrown from the vehicle.

The two men were carried to a local hospital where they did not regain consciousness until this morning. Preliminary examination revealed that the two had suffered only minor cuts and bruises.

Mardi Gras Trip Planned By Band

RUSTON, Jan. 13 (Special)—By invitation of the Mardi Gras committee in New Orleans, the Louisiana Tech band, under the direction of Joe G. Sheppard, will participate in the Rex parade on Mardi Gras Day, Tuesday, Feb. 14.

The band will leave Tech on Feb. 13 in the early morning and will play concerts in Donaldsonville and Houma high school before arriving in New Orleans. Another concert will be given at the Morgan City high school on the return trip.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Bretz and Mrs. Mary Elaine Wallace of the music department will accompany Sheppard and the band.

Timmerman New La. College Dean

PINEVILLE, Jan. 13 (Special)—The second dean in the colorful 49-year history of Louisiana College was elected by the school's board of trustees at its annual January meeting this week in Pineville.

Dr. John R. Timmerman, 45, former L. C. English department chairman, will replace H M. Weathersby on June 1.

Weathersby, who will retire at that time following 45 years service with the Baptist college, has held the post of dean for more than four decades.

He joined the school's faculty in 1911 as a history teacher. Three years later he was elevated to the deanship and has been the only person to hold this position at L. C.

It marks probably the longest tenure of this type in American collegiate history. Dean Weathersby, who has become an institution at the local institution, was also actively engaged in classroom teaching until 1945.

Dr. Timmerman, who was on the L. C. faculty for three years, 1952-55, has been serving as English department chairman at Oklahoma Baptist University this year.

His appointment to the Louisiana College deanship was recommended by President G. Earl Guinn and was unanimously accepted by the board of trustees. In turn, Dr. Timmerman accepted the post this week.

The target date for opening the five-mile bridge being built across the Straits of Mackinac is Nov. 1, 1957.

Preaus Promises Consistent Law Enforcement Plan

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 13 (Special)—Fred Preaus, candidate for governor, promised Louisianians a consistent 24-hour-a-day and 365-days a year law enforcement program here tonight.

The Farmerville businessman said good law enforcement is the product of routine, daily enforcement of all laws and that it requires the cooperation of law officials at all levels of government.

"I have said before, and I repeat tonight, that I do not wish to take anything away from anyone, but I feel that law enforcement cannot be the work of one person. No matter how insignificant each person's part is, many necessarily must be a part of enforcing our laws.

"There is only one way to enforce the law," Preaus said, "and that is to enforce them as long as they are the books—day in and day out."

The candidate for governor said his law enforcement plank calls for cooperation with local officials. However, he said, if local officials do not cooperate, he will, as governor, use whatever police powers he deems necessary, including invoking martial law, to insure the safety of Louisiana's citizens.

Preaus reaffirmed his position on segregation, stating that the Preaus - Moore team stands firmly against integration of the races or any attempt to end segregation. However, he said he stands just as positively on the promise that equal school and recreational facilities should be provided the Negro race and that they should be treated fairly and with understanding.

Referring to another candidate, who this week distributed a brochure outlining his platform, Preaus said it is evident that this opponent does not wish to have his position on the segregation issue in writing under his signature. He said this candidate completely ignored segregation in this brochure, despite having said on the stump that he was for continued segregation.

A. Brown Moore, candidate for lieutenant governor on the Preaus ticket, told listeners that despite the criticism of other candidates the Preaus platform is different in that he is seeking to take care of the basic needs of the people.

Taking the platform step by step, Moore said:

"Other candidates have taken stands on segregation with varying degrees of emphasis, but the Preaus-More position is both firm and kindly. "In this matter of a strict law enforcement program we have tried to take into consideration the role the local law officials must play in any good program of enforcement.

"The Preaus-Moore team was the first to come out with a definite teacher pay raise plan and proposed development and expansion of the vocational training program in order that Louisiana people may profit from industrial expension and the resulting need for more trained workers.

"Our welfare program not only is in favor of a $65-a-month old age assistance payment, but we recognize the needs of Louisiana's forgotten widows who are untrained for public work and must be provided for.

"The Preaus-Moore team is not only advocating continuation of non-political administration of the state's institutions, but have shown an interest in the care of handicapped and retarded children and adults.

"The Preaus ticket is the only one in this campaign that has come out with a direct promise of enlarging benefits to veterans."

Tomorrow Preaus and Moore visit Baton Rouge and appear on television at 6:30 p.m. over a Baton Rouge station.

Zeckendorf Files Suit To Recover Development Area

DALLAS, Jan. 13—UP—New York real estate wizard William Zeckendorf and his Dallas associates Friday filed a cross-suit against Milton L. Sterne of Dallas and Canada in a squabble over land for a multi-million dollar industrial development.

Webb and Knapp Inc., Zeckendorf's company, William Zeckendorf Jr., Angus Wynne Jr., Toddie Lee Wynne and W. W. Walker Jr., filed the cross-suit against Milton L. Sterne, Texas Industrial Ventures Inc., World Ventures Inc., and North American Consultants Ltd.

The suit charged "Sterne has unlawfully taken possession of six tracts of land in Dallas and Tarrant counties on Jan. 12 and is withholding possession" from the plaintiffs. The Zeckendorf group asks $116,000 damages and a declaratory judgment to give them title to the land.

Sterne had filed an earlier suit seeking to restrain the Zeckendorf group from Developing some 5,000 acres of land between Dallas and Fort Worth into an industrial park. Sterne charged it was his original idea and he had planned it as a joint venture with Zeckendorf.

Child's Knife Sheath Almost Starts Fire

A child's knife scabbard behind the front vent of a wall gas heater at Apartment 13-B Louis Lock Homes caused a lot of smoke but little damage at about 7 p.m. yesterday.

Two Monroe city fire trucks responded to the call after occupants of the house had encountered smoke in their bathroom.

Dulles Reaffirms U. S. 'Brink Of War' Moves

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles replied to critics today by reaffirming his claim that "brink of war" moves by the Eisenhower administration checked the Chinese Reds in Formodsa, Indochina and Korea.

Dulles officially endorsed views to this effect which Life magazine attributed to him in an exclusive interview.

Dulles, after reading the full Life article, said through his press officer that remarks he is reported to have made in it "do not require correction from the standpoint of their substance."

These remarks by Dulles have aroused a storm of criticism from British newspapers as well as denunciations from Democratic Sen. Humphrey (Minn) who termed them "a distortion of history."

Dean Acheson, former Democratic secretary of state, joined the foreign policy critics last night, cautioning against conducting foreign affairs by "hucksterism." Acheson did not mention the magazine article.

In the article, Dulles said that in order to block further Red aggression in Asia, the United States was "brought to the verge of war" three times in 18 months.

He said America's readiness to fight with atomic weapons if necessary was made known to the Chinese Reds. He credited this "strong action" with 1. ending the Korean War; 2. preventing the Chinese Reds from openly intervening with their armies in Indochina and 3. "finally" stopping the Reds' threatened invasion of Formosa.

"The ability to get to the verge without getting into war is the necessary art," he was quoted as saying. "If you cannot master it, you inevitably get into war.

"If you try to run away from it, if you are scared to go to the brink, you are lost."

While firmly backing up these views, Dulles refused either to disown or endorse the remainder of the lengthy Life foreign policy review which credits him with the "greatest display of personal diplomacy since the great days of the Franklin-Adams-Jefferson triumvirate in the Europe of 1780s."

Dulles' press officer, Lincoln White, declined comment on these statements even when reporters pointed out that Life magazine said the entire article was based on "new information made available" to author James Shepley, chief of the Time-Life Washington bureau.

White said the comments he made on behalf of Dulles "refer only to what is directly attributed to him in quotation."

"I have no comment on the rest," White said.

Forgery Escapee From Angola In Oregon Prison

ANGOLA, La., Jan. 13 (AP) —Junior Lloyd Caudill, who slipped out of the Louisiana penitentiary with a payoff to a convict record forging gang, was discovered in an Oregon prison today.

Warden Maurice Sigler said Oregon authorities reported Caudill is serving a two-year sentence at the Salem, Ore., penitentiary for burglary.

Caudill was one of nine Louisiana prisoners who got out of Angola with forged records last year. Sigler exposed the racket, and all but Caudill and one other were captured and brought back.

In nearby Clinton, district attorney Richard Kilbourne said no decision had been made yet whether to call a special session of the west Feliciana Parish grand jury to deal with the Angola racket.

The State Department of Institutions Nov. 23 filed with Kilbourne the results of its four-month investigation of the racket.

Institutions director Edward Grant said three former prison employes seemed to be involved, along with several convict clerks who were seized immediately when the ring was smashed last August.

Kilbourne said the whole question right now is whether the Angola case calls for special grand jury action. If not, "we certainly will bring the matter before the regular grand jury when it meets in May," he explained.

Sigler said he is forwarding a fugitive warrant to the Oregon penitentiary which will hold Caudill for Louisiana when he finishes his term.

Caudill, sent to Angola in September, 1954, to serve a Bossier Parish 4½ year term for attempted burglary, got out July 1, 1955. He did so by getting his records changed to show a one-year term.

Later, apprehended at Fort Worth, Tex., he claimed he paid a prison official $2,500 for his freedom, but refused to name him. Angola authorities denied Caudill's story.

Scouts Meet Here Today; Plan 2-Day Conclave For May

Jack Pankey, regional Boy Scout executive, said last night that a five-D area planning conference will get underway here this morning at 10 a.m. when delegates from lodges in Louisiana and Arkansas will work out details for a two-day conclave near Minden, La. in May.

The Order of the Arrow Society is represented by the meeting.

According to Pankey, delegates attending the meeting today will represent Hot Springs, Little Rock and El Dorado, Ark., and Shreveport, Lake Charles, Alexandria and Monroe, La.

The planning conference here will open at the Frances Hotel at 10 a.m. and conclude at 3 p.m.

Preaus Promises Consistent Law Enforcement Plan

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 13 (Special)—Fred Preaus, candidate for governor, promised Louisianians a consistent 24-hour-a-day and 365-days a year law enforcement program here tonight.

"The ability to get to the verge without getting into war is the necessary art," he was quoted as saying. "If you cannot master it, you inevitably get into war.

"If you try to run away from it, if you are scared to go to the brink, you are lost."

While firmly backing up these views, Dulles refused either to disown or endorse the remainder of the lengthy Life foreign policy review which credits him with the "greatest display of personal diplomacy since the great days of the Franklin-Adams-Jefferson triumvirate in the Europe of 1780s."

Dulles' press officer, Lincoln White, declined comment on these statements even when reporters pointed out that Life magazine said the entire article was based on "new information made available" to author James Shepley, chief of the Time-Life Washington bureau.

White said the comments he made on behalf of Dulles "refer only to what is directly attributed to him in quotation."

"I have no comment on the rest," White said.

Forgery Escapee From Angola In Oregon Prison

ANGOLA, La., Jan. 13 (AP) —Junior Lloyd Caudill, who slipped out of the Louisiana penitentiary with a payoff to a convict record forging gang, was discovered in an Oregon prison today.

Warden Maurice Sigler said Oregon authorities reported Caudill is serving a two-year sentence at the Salem, Ore., penitentiary for burglary.

Caudill was one of nine Louisiana prisoners who got out of Angola with forged records last year. Sigler exposed the racket, and all but Caudill and one other were captured and brought back.

In nearby Clinton, district attorney Richard Kilbourne said no decision had been made yet whether to call a special session of the west Feliciana Parish grand jury to deal with the Angola racket.

The State Department of Institutions Nov. 23 filed with Kilbourne the results of its four-month investigation of the racket.

Institutions director Edward Grant said three former prison employes seemed to be involved, along with several convict clerks who were seized immediately when the ring was smashed last August.

Kilbourne said the whole question right now is whether the Angola case calls for special grand jury action. If not, "we certainly will bring the matter before the regular grand jury when it meets in May," he explained.

Sigler said he is forwarding a fugitive warrant to the Oregon penitentiary which will hold Caudill for Louisiana when he finishes his term.

Caudill, sent to Angola in September, 1954, to serve a Bossier Parish 4½ year term for attempted burglary, got out July 1, 1955. He did so by getting his records changed to show a one-year term.

Later, apprehended at Fort Worth, Tex., he claimed he paid a prison official $2,500 for his freedom, but refused to name him. Angola authorities denied Caudill's story.

Jack Pankey, regional Boy Scout executive, said last night that a five-D area planning conference will get underway here this morning at 10 a.m. when delegates from lodges in Louisiana and Arkansas will work out details for a two-day conclave near Minden, La. in May.

The Order of the Arrow Society is represented by the meeting.

According to Pankey, delegates attending the meeting today will represent Hot Springs, Little Rock and El Dorado, Ark., and Shreveport, Lake Charles, Alexandria and Monroe, La.

The planning conference here will open at the Frances Hotel at 10 a.m. and conclude at 3 p.m.

Sciro's Home Is Scene Of Festive Party

The lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Sciro on Downey Lane was the setting for a gala holiday party.

Seasonal decorations of white and silver were featured throughout the whole house. On the front door adding a most welcome note was the huge red foil ball centered with silver and white bells trimmed at the edge with silvered leaves.

Placed on the mantel in the reception room was a large spray of satin green leaves and ribbons and on either end were silver holders containing burning tapers.

Mrs. Sciro received her guests at the door in a semi-formal model of black taffeta with its only ornament a rhinestone pin at the torso waist, and ushered them into the dining room where they were served from a table covered with an imported cut-work linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of two tall white tapers placed in silver candle holders, and entwined with tall arrangements of silver balls. Large silver and gold stars encircled the arrangement.

Noted in the den was a small arrangement which was placed on the television, consisting of one single tall white candle held in its place with silver ribbons. Placed on a small table was a lazy-susan filled with hor d'oeuere.

Guests enjoying this occasion were:

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Inabnet, Mr.. and Mrs. John Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baylor, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Epler, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Slavant, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Burton, Mr. and Mrs. James Pettit, Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Berry, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Merredith, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pettit, Mrs. Chris Slavant, Miss Carol Ann Sciro, Miss Jerry Wade and Mr. Joe Slavant, Miss Margie Wison, and Mr. Ben Citizen, Miss Ann Daniels and Mr. Charles Brown, Miss Jean Hill and Mr. Chuck Welsh of Houston, Tex., and Mrs. James Slavant.

Sliced fresh pears are delightful added to a compote of pineapple, oranges, grapefruit and fresh dates. Put the fruit combination in your best glass bowl and serve for a company dessert. Use small pieces of canned pineapple rather than the crushed fruit for appearance sake. Have the oranges and grapefruit cut into membrane-free sections. Pit the fresh dates and sliver them. Add some maraschino cherries, if you like, for extra-pretty color.

The Huckabays Celebrate 50th Anniversary

The parlor of the Bienville Baptist Church was the setting for a reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Huckabay on their fiftieth wedding anniversary. The party which was held between three and five o'clock Sunday afternoon was given by their children.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Ray Huckabay and receiving with their parents were Leo Huckabay of Monroe, Mrs. A. L. Albright of Sulphur, and Dr. Calvin Huckabay of Pineville. Mrs. Garland Ireland of Bastrop and Mrs. L. O. Towns of Gibsland. Assisting in the courtesies were Mesdames R. V. Hancock, Mildred Sinnett, Calvin Huckabay, and Currie Poland.

The honoree wore a corsage of yellow rosebuds and the other ladies wore carnations trimmed with gold ribbons and tiny bells. White carnation boutonnieres were worn by the men.

Interest focused on the table which held the three - tiered cake trimmed with yellow roses and topped with bells ringing out fifty years. This was bordered by white maline and a silver bridal knife to be used later by the couple to cut the cake was at the side. Glossy magnolia leaves formed a semi-circle around the confection and white tapers, sprinkled with golden glitter, burned brightly.

On the refreshment table, a beautiful crocheted cloth lined with gold held an arrangement of chrysanthemums and greenery dotted with gold. White candles in double-branched crystal holders flanked the flowers.

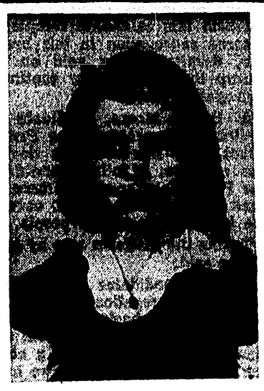

Mesdames Leo Huckabay, Leslie Eager, and J. Rush Wimberly, Jr., alternated at the punch bowl and tempting cakes and nuts were also served.

The piano held a shallow bowl of baby mums and a large, white candle encircled by magnolia leaves. Appropriate music was softly played during the appointed hours by Misses Sara Ann Towns and Carolyn Patton.

Many lovely gifts received by the couple were displayed.

Approximately one-hundred and fifty guests called and Mrs. H. C. Fleming presided at the register.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Huckabay are members of pioneer north Louisiana families. Mrs. Huckabay is the former Willie Bert Poland and daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richardson Poland of Madden community. Mr. Huckabay's parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Huckabay of Sparata.

Governor Vote For Each Candidate In 1952 Given

LORIMER E. STOREY
(Associate Professor of Political Science Louisiana Polytechnic Institute Ruston, Louisiana)

In 1952, nine candidates entered the first primary for the Democratic nomination for governor of Louisiana. Three of the candidates—Lucille May Grace, Cliff Liles, and Kermit A. Parkers — failed to lead in a single parish. The combined vote received by these three candidates totaled 11,535.

Hence, the real contest for the Democratic nomination for governor in the first primary in 1952 was among the six candidates who lead in three or more parishes.

Of the 64 parishes in the state, only six gave any candidate an absolute maoritjy. These parishes were: Allen, East Feliciana, Plaquemines, St. Bernard, St. James, and St. John. All six of these parishes are what might be termed "small vote" parishes. No one of them cast ten thousand votes. Only two — Allen and St. James — cast more than five thousand.

Each of the state's three largest cities favored a different candidate. New Orleans was partial to Boggs; Shreveport (Caddo), to McLemore; Baton Rouge (East Baton Rouge), to Kennon.

The state's next four largest cities divided this way: Alexandria (Rapides) and Lake Charles (Calcasieu), McLemore; Monroe (Ouachita), Kennon; Lafayette, Leblanc.

In a number of the parishes, the vote was almost equally divided among three or four candidates. Orleans parish will illustrate this point. In Orleans, Boggs lead with 54,043; Spaht followed with 42,723; Kennon, 33,754; McLemore, 17,408; Dodd, 12,082.

There was a tendency for each candidate to lead in his home parish. Only Spaht failed to lead in his home parish — East Baton Rouge. On the other hand, Dodd was the only candidate to receive an absolute majority in his home parish — Allen.

The total vote received by each of the 1952 candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor was:

Carlos G. Spaht	173,987
Robert F. Kennon	163,434
Hale Boggs	142,542
James M. McLemore	116,405
William J. Dodd	90,925
Dudley J. LeBlanc	62,906
Kermit A. Parker	5,470
Lucille May Grace	4,328
Cliff Lles	1,233
Total	761,734

The above figures show that the two candidates who won the right to enter the second primary had a combined vote of 337,421. All the other candidates had a combined vote of 424,313. Thus we see that the two high candidates combined received less than one-half of the total vote cast.

best action on the part of the wife was to rush to the bank in despair.

"Now children," said the teacher," why did the wife rush to the bank?"

Then a smart boy raised his hand. "Please, teacher," he said, "She rushed to draw his insurance money."

College avenue buses are routed out DeSiard as they leave town, while DeSiard road buses go out Washington street to 14th and then are routed through that street to DeSiard their usual route. But when a new man came on the job as operator he amazed his College avenue passengers by reversing the order of the route. But when he got to the corner of Washington and Fifth street, he suddenly realized his mistake and turned his bus south on North Fifth to DeSiard and then he was going right.

Passengers had the thrill of a new routing, but one remarked: "variety is the spice of life."

A fine piece of workmanship was completed this week by skilled carpentry work performed by a group of members of the Monroe Civitan club who, by working nights on the job, fashioned an expertly prepared "gadget board" which is to be presented to the cerebral palsy school at Selman field.

Weeks ago, this club was studying what they could do to aid these unfortunate little folks in this school and it was decided that a "gadget board" might help teachers in their instruction work. It was found that in Shreveport the Civitan club performed a similar service so the men here started out.

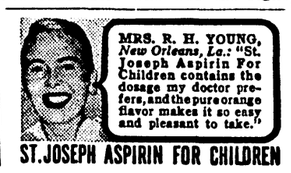

They needed a place to work, this was forthcoming when the finely - equipped Continental laboratories were placed at disposal of club members. Lumber and supplies required were obtained and all who were asked to donate or to sell materials at lowest prices were highly cooperative.

The job was finished and on display Thursday night when all members of the Monroe Civitan club made an inspection. The board is eight feet long and about five feet or more in breadth. It is painted a deep blue in attractive colors.

Plumbing fixtures are fastened to the board, so as to teach youngsters how to turn on faucets, how to turn it off. There is a Venetian blind affixed to the board so that the children can learn its adjustment.

On the reverse side are little shallow niches closed by small doors. Inside each, is displayed in colors, fairy stories like "Jack and Gill", "Mary Had a Little Lamb" etc.

To adults this may appear too juvenile but not for the children who will make use of this board which we believe teachers will greatly appreciate. This is just one of the many helpful jobs that Civitans hope to perform this year.

Here's Help For All Women On Marathon

How are you doing with your New Year's resolutions? Women everywhere have promised themselves that this is the year when they are really going to take better care of themselves, when they are going to lose weight, when they are going in for self-improvement in a big way and stick to a beauty routine.

They promised themselves that they will look younger rather than older this time next year, and they can! There is no doubt about that!

I want to give those of you who are joining my 8-week self-improvement Marathon a few hints today, because I want this eight weeks to be one of the most successful of your lives.

1. Do not weigh every day. It takes several days of dieting before you lose a few pounds. Daily weighing is discouraging.

2. Do not fail to count your calories every day. If you diet a few days and then skip a few you never will make the grade.

3. Be sure to count in the small items such as salad dressing or oils, nuts, sauces, a bit of cream, gravy, and so on. These seemingly small items add up to a big calorie count.

4. Don't talk about reducing. It bores people and there is no need to have it on your mind constantly. When you are a guest at dinner take some of everything. You do not have to eat everything on your plate, probably no one will notice if you don't. You always can refuse second helpings politely.

If you would like to join my Marathon to see how much you can improve yourself or if you wish to lose 20 pounds in just eight short weeks, send ten cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for Josephine Lowman's 8-week self-improvement Marathon. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

(Released by The Register and Tribune Syndicate, 1956)

Do not weigh every day. It takes several days of dieting before you lose a few pounds. Daily weighing is discouraging.

The local Y.M.C.A has just issued, from the office of Executive Secretary Charles A. Wood, Jr., a highly interesting and commendatory report for the year 1955. The best of book paper was used as material and the illustrations are effective and numerous.

It states that the 1955 membership roundup was highly successful under direction of Dr. R. L. Robertson, John D. Mullens and Harry H. Hudson. Five hundred fifty adult members were secured with $15,500 to operate in the past year.

An additional two - year lease has been secured on the building at 217 Breard street. This provides office space, reading room and lounge equipped with TV set and record player, a game room, club meeting room and kitchen.

While this building is headquarters, other outside facilities aid greatly. These are secured from the cities of Monroe and of West Monroe, two school systems, civic clubs, P-T.A. and churches, all of which are eager to aid a highly worthy cause.

Segregation Plan Offered In Texas

FORT WORTH, Jan. 13—UP—A plan to retain segregation in public schools "within the framework of the Supreme Court decision" was announced Friday by three Fort Worth attorneys.

However, the lawyers, Sidney Samuels, R. A. (Bob) Stuart, and John T. Gano, wouldn't disclose details of the plan.

But it is believed to be based on three types of schools. Some would be for white students only, some for Negroes only, and some would admit Negroes and whites who do not care about segregation.

Gano said Attorney General John Ben Sheppard has had a copy of the plan under consideration for a year and has expressed himself as believing it is workable.

Benson Urged To Reveal Support Price For Cotton

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP) —Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) called on Secretary of Agriculture Benson today to announce at once the 1956 price support level for cotton.

He said it is imperative for Congress to know what the level is to be before it acts on President Eisenhower's proposal that the base for cotton loans — which are price supporting — be changed from ⅞ middling to average grade and staple.

"It is my understanding that such a change would result in a loan base of one inch middling and a reduction in the cotton price support of about 3½ cents a pound," Fulbright wrote Benson.

Fulbright told the secretary that in his talks with Arkansas cotton farmers he found many of them would not object to the change even though the net result would be a reduced price.

"However," Fulbright wrote "many of these fame farmers are concerned, as I am, that a reduction in the cotton loan rate achieved by revising the base of the loan will be only the first step in a downward revision of price support available to farmers."

Fulbright said that because of the big cotton surplus on hand Benson could set the loan level for cotton this year at or near 75 per cent of parity, compared with 90 per cent last year.

Such action, he said, would mean a reduction of about 5½ cents a pound. This, plus an additional 3½ per cent drop through a change in the base ' would be more than cotton farmers could stand," Fulbright told Benson.

Therefore, he said, before there is a vote on a proposal to change the base "I want to know just what your plans are."

Artery Surgery Termed Brilliant Medical Progress

POINT CLEAR, Ala., Jan. 13 (AP) —A New Orleans physician said today recent developments in operations of diseased arteries are "among the most brilliant achievements in the history of surgery."

Dr. Howard Mahorner, Louisiana State medical school professor of surgery, said both artificial fiber tubes and arterial grafts now are being used successfully in treating the disease known as aneurysm.

Without successful treatment, a patient suffering from aneurysm usually died within two years, he said.

Oil And Gas News

Gulf Leases Part Of Eros Town Site; Test Reported Planned In Outlying Area

Sources at Eros confirmed yesterday that Gulf Refining Company has leased approximately one half of the Eros town site in Jackson Parish from individual property owners and it was unofficially reported that the company is planning a wildcat oil venture near Eros immediately inside Ouachita Parish.

This lease activity is presumably based upon information from the new Cadeville oil field in Sec. 19-17-2E, Ouachita Parish, where the discovery and confirmation oil wells, both on Golson property, are producing under a temporary daily field allowable of 193 barrels for the month of January.

Gulf has also reportedly leased other acreage in the Eros vicinity outside the town limits.

The property is leasing for a $40 per acre bonus plus a dollar a year annual rental per acre, according to sources in the Eros vicinity.

The Eros town site lies approximately six miles west by southwest of Atlantic Refining Company's Golson No. 1 Cadeville field discovery and A-1 confirmation, both of which were drilled by Zach Brooks Drilling Company in Sec. 19-17-2E.

No other applications to drill in the Cadeville field area have been filed as yet with the Monroe District office of the State of Louisiana Department of Conservation. Neither have operators as yet filed for a Conservation Department hearing to set up a spacing pattern for the field.

Unusually large sums of money were reportedly spent on the two Cadeville field wells. Each involved approximately three months of work largely due to the difficulty encountered in drilling through the tough shale of the Travis Peak to reach the producing sand in the upper Cotton Valley. Additional drilling time was spent on the Golson A-1 since the operator explored the lower Cotton Valley after coring the pay sand of the field.

CITIZENS OF WARD 10

I am offering for re-election to the Ouachita Parish Police Jury from your ward. I feel that my record of performance in the past 25 years as a Police Juror warrants your favorable consideration. I have been elected annually for the past eleven years, president of the jury by the membership. As ex-officio member of the finance committee of the Police Jury, I have helped to anticipate the revenues of the parish and to disperse the monies received by the Police Jury to the various departments of the parish, and insisted that each department operate within its budget. I believe the Police Jury can operate on its present income and see no reason for additional taxes. Your support will be appreciated and I pledge myself to continue as your faithful representative on the Police Jury.

Benson Urged To Reveal Support Price For Cotton

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP) —Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) called on Secretary of Agriculture Benson today to announce at once the 1956 price support level for cotton.

He said it is imperative for Congress to know what the level is to be before it acts on President Eisenhower's proposal that the base for cotton loans — which are price supporting — be changed from ⅞ middling to average grade and staple.

"It is my understanding that such a change would result in a loan base of one inch middling and a reduction in the cotton price support of about 3½ cents a pound," Fulbright wrote Benson.

Fulbright told the secretary that in his talks with Arkansas cotton farmers he found many of them would not object to the change even though the net result would be a reduced price.

"However," Fulbright wrote "many of these fame farmers are concerned, as I am, that a reduction in the cotton loan rate achieved by revising the base of the loan will be only the first step in a downward revision of price support available to farmers."

Fulbright said that because of the big cotton surplus on hand Benson could set the loan level for cotton this year at or near 75 per cent of parity, compared with 90 per cent last year.

Such action, he said, would mean a reduction of about 5½ cents a pound. This, plus an additional 3½ per cent drop through a change in the base 'would be more than cotton farmers could stand," Fulbright told Benson.

Therefore, he said, before there is a vote on a proposal to change the base "I want to know just what your plans are."

Artery Surgery Termed Brilliant Medical Progress

POINT CLEAR, Ala., Jan. 13 (AP) —A New Orleans physician said today recent developments in operations of diseased arteries are "among the most brilliant achievements in the history of surgery."

Dr. Howard Mahorner, Louisiana State medical school professor of surgery, said both artificial fiber tubes and arterial grafts now are being used successfully in treating the disease known as aneurysm.

Without successful treatment, a patient suffering from aneurysm usually died within two years, he said.

Oil And Gas News

Sources at Eros confirmed yesterday that Gulf Refining Company has leased approximately one half of the Eros town site in Jackson Parish from individual property owners and it was unofficially reported that the company is planning a wildcat oil venture near Eros immediately inside Ouachita Parish.

This lease activity is presumably based upon information from the new Cadeville oil field in Sec. 19-17-2E, Ouachita Parish, where the discovery and confirmation oil wells, both on Golson property, are producing under a temporary daily field allowable of 193 barrels for the month of January.

Gulf has also reportedly leased other acreage in the Eros vicinity outside the town limits.

The property is leasing for a $40 per acre bonus plus a dollar a year annual rental per acre, according to sources in the Eros vicinity.

The Eros town site lies approximately six miles west by southwest of Atlantic Refining Company's Golson No. 1 Cadeville field discovery and A-1 confirmation, both of which were drilled by Zach Brooks Drilling Company in Sec. 19-17-2E.

No other applications to drill in the Cadeville field area have been filed as yet with the Monroe District office of the State of Louisiana Department of Conservation. Neither have operators as yet filed for a Conservation Department hearing to set up a spacing pattern for the field.

Unusually large sums of money were reportedly spent on the two Cadeville field wells. Each involved approximately three months of work largely due to the difficulty encountered in drilling through the tough shale of the Travis Peak to reach the producing sand in the upper Cotton Valley. Additional drilling time was spent on the Golson A-1 since the operator explored the lower Cotton Valley after coring the pay sand of the field.

CITIZENS OF WARD 10
I am offering for re-election to the Ouachita Parish Police Jury from your ward. I feel that my record of performance in the past 25 years as a Police Juror warrants your favorable consideration. I have been elected annually for the past eleven years, president of the jury by the membership. As ex-officio member of the finance committee of the Police Jury, I have helped to anticipate the revenues of the parish and to disperse the monies received by the Police Jury to the various departments of the parish, and insisted that each department operate within its budget. I believe the Police Jury can operate on its present income and see no reason for additional taxes. Your support will be appreciated and I pledge myself to continue as your faithful representative on the Police Jury.

Cotton

New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 70 cents a bale higher to $1.15 lower today. The market experienced a good deal of profit taking, but old crop deliveries held up well on trade and commission house buying.

Much of this demand was credited to short covering, influenced by the tightening spot cotton situation arising from the loan program. New crop months dropped about $1 a bale in early dealings, following a partial recovery, and sagged again toward the close. Traders were uncertain over new farm legislation.

The Department of Agriculture reported that the C.C.C. sold for export 122,878 bales of cotton against bids submitted by exporters on Tuesday. The range of prices paid on the base quality 15-16ths inch was 25.50 to 26.75 cents a pound. Sales in the preceding week were 18,742 bales on a sale price range of 25.50 to 28.02 cents. Dealers believed that most of the cotton purchased against commitments already made abroad and sales had no apparent effect on futures.

Stock Market Closes Mixed

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP) — The stock market was unable to extend its two-day rally today and closed mixed.

The market declined for first two days this week and advanced the next two. Today it started higher, and it looked as though the record would be three-in-a-row.

Chemicals and railroads were out in front of the advance. Motors, however, displayed no strength and soon began to retreat as trade reports showed spreading layoffs of workers at General Motors and Chrysler resulting from production lags.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed unchanged at $178.30. It was $1.10 yesterday. The industrial component of the average lost 20 cents while railroads advanced 30 cents and utilities held unchanged.

Volume backed down to 2,120,000 shares as compared with 2,330,000 shares traded yesterday.

There was an almost even division in the list among gainers and losers. Out of the 1,185 individual issues traded, 465 were up and 453 down. Twenty-three stocks made new highs and seven touched new lows for the year.

Corporate bonds were widely mixed while U.S. government issues traded over the counter were irregularly lower.

New crop months were reactionary as a greater volume of hedging particularly from producer areas was felt. There was also modest profit taking from commission houses and good selling in March and May believed primarily from southeast mill interests. Despite its reflection of loan level plus almost full carrying charges, old March continued strong advancing 14 points. There was active short covering in that month and Clayton added to their long position. They were also good buyers of May and July. Liverpool was encouraged by the second week of CCC sales and prices there advanced 22 to 42 cent points. With sterling at 280¾ differences; Liverpool under New York were March 533 May 590 July 532.

Trade reaction to sale of 122,878 bales of CCC stocks reflected the thought that there was still a fair amount of short covering. Claytons purchase of over 62,000 bales was believed consisting primarily of middle and small bright qualities.

Japan announced that raw cotton importers must use their authorizations under the $60 million U. S. export import bank credit by the end of June or it will become void. A local service points out that it is 129 points more profitable to deliver low middling ⅞ inch cotton against the March position as compared to the spot price in Houston. Included in the 129 points is cost of certification, the risk of grade and staple and availability of cotton at that port.

"Chep" MORRISON
SERVANT OF THE PEOPLE

The Governor of our state should be a man with a warm and genuine sympathy and understanding for the problems of the needy, the unfortunate, the handicapped and the aged. The occupant of the high office of Governor should always maintain a bond with the problems of the most humble citizen.

Chep MORRISON'S Record shows that he is such a man!

Chep Morrison's remarkable record of being 5 times elected to public office by overwhelming majorities is the best proof that he has remained close to the people. Despite the tremendous demands of his position, the doors of his office have always been open to all his constituents. The guiding principle of his public life has been continually to strive for the understanding and solution of the problems of the less fortunate.

His proven qualities of warmth of heart and sincerity of purpose are the best assurance that the Morrison-Barham Team will:

1. Immediately provide and maintain a $65.00 per month old age pension for all old people who genuinely need assistance.
2. Carry out an agressive program to improve our hospitals, prisons and mental institutions.
3. Work for an effective training program for mentally retarded and other handicapped children.

Cotton

New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 70 cents a bale higher to $1.15 lower today. The market experienced a good deal of profit taking, but old crop deliveries held up well on trade and commission house buying.

Much of this demand was credited to short covering, influenced by the tightening spot cotton situation arising from the loan program. New crop months dropped about $1 a bale in early dealings, following a partial recovery, and sagged again toward the close. Traders were uncertain over new farm legislation.

The Department of Agriculture reported that the C.C.C. sold for export 122,878 bales of cotton against bids submitted by exporters on Tuesday. The range of prices paid on the base quality 15-16ths inch was 25.50 to 26.75 cents a pound. Sales in the preceding week were 18,742 bales on a sale price range of 25.50 to 28.02 cents. Dealers believed that most of the cotton purchased against commitments already made abroad and sales had no apparent effect on futures.

Stock Market Closes Mixed

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP) — The stock market was unable to extend its two-day rally today and closed mixed.

The market declined for first two days this week and advanced the next two. Today it started higher, and it looked as though the record would be three-in-a-row.

Chemicals and railroads were out in front of the advance. Motors, however, displayed no strength and soon began to retreat as trade reports showed spreading layoffs of workers at General Motors and Chrysler resulting from production lags.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed unchanged at $178.30. It was $1.10 yesterday. The industrial component of the average lost 20 cents while railroads advanced 30 cents and utilities held unchanged.

Volume backed down to 2,120,000 shares as compared with 2,330,000 shares traded yesterday.

There was an almost even division in the list among gainers and losers. Out of the 1,185 individual issues traded, 465 were up and 453 down. Twenty-three stocks made new highs and seven touched new lows for the year.

Corporate bonds were widely mixed while U.S. government issues traded over the counter were irregularly lower.

New crop months were reactionary as a greater volume of hedging particularly from producer areas was felt. There was also modest profit taking from commission houses and good selling in March and May believed primarily from southeast mill interests. Despite its reflection of loan level plus almost full carrying charges, old March continued strong advancing 14 points. There was active short covering in that month and Clayton added to their long position. They were also good buyers of May and July. Liverpool was encouraged by the second week of CCC sales and prices there advanced 22 to 42 cent points. With sterling at 280¾ differences; Liverpool under New York were March 533 May 590 July 532.

Trade reaction to sale of 122,878 bales of CCC stocks reflected the thought that there was still a fair amount of short covering. Claytons purchase of over 62,000 bales was believed consisting primarily of middle and small bright qualities.

Japan announced that raw cotton importers must use their authorizations under the $60 million U. S. export import bank credit by the end of June or it will become void. A local service points out that it is 129 points more profitable to deliver low middling ⅞ inch cotton against the March position as compared to the spot price in Houston. Included in the 129 points is cost of certification, the risk of grade and staple and availability of cotton at that port.

"Chep" MORRISON
SERVANT OF THE PEOPLE

The Governor of our state should be a man with a warm and genuine sympathy and understanding for the problems of the needy, the unfortunate, the handicapped and the aged. The occupant of the high office of Governor should always maintain a bond with the problems of the most humble citizen.

Chep MORRISON'S Record shows that he is such a man!

Chep Morrison's remarkable record of being 5 times elected to public office by overwhelming majorities is the best proof that he has remained close to the people. Despite the tremendous demands of his position, the doors of his office have always been open to all his constituents. The guiding principle of his public life has been continually to strive for the understanding and solution of the problems of the less fortunate.

His proven qualities of warmth of heart and sincerity of purpose are the best assurance that the Morrison-Barham Team will:

1. Immediately provide and maintain a $65.00 per month old age pension for all old people who genuinely need assistance.
2. Carry out an agressive program to improve our hospitals, prisons and mental institutions.
3. Work for an effective training program for mentally retarded and other handicapped children.

Escaped Convicts Charged In Bank Robbery At Slidell

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 13 (AP) — The FBI today charged two escaped Louisiana prisoners and an Illinois ex-convict with burning through two vaults of the Bank of Slidell in November and carting off 1,000 pounds of change, worth $6,-165.

FBI agents and sheriff's deputies arrested the trio Wednesday night in a Houma tourist cabin. Three women were with them.

The three men—Willard Joseph Martin, Frank Lee Morris and Earl Branci — Also face charges of violating the white slavery act by transporting the women from Tuscaloosa, Ala., to Houma for immoral purposes.

Martin, 40, and Morris, 20, alias Frank Lyons, ran away from a road gang at the Louisiana penitentiary in Angola last April 29. The Illinois penitentiary at Joliet recently released Branci, 26, alias Joe Marconi.

Martin, Morris and Branci will be arraigned Monday before U.S. Commissioner R. H. Carter Jr. in New Orleans. They are being held under $25,000 bond each in the bank robbery.

Additional bond of $15,000 each was set for Martin and Morris on the white slavery charges and charges of trying to escape Louisiana and avoid confinement. Branci was under an extra $5,000 for white slavery charges.

M. P. Chiles, special agent in charge of the New Orleans FBI office, said the charges end "an extensive investigation on one of our most important cases."

Chiles said the trio, after burning their way into the bank, took the loot to Kansas City, Mo.

He said his agents were questioning Martin, Morris and Branci about robberies in Kansas, Texas, Alabama, Kentucky and other parts of Louisiana.

MONROE

In Monroe city court Friday Judge W. M. Harper heard the following cases; Curtis Williams of Monroe was charged with simple battery and was fined $50 or 50 days in default.

Ida Brown of West Monroe was charged with public drunkenness and was fined $25 or 25 days in default.

Procter Green of Monroe was charged with speeding and he was fined $5 or 5 days in default.

WEST MONROE

Judge Jasper Jones in West Monroe city court Friday had the following cases to hear; Ernest Smith of 1215 Grammer street, Monroe was fined $35.50 for speeding.

S. B. Sawyer of 300 South Second street, West Monroe was charged with public drunkenness and he was fined $15.

James Russell was charged with public drunkenness and with disturbing the peace by fighting. He was fined $15 on the drunkenness charge and $25 on the fighting charge.

Jackson Solons To Study Bill To Prevent Mixing Races On Trains, Busses

JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 13 (AP) — The Mississippi Legislature will consider a bill which would fine railroads and bus companies $1,000 for each day they fail or refuse to furnish segregated waiting rooms for intrastate passengers.

The bill is one of a barrage of segregation bills introduced during the last three days.

Others would provide fines and jail sentences for any passenger violating the segregation laws; make it a criminal offense to refuse to leave a public place after being requested; and allow an owner or manager of a public place or business to refuse service to anyone for any reason.

Several bills recommended by the Legal Education Advisory Committee also were introduced. The LEAC was created to find ways of dodging the U.S. Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in public schools.

Three of the segregation bills will apply to railroads and bus stations:

1. Require all railroads and bus companies to maintain separate accomodations for passengers traveling only within Mississippi. They could be fined $1,000 per day for each day they refuse or fail to obey the law.

2. Require railroads and bus companies to have segregated waiting rooms for intrastate passengers. It also provides that any person not using the rooms marked for his race could be fined $1,000 and sent to jail for one year. The bill apparently does not differentiate between intrastate passengers and those crossing state lines.

3. Require all intrastate passengers to use rooms marked for their race. A violation could bring a $1,000 fine and 60 days in jail.

The same bill contains another section which apparently does not differentiate between interstate and intrastate passengers. Under this section, anyone entering the wrong room could be fined $1,000 and sent to jail for one year.

Another bill introduced virtually would prevent out-of-state lawyers from entering an anti-segregation suit in Mississippi:

It would set up the Board of Bar Admissions as a screening agency. The board could allow or refuse a lawyer the right to enter a Mississippi law suit for several reasons.

Other LEAC bills introduced would:

1. Abolish the compulsory school attendance laws.

2. Abolish common law marriages.

Still to come is a bill setting up an agency to declare organization subversive. The prime target would be the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Monticello Bank Robber Identified As 'Most Wanted'

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 13 (AP) —The bandit who robbed a Monticello, Ark., bank in a daring noon-hour holdup last week was identified by the FBI today as Charles Edward Ranels, one of the FBI's 10 most wanted fugitives.

The FBI said a federal complaint would be filed with the U.S. commissioner at Pine Bluff against Ranels, a 33-year-old gunman whose record includes bank robbery, car theft, kidnaping and armed robbery.

Ranels, the FBI said, is wanted in connection with bank robberies at Louisville, Ky., on Oct. 27, 1954, and at Lone Oak, Ky., on May 27, 1955.

He was added to the FBI's list of the 10 most wanted criminals on Sept. 2 1955. Ranels is a native of Conroe, Tex.

Ranels is liberally sprinkled with tattoos, the FBI said. His tattoos include H-A-R-D- L-U-C-K on the backs of his fingers, and many tattoos on his arm.

He has small scars above his left eyebrow, in the center of his upper lip, and on the bridge of his nose, the FBI said.

The robber entered Commercial Loan & Trust Co., at Monticello during the noon hour Jan. 9. Three women employes and one customer were in the bank.

Wearing gloves and carrying a cloth bag, the bandit held the people at gunpoint and calmly scooped money from cash drawyers.

The loss was set at $10,997. It first was set at $11,117.

$3,000,000 FIRE HITS HOUSTON WATER FRONT—Damage estimated at three million dollars was done by this fire on the ship channel at Houston, Tex., Tuesday. A 1,-080-foot pier and a 12,500-ton drydock were burned and a derrick barge was damaged. This picture was made while fire boats and firemen ashore were battling the flames. For awhile it appeared that the huge crane in the background would fall, but it remained standing. No one was injured. The cause of the fire was not determined immediately. (AP Wirephoto)

BETTER ROADS
for Louisiana taxpayers

An adequate, modern highway system doesn't just happen. It is the result of sound, careful planning, proper engineering design and the best possible type of pavement for each road in the system.

In this state, as in others, highway planning is a continuing job. Providing new and better roads to meet the personal, commercial and defense interests of all sections of the state is the task of the legislature, highway officials and engineers—and you.

Every motorist and commercial highway user has a vital stake in roads because his license fees, gas and other taxes pay for them. Tax dollars go farther when invested in concrete pavements. Concrete has moderate first cost, low maintenance cost and long life. The result: low annual cost. Concrete is safest, too. Its gritty texture is highly skid-resistant; its light color provides better visibility at night.

Here's how you can help this state get a highway system second to none: 1. Support the state highway program. 2. Tell public officials you want all main roads paved with safe, low-annual-cost concrete.

1. Require all railroads and bus companies to maintain separate accomodations for passengers traveling only within Mississippi. They could be fined $1,000 per day for each day they refuse or fail to obey the law.

2. Require railroads and bus companies to have segregated waiting rooms for intrastate passengers. It also provides that any person not using the rooms marked for his race could be fined $1,000 and sent to jail for one year. The bill apparently does not differentiate between intrastate passengers and those crossing state lines.

3. Require all intrastate passengers to use rooms marked for their race. A violation could bring a $1,000 fine and 60 days in jail.

The same bill contains another section which apparently does not differentiate between interstate and intrastate passengers. Under this section, anyone entering the wrong room could be fined $1,000 and sent to jail for one year.

Another bill introduced virtually would prevent out-of-state lawyers from entering an anti-segregation suit in Mississippi:

It would set up the Board of Bar Admissions as a screening agency. The board could allow or refuse a lawyer the right to enter a Mississippi law suit for several reasons.

Other LEAC bills introduced would:

1. Abolish the compulsory school attendance laws.

2. Abolish common law marriages.

Still to come is a bill setting up an agency to declare organization subversive. The prime target would be the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Monticello Bank Robber Identified As 'Most Wanted'

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 13 (AP) —The bandit who robbed a Monticello, Ark., bank in a daring noon-hour holdup last week was identified by the FBI today as Charles Edward Ranels, one of the FBI's 10 most wanted fugitives.

The FBI said a federal complaint would be filed with the U.S. commissioner at Pine Bluff against Ranels, a 33-year-old gunman whose record includes bank robbery, car theft, kidnaping and armed robbery.

Ranels, the FBI said, is wanted in connection with bank robberies at Louisville, Ky., on Oct. 27, 1954, and at Lone Oak, Ky., on May 27, 1955.

He was added to the FBI's list of the 10 most wanted criminals on Sept. 2 1955. Ranels is a native of Conroe, Tex.

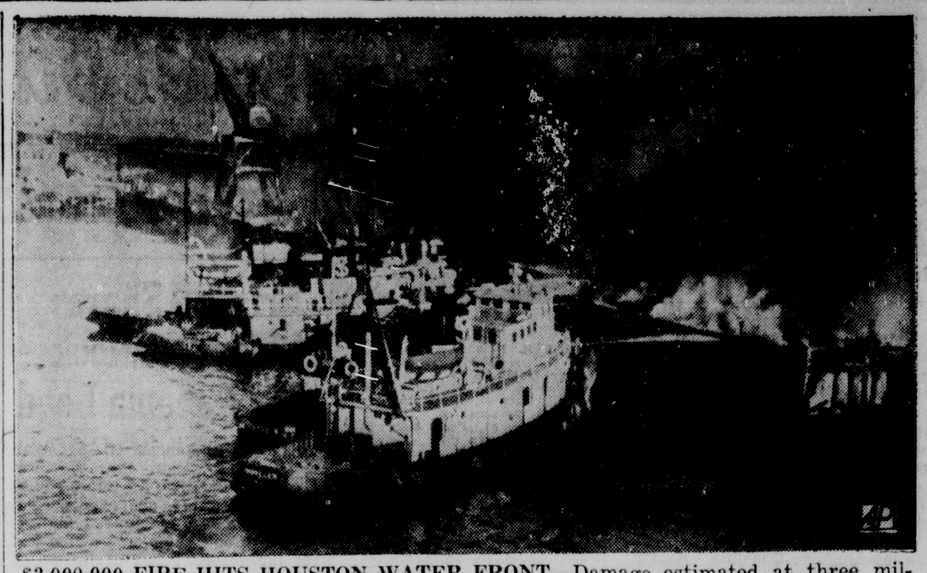

Ranels is liberally sprinkled with tattoos, the FBI said. His tattoos include H-A-R-D- L-U-C-K on the backs of his fingers, and many tattoos on his arm.

He has small scars above his left eyebrow, in the center of his upper lip, and on the bridge of his nose, the FBI said.

The robber entered Commercial Loan & Trust Co., at Monticello during the noon hour Jan. 9. Three women employes and one customer were in the bank.

Wearing gloves and carrying a cloth bag, the bandit held the people at gunpoint and calmly scooped money from cash drawyers.

The loss was set at $10,997. It first was set at $11,117.

$3,000,000 FIRE HITS HOUSTON WATER FRONT—Damage estimated at three million dollars was done by this fire on the ship channel at Houston, Tex., Tuesday. A 1,080-foot pier and a 12,500-ton drydock were burned and a derrick barge was damaged. This picture was made while fire boats and firemen ashore were battling the flames. For awhile it appeared that the huge crane in the background would fall, but it remained standing. No one was injured. The cause of the fire was not determined immediately. (AP Wirephoto)

BETTER ROADS
for Louisiana taxpayers

An adequate, modern highway system doesn't just happen. It is the result of sound, careful planning, proper engineering design and the best possible type of pavement for each road in the system.

In this state, as in others, highway planning is a continuing job. Providing new and better roads to meet the personal, commercial and defense interests of all sections of the state is the task of the legislature, highway officials and engineers—and you.

Every motorist and commercial highway user has a vital stake in roads because his license fees, gas and other taxes pay for them. Tax dollars go farther when invested in concrete pavements. Concrete has moderate first cost, low maintenance cost and long life. The result: low annual cost. Concrete is safest, too. Its gritty texture is highly skid-resistant; its light color provides better visibility at night.

Here's how you can help this state get a highway system second to none: 1. Support the state highway program. 2. Tell public officials you want all main roads paved with safe, low-annual-cost concrete.

Ouachita Basketball Tournament Ending Today

Semi-Finals Begin At 11:15, Finals On Tap At 7:45, 9 P.M.

Four top-notch semi - final tilts are on tap today at the Ouachita gymnasium in the boys and girls brackets of the Ouachita basketball tournament, when the West Monroe girls take on the Mangham sextette at 10 a.m.; Ouachita's girls meet Baskin at 11:15; the LaSalle boys take on the Ouachita five at 12:30 p.m. and Calhoun's quint plays Ogden at 1:45.

The girls' consolation, between the losers of the Ouachita - Baskin game and the West Monroe-Mangham tilt is slated for 5:15; and the boys' consolation is set for 6:30.

The girls' final is at 7:45 o'clock; and the boys immediately following.

In games yesterday in the girls' bracket, Betty McGough led the Bastrop six in their win over St. Matthew's with 14 points; Ouachita's Peggy Long hit 16 in their Start victory; John Ann Painich of West Monroe scored 28 of her team's markers over Fort Necessity; Kathleen Arrant of Mangham hooped 30 against Neville in their first round win; and Joan Gray, Baskin, scored 28 against the Bastrop losers in the final game of the first day's action at Northeast.

In boys' tussles at the Ouachita gymnasium, Ouachita's Johnny Maroney scored 15 points against Holly Ridge, which was led by Crane and Caroll who had six each of the losers' 19. Calhoun had to come from behind to beat Bastrop. They were paced by Richard Mitchell and H. Calhoun with 14 points apiece; and Bob Loftin had 29 for the Rams. Ken Winberry had 15 to lead LaSalle over Neville, and Johnny Blake was high for the Tigers, who trailed all the way by a nine-point average, with eight.

In the evening's nightcap, Fain had 21 points to lead the Ogden victors, and "Zeke" Crawford had 13 for the Rebels. The game, nip and tuck all the way, was deadlocked at 18-all at halftime, and wasn't decided until the final 30 seconds.

Yesterday's summary:

Chisox, Senators Reported Nearing Swap Of Players

CHICAGO, Jan. 13 (AP) —The Chicago White Sox and Washington Senators are close to a player deal which might involve Chicago outfielder for a Washington pitcher.

Chuck Comiskey, vice president of the White Sox, said today, following a telephone conversation with president Cal Griffith of the Senators, that there is a "good chance of a deal."

"The Senators want a left-handed-hitting outfielder and he could use some pitching strength," said Comiskey. "The outfielder we could give up was more or less a regular last year."

Rivera had a .264 average last season, 10 home runs and 52 runs batted in. Ramos had a 5-11 record and Pascual 2-10.

Purdue's Bob Khoenle led the Big Ten in pass receiving last season with 17 catches for 154 yards.

Souchak Leading Crosby

By CHRIS EDMONDS

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif., Jan. 13 (AP)—Big Mike Souchak came booming out of the gathering dusk at Monterey Peninsula Country Club today with a string of six birdies and an eagle to take the first-day lead in the National Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament with an eight-under-par 64.

Souchak's sizzling round put him one stroke ahead of unknown Mike Fetchik, of Yonkers, N.Y., who posted a 65 over the same course earlier.

The two top pros in the race for a share of the $15,000 prize money, shared honors—and most of the gallery—with the team of Ben Hogan and Bing Crosby.

Trailing Souchak and Fetchik by a single was Dr. Cary Middlecoff, last year's winner, who played the tougher Cypress Point course in 66, a 6-under-par effort.

Hogan, also touring the windswept fairways of the Pacific ocean fringe at Cypress Point, carded a 67. He wound up in a tie for the fourth notch with Ronnie Nicol of Los Angeles.

The Hogan - Crosby team lived it up expansively to the delight of the huge gallery. Hogan, who insisted he entered the tournament strictly for fun and is playing with a borrowed putter, had five birdies on his card.

Promising Squaw Valley Not 'Another Melbourne'

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—"There won't be another Melbourne in our case," a California delegation emphasized today in announcing that Squaw Valley is prepared to make a complete success of the 1960 winter Olympic games.

Headed by Prentis C. Hall of San Francisco, president of the organizing committee, the group gave a preview of its preparations at the U. S. Olympic office.

These are the same plans which will be presented to the International Olympic Committee at Cortina, Italy, Jan. 23.

"We were awarded the games in June," Hall said. "We are certain that we can convince the I.O.C. later this month that we can do the job.

"I can't foresee any possibility of losing the games now. Governor Goodwin Knight is solidly behind us. So are the people of California."

The organizers were prodded recently by Avery Brundage, president of the I.O.C., who said he didn't want another "Melbourne case" on his hands and added: "I want to be shown without much delay how and when this work will be executed and who will furnish the millions of dollars."

Melbourne, Australia, site of this years summer Olympic games, nearly lost the event several times because of bickerings and slowness in getting started.

Hall said $1,000,000 already has been apropriated by the California legislature and the governor will ask for another $4,000,000 this spring. The estimated cost of turning the Sierra region into an Olympic site is $4,982,000.

Hall and John Garland of Los Angeles, vice-president of the California Olympic commission, described progress at a New York press conference attended by several Olympic figures.

The games will be concentrated in a 60-acre area in the heart of the valley, which lies 200 miles east of San Francisco and 40 miles from Reno.

"This will be the first front door Olympics ever held," one commission member said. "Athletes will be able to step out their front doors and watch themselves compete.

Hall said a large delegation would go to Cortina to present the progress report and added: "We hope governor Knight himself will make the trip just to show them our heart is in it. He will, if he can possibly do it.

All venues at Squaw Valley have met I.O.C. specifications, Hall said. Plans are to restrict motor traffic to the site and use buses.

"We figure we can haul 30,000 people into the valley in three hours and take them out in the same length of time. By car it would take ten hours," Hall said. "Busses will move at the rate of 334 an hour.

The only problem is housing for visitors. Outside spectators will have to stay in Reno overnight. Private homes, of which there are few in the vicinity, will take care of others.

Missions Cutting Prices To Games As Lure For Fans

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 13—UP—The San Antonio Missions of the Texas League announced Friday they planned to operate in 1956 on the theory that light baseball attendance has been attributable to the fact that people can't afford it.

So, Mission President Stan McIlvaine said that general admission tickets for the Missions' home games would be dropped from $1.20 to $1 and that four nights a week — Monday through Thursday — children 16 years old and under would be admitted free with a parent or parents.

The plan will not abolish the club's regular Monday Family Night when ladies tickets are half price and children are free.

Most other clubs in the league already had lowered general admission prices to $1.

"I firmly believe," McIlvaine said, "that the No. 1 answer to the question, 'Why aren't more people attending the ball games' is simply that they can't afford it."

Noting that an entire family could now attend a game for $2, or $1.50 if they sat in the bleachers, McIlvaine said the plan puts his ball games "within the financial reach of many additional thousands."

Arkansas Rolls Over Rice Owls

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Jan. 13 — (AP) — Arkansas' Razorbacks quelled Rice's potent attack with a tight zone defense to smother the Owls 84-70 tonight and remain undefeated in Southwest Conference competition with three straight victories.

The decision continued an amazing comeback for Arkansas, which opened the season with seven consecutive defeats, but now has won four of its last five outings.

Pete Butler's accuracy from the four line sparked Arkansas' offense tonight. Butler netted 15 of 16 free throws and added three field goals for 21 points.

Tigers, Crimsons, Rebels Share Basketball Laurels

BIRMINGHAM, Jan. 13 (AP) — Alabama's Jerry Harper and George Linn and Mississippi's Joe Gibbons have joined Louisiana State's Roger Sigler as top Southeastern Conference basketball performers.

Statistics released today by SEC commissioner Bernie Moore showed Harper is the top rebounder; Linn, most accurate on the free throw line; and Gibbons, deadliest with field goal attempts.

Sigler leads the 12-team conference in scoring with 208 points in 12 games for an average of 24.8 points per contest.

The 6-8 Harper appears likely to repeat his rebound championship of last year. He has an average of 21 rebounds per game this season, compared to 19 in 1954-55.

Second to him through games of Jan. 7 is sophomore Jim Zinn, Florida. Zinn has an 18.6 average.

Linn, like Harper a senior, had dropped in 58 of 70 tosses from the free throw line for an average of 82.9 per cent. Second to him is Bobby Kimmel of Georgia Tech, 66 of 82 for 80.5 per cent.

Gibbons, a lefthanded senior, is close to netting about half his field shots. He has put in 90 of 184 attempts for two points.

Second to the Reb ace in this department is Kay Slayden, Auburn's six-four senior forward. Slayden is 45 for 95, a 47.3 per cent mark.

Gibbons ranks third in scoring behind Sigler and Linn. Linn has tallied 250 points in 11 games, Gibbons 227 in 10.

The top 10 men in rebounding, free throw and field goal shooting according to figures released by Moore:

N.B.A. May Lend Helfand Support In War On Guild

CHICAGO, Jan. 13—UP—The National Boxing Association executive committee meets Saturday with discussion of the International Boxing Guild, now banned in New York, as the first item on its agenda.

A vote by the committee to support the New York action virtually would put the manager's association out of business since all boxing states except New York are members of the NBA.

Though Lou Radzienda, president of the NBA, believed that the New York action, supported by Jim Norris of the International Boxing Club, would "straighten out" the matter, Commissioner James Crowley of Pennsylvania was expected to request support by the NBA group.

Radzienda said the matter of the guild would be discussed first when the committee session begins, with later discussion on the report to be made by the NBA investigation committee chairman, Tony Maceroni.

"I don't know what Maceroni will report," Radzienda said, "but I'll have my own survey report to present."

Radzienda said his survey, to all member states, included the question whether the members had any trouble with "undesirables" in boxing.

"Only two states reported they did," he said, "and they were ones in which there is only one or two fights a year. The states where most boxing is held didn't report any trouble."

Radzienda expected that the session would last throughout the day, although he anticipated that the discussion of the manager's guild would be brief.

Crowville Girls Hand Winnsboro 38 To 37 Defeat

CROWVILLE, La., Jan. 13 — (Special) —The Crowville High School girls' basketball team dented the crown of Winnsboro's state Class A champion sextet here tonight by handing the Winnsboro High girls their first defeat of the season, 38-37.

The Winnsboro girls enjoyed a 16-9 lead at the half, but saw Crowville pull into a 19-19 tie at the half. Winnsboro had fashioned a 30-28 lead going into the final period when the Crowville girls caught fire to pull ahead.

Carolyn Ezell led the Crowville sextet with 18 points, and Loretta Bennett set the pace for Winnsboro with 12.

The boys' game took the "back seat" to the girls but came up with a nip-and-tuck scramble that Winnsboro won, 67-50, as Chuck Gordy headed the Wildcat offensive with 19 points. "Buddy" Kennedy and Huey Martin shared scoring honors for Crowville with 14 each.

Lightweight boxing champion Wallace (Bud) Smith was born in Cincinnati but now resides in East Orange, N. J.

Grid Rules Undergo Few Changes For '56 Season

By HAL WOOD

LONG BEACH, Calif., Jan. 13—UP—The NCAA Football Rules committee completed its 1956 sessiin Friday and made changes so minor that the average fans won't notice any difference from the 1955 rules.

"Attendance was up and it is apparent that the fans like our brand of football so we decided to let most rules stand as they were," said Fritz Crisler, director of athletics at University of Michigan and the rules committee chairman.

The changes that may be noticeable to the public next fall are these:

1. "Hash" marks to indicate each yard on the field must be placed at the one-third stripe 17 yards two feet and four inches from the sidelines. The same marks may be placed on the sidelines — but that is not mandatory.

2. Time will be declared "in" the instant the ball is touched by the toe of a kick-off man. Previously time wasn't started until the receiving player touched the ball. The new rule would stop stalling in the closing seconds of a game when the kicking team might waste a few seconds by kicking out of bounds. ("It assures the receiving team to get at least one play" said Crisler).

3. The rubber-covered ball was ruled legal and may be used for the full game by mutual agreement or by election of either team on offense. (This rule was mostly in response to high school demands).

4. Numbering of players by position (50s for centers, 60s for guards etc) was recommended but was not made mandatory.

5. Use of the modern Gothic type of block for numbering was approved in addition to the Arabic block used in the past.

6. The committee reverted to an old rule in making a tackle eligible to receive a pass if he was the outside man on the accepted line of scrimmage.

7. When time is called for replacing torn jerseys this year the time-out will be charged against the team.

8. It was ruled illegal to help a quarterback on a sneak in any manner.

Jennings Stays In Triple-A For Another 2 Years

JENNINGS, La., Jan. 13 (AP) — Principal J. T. Simmons today said Jennings High School will continue participating in Louisiana triple-A athletics for at least another two years.

Jennings had planned to drop to double-A this year, Simmons said, but a recent fund drive insured the school will have enough money to take part in the highest classification of Louisiana prep school athletics.

Simmons said Jennings residents pledged donations of $3,325 for each of the next two years. In addition, over $500 worth of season tickets have been sold for the 1956 football games.

Bobsled Team 1st Of U. S. Athletes At Olympic Scene

CORTINA, Italy, Jan. 13 (AP)—Five members of the United States bobsled team, the first American Olympic athletes to reach Cortina, tested the Olympic run today and pronounced it "good, but bumpy."

They arrived here late last night from Switzerland.

Tyler, who drove a two-man sled down the 1,700 meter (200 yards more than a mile) 16 curve track, said "it looks like a good one. But it was bumpy today. We have a lot to learn about it."

Tyler has driven here before in world championship competition, but had not seen the Cortina track since it was renovated for the Olympics.

"There wasn't too much snow on it today. It was almost all ice, so we did a lot of skidding and bumping around, but it should be fine after we get used to it."

Washbond walked down the length of the run, studying its steeply banked curves closely. He termed it "interesting."

Team members declined to make any specific predictions about the outcome of the Olympic bob races, which will be preceded by eliminations starting next week.

"It might be the Swiss and the Italians," said Seymour.

How about the Americans?

"Let's wait and see about that," replied Tyler.

Lightburn Given Nod Over Lopes In Split Verdict

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13 (AP)—Ludwig Lightburn, British Honduran lightweight, outpointed Joey Lopes of Sacramento, in a 10-round nationally televised fight at Winterland here tonight in which both fighters sustained cuts over their eyes.

Lightburn weighed 139½ to 137½ for Lopes.

Lightburn depended on left hooks early in the fight but came back with solid rights during heavy going in late rounds.

Lightburn's damaging blows had Lopes bleeding from the mouth in the fifth round. There were no knockdowns, although Lightburn slipped to his right knee in the second and was pushed to his knee in the eighth round as referee Jack Silver stopped a flurry of punches after the bell.

Judges Toby Irwin and Eddie James called the fight for Lightburn. Referee Silver scored it for Lopes. Silver scored it 55½ to 54½ for Lopes. James scored it 56-54 for Lightburn and Irwin 58-52.

Tebbetts Promotes Series Cut For All Big Leaguers

NASHUA, N. H., Jan. 13 (AP)—Cincinnati Redlegs manager Birdie Tebbetts wants to see the first seven clubs in the American and National leagues share in the World Series pot "to raise the competitive spirit" in the waning days of the baseball season.

Tebbetts suggested that a percentage of radio-TV money be dumped into the pot to be shared by the players.

Presently only the first four clubs in each league share in the gate receipts of the first four games and radio-TV income goes to the player's pension fund.

Tebbetts, speaking at a meeting of the Manchester Association of Life Underwriters, explained:

"We (players) voted that radio and TV money should go into the pension fund but that fund is growing so great that it seems reasonable now to earmark some of it for the players' share of the World Series.

"It would provide a greater incentive to players through the league.

"Too many men play on clubs that never finish in the first division. I've played on first division clubs all my life and know how handy a thousand dollars or so comes in at the end of the season.

"I feel second division players are as much entitled to a share of World Series money as first division players—even it it's only $250 apiece."

Tebbetts, despite loss of some kay personnel, piloted the Redlegs to fifth place in the National League last year, the club finishing only two games out of fourth place and five out of third.

Formerly a catcher with the Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers, Tebbetts is an insurance man in the off-season.

Chisox, Senators Reported Nearing Swap Of Players

Chuck Comiskey, vice president of the White Sox, said today, following a telephone conversation with president Cal Griffith of the Senators, that there is a "good chance of a deal."

"The Senators want a left-handed-hitting outfielder and he could use some pitching strength," said Comiskey. "The outfielder we could give up was more or less a regular last year."

Rivera had a .264 average last season, 10 home runs and 52 runs batted in. Ramos had a 5-11 record and Pascual 2-10.

Purdue's Bob Khoenle led the Big Ten in pass receiving last season with 17 catches for 154 yards.

PANAMA, Jan. 13 (AP)—Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa., the first round leader with a 5-under-par 67 skidded to a 73, one over perfect figures, today and landed in a 4-way tie for the top spot at the end of the second round of the $7,500 Panama Open Golf Tournament.

Wall's round gave him a 36-hole total of 140—the same score posted by Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., George Bayer of Cincinnati and Ed Furgol of St. Louis. All were right at Wall's heels when the first round ended Thursday.

Palmer and Bayer toured the 6,600-yard Panama Golf Club course in par 72 today, while Furgol, 1954 U. S. open champion, had a 71 as high winds played havoc with the scores.

A stroke behind the four leaders came defending champion Antonio Cerda, an Argentine playing out of Columbia, and Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y. Cerda shot a 71 today to go with his first round of 70 while Barron turned in a 69, the best card of the day. The New Yorker took a 72 yesterday.

Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Roberto De Vicenzo, another Argentine playing out of Mexico, remained in the running as they ended the second round with 36-hole scores of 143. Snead went around in 72 today and De Vicenzo in 71.

The leaders:

Arnold Palmer, Latrobe, Pa., 68-72—140
George Bayer, Cincinati, 68-72—140
Ed Furgol, St. Louis, 69-71—140

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif., Jan. 13 (AP)—Big Mike Souchak came booming out of the gathering dusk at Monterey Peninsula Country Club today with a string of six birdies and an eagle to take the first-day lead in the National Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament with an eight-under-par 64.

Souchak's sizzling round put him one stroke ahead of unknown Mike Fetchik, of Yonkers, N.Y., who posted a 65 over the same course earlier.

The two top pros in the race for a share of the $15,000 prize money, shared honors—and most of the gallery—with the team of Ben Hogan and Bing Crosby.

Hogan and Crosby, playing before a gallery estimated at 3,500, carded a 60 for the best ball lead.

Trailing Souchak and Fetchik by a single was Dr. Cary Middlecoff, last year's winner, who played the tougher Cypress Point course in 66, a 6-under-par effort.

Hogan, also touring the wind-swept fairways of the Pacific ocean fringe at Cypress Point, carded a 67. He wound up in a tie for the fourth notch with Ronnie Nicol of Los Angeles.

The Hogan - Crosby team lived it up expansively to the delight of the huge gallery. Hogan, who insisted he entered the tournament strictly for fun and is playing with a borrowed putter, had five birdies on his card.

Monroe First Baptist	0	4	.000

Highland Park climbed a notch in the Junior "B" Basketball League last night by dropping St. Matthew's Whites, 30-16, as Napper and McNabb led the way with 10 points apiece. Varino of the Maroons was the game's high scorer with 14. In the only other "B" game played, the St. Matthew's Maroons, paced by Tonore's 16 points, defeated the L.T.I. Eagles, 38-30. Causey led the Eagles with nine points.

Louisiana Training Institute Chapel took a firmer grip on second place in the Church "A" League last night by cutting down third place Linville, 43-22, as Lawrence led the way with 18 points. Linville was placed by Wheeler's 11 points.

McClain went on a 33-point spree in the other Church "A" scrap to steer West Monroe Methodist to a 45-39 decision over Monroe's First Baptist. Johnson hooped 23 points for the Baptist.

Promising Squaw Valley Not 'Another Melbourne'

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—"There won't be another Melbourne in our case," a California delegation emphasized today in announcing that Squaw Valley is prepared to make a complete success of the 1960 winter Olympic games.

Headed by Prentis C. Hall of San Francisco, president of the organizing committee, the group gave a preview of its preparations at the U. S. Olympic office.

These are the same plans which will be presented to the International Olympic Committee at Cortina, Italy, Jan. 23.

"We were awarded the games in June," Hall said. "We are certain that we can convince the I.O.C. later this month that we can do the job.

"I can't foresee any possibility of losing the games now. Governor Goodwin Knight is solidly behind us. So are the people of California."

The organizers were prodded recently by Avery Brundage, president of the I.O.C., who said he didn't want another "Melbourne case" on his hands and added: "I want to be shown without much delay how and when this work will be executed and who will furnish the millions of dollars.'

Melbourne, Australia, site of this years summer Olympic games, nearly lost the event several times because of bickerings and slowness in getting started.

Hall said $1,000,000 already has been apropriated by the California legislature and the governor will ask for another $4,000,000 this spring. The estimated cost of turning the Sierra region into an Olympic site is $4,982,000.

Hall and John Garland of Los Angeles, vice-president of the California Olympic commission, described progress at a New York press conference attended by several Olympic figures.

The games will be concentrated in a 60-acre area in the heart of the valley, which lies 200 miles east of San Francisco and 40 miles from Reno.

"This will be the first front door Olympics ever held," one commission member said. "Athletes will be able to step out their front doors and watch themselves compete.

Hall said a large delegation would go to Cortina to present the progress report and added: "We hope governor Knight himself will make the trip just to show them our heart is in it. He will, if he can possibly do it.

All venues at Squaw Valley have met I.O.C. specifications, Hall said. Plans are to restrict motor traffic to the site and use buses.

"We figure we can haul 30,000 people into the valley in three hours and take them out in the same length of time. By car it would take ten hours," Hall said. "Busses will move at the rate of 334 an hour.

The only problem is housing for visitors. Outside spectators will have to stay in Reno overnight. Private homes, of which there are few in the vicinity, will take care of others.

Missions Cutting Prices To Games As Lure For Fans

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 13—UP—The San Antonio Missions of the Texas League announced Friday they planned to operate in 1956 on the theory that light baseball attendance has been attributable to the fact that people can't afford it.

So, Mission President Stan McIlvaine said that general admission tickets for the Missions' home games would be dropped from $1.20 to $1 and that four nights a week — Monday through Thursday — children 16 years old and under would be admitted free with a parent or parents.

The plan will not abolish the club's regular Monday Family Night when ladies tickets are half price and children are free.

Most other clubs in the league already had lowered general admission prices to $1.

"I firmly believe," McIlvaine said, "that the No. 1 answer to the question, 'Why aren't more people attending the ball games' is simply that they can't afford it."

Noting that an entire family could now attend a game for $2, or $1.50 if they sat in the bleachers, McIlvaine said the plan puts his ball games "within the financial reach of many additional thousands."

Arkansas Rolls Over Rice Owls

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Jan. 13 — (AP) — Arkansas' Razorbacks quelled Rice's potent attack with a tight zone defense to smother the Owls 84-70 tonight and remain undefeated in Southwest Conference competition with three straight victories.

The decision continued an amazing comeback for Arkansas, which opened the season with seven consecutive defeats, but now has won four of its last five outings.

Pete Butler's accuracy from the four line sparked Arkansas' offense tonight. Butler netted 15 of 16 free throws and added three field goals for 21 points.

N.B.A. May Lend Helfand Support In War On Guild

CHICAGO, Jan. 13—UP—The National Boxing Association executive committee meets Saturday with discussion of the International Boxing Guild, now banned in New York, as the first item on its agenda.

A vote by the committee to support the New York action virtually would put the manager's association out of business since all boxing states except New York are members of the NBA.

Though Lou Radzienda, president of the NBA, believed that the New York action, supported by Jim Norris of the International Boxing Club, would "straighten out" the matter, Commissioner James Crowley of Pennsylvania was expected to request support by the NBA group.

Radzienda said the matter of the guild would be discussed first when the committee session begins, with later discussion on the report to be made by the NBA investigation committee chairman, Tony Maceroni.

"I don't know what Maceroni will report," Radzienda said, "but I'll have my own survey report to present."

Radzienda said his survey, to all member states, included the question whether the members had any trouble with "undesirables" in boxing.

"Only two states reported they did," he said, "and they were ones in which there is only one or two fights a year. The states where most boxing is held didn't report any trouble."

Radzienda expected that the session would last throughout the day, although he anticipated that the discussion of the manager's guild would be brief.

Crowville Girls Hand Winnsboro 38 To 37 Defeat

CROWVILLE, La., Jan. 13 — (Special) —The Crowville High School girls' basketball team dented the crown of Winnsboro's state Class A champion sextet here tonight by handing the Winnsboro High girls their first defeat of the season, 38-37.

The Winnsboro girls enjoyed a 16-9 lead at the half, but saw Crowville pull into a 19-19 tie at the half. Winnsboro had fashioned a 30-28 lead going into the final period when the Crowville girls caught fire to pull ahead.

Carolyn Ezell led the Crowville sextet with 18 points, and Loretta Bennett set the pace for Winnsboro with 12.

The boys' game took the "back seat" to the girls but came up with a nip-and-tuck scramble that Winnsboro won, 67-50, as Chuck Gordy headed the Wildcat offensive with 19 points. "Buddy" Kennedy and Huey Martin shared scoring honors for Crowville with 14 each.

Lightweight boxing champion Wallace (Bud) Smith was born in Cincinnati but now resides in East Orange, N. J.

Grid Rules Undergo Few Changes For '56 Season

By HAL WOOD

LONG BEACH, Calif., Jan. 13—UP—The NCAA Football Rules committee completed its 1956 sessiin Friday and made changes so minor that the average fans won't notice any difference from the 1955 rules.

"Attendance was up and it is apparent that the fans like our brand of football so we decided to let most rules stand as they were," said Fritz Crisler, director of athletics at University of Michigan and the rules committee chairman.

The changes that may be noticeable to the public next fall are these:

1. "Hash" marks to indicate each yard on the field must be placed at the one-third stripe 17 yards two feet and four inches from the sidelines. The same marks may be placed on the sidelines — but that is not mandatory.

2. Time will be declared "in" the instant the ball is touched by the toe of a kick-off man. Previously time wasn't started until the receiving player touched the ball. The new rule would stop stalling in the closing seconds of a game when the kicking team might waste a few seconds by kicking out of bounds. ("It assures the receiving team to get at least one play" said Crisler).

3. The rubber-covered ball was ruled legal and may be used for the full game by mutual agreement or by election of either team on offense. (This rule was mostly in response to high school demands).

4. Numbering of players by position (50s for centers, 60s for guards etc) was recommended but was not made mandatory.

5. Use of the modern Gothic type of block for numbering was approved in addition to the Arabic block used in the past.

6. The committee reverted to an old rule in making a tackle eligible to receive a pass if he was the outside man on the accepted line of scrimmage.

7. When time is called for replacing torn jerseys this year the time-out will be charged against the team.

8. It was ruled illegal to help a quarterback on a sneak in any manner.

Jennings Stays In Triple-A For Another 2 Years

JENNINGS, La., Jan. 13 (AP) — Principal J. T. Simmons today said Jennings High School will continue participating in Louisiana triple-A athletics for at least another two years.

Jennings had planned to drop to double-A this year, Simmons said, but a recent fund drive insured the school will have enough money to take part in the highest classification of Louisiana prep school athletics.

Simmons said Jennings residents pledged donations of $3,325 for each of the next two years. In addition, over $500 worth of season tickets have been sold for the 1956 football games.

Bobsled Team 1st Of U. S. Athletes At Olympic Scene

CORTINA, Italy, Jan. 13 (AP)—Five members of the United States bobsled team, the first American Olympic athletes to reach Cortina, tested the Olympic run today and pronounced it "good, but bumpy."

They arrived here late last night from Switzerland.

Tyler, who drove a two-man sled down the 1,700 meter (200 yards more than a mile) 16 curve track, said "it looks like a good one. But it was bumpy today. We have a lot to learn about it."

Tyler has driven here before in world championship competition, but had not seen the Cortina track since it was renovated for the Olympics.

"There wasn't too much snow on it today. It was almost all ice, so we did a lot of skidding and bumping around, but it should be fine after we get used to it."

Washbond walked down the length of the run, studying its steeply banked curves closely. He termed it "interesting."

Team members declined to make any specific predictions about the outcome of the Olympic bob races, which will be preceded by eliminations starting next week.

"It might be the Swiss and the Italians," said Seymour.

How about the Americans?

"Let's wait and see about that," replied Tyler.

Lightburn Given Nod Over Lopes In Split Verdict

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13 (AP)—Ludwig Lightburn, British Honduran lightweight, outpointed Joey Lopes of Sacramento, in a 10-round nationally televised fight at Winterland here tonight in which both fighters sustained cuts over their eyes.

Lightburn weighed 139½ to 137¼ for Lopes.

Lightburn depended on left hooks early in the fight but came back with solid rights during heavy going in late rounds.

Lightburn's damaging blows had Lopes bleeding from the mouth in the fifth round. There were no knockdowns, although Lightburn slipped to his right knee in the second and was pushed to his knee in the eighth round as referee Jack Silver stopped a flurry of punches after the bell.

Judges Toby Irwin and Eddie James called the fight for Lightburn. Referee Silver scored it for Lopes. Silver scored it 55½ to 54½ for Lopes. James scored it 56-54 for Lightburn and Irwin 58-52.

Tebbetts Promotes Series Cut For All Big Leaguers

NASHUA, N. H., Jan. 13 (AP)—Cincinnati Redlegs manager Birdie Tebbetts wants to see the first seven clubs in the American and National leagues share in the World Series pot "to raise the competitive spirit" in the waning days of the baseball season.

Tebbetts suggested that a percentage of radio-TV money be dumped into the pot to be shared by the players.

Presently only the first four clubs in each league share in the gate receipts of the first four games and radio-TV income goes to the player's pension fund.

Tebbetts, speaking at a meeting of the Manchester Association of Life Underwriters, explained:

"We (players) voted that radio and TV money should go into the pension fund but that fund is growing so great that it seems reasonable now to earmark some of it for the players' share of the World Series.

"It would provide a greater incentive to players through the league.

"Too many men play on clubs that never finish in the first division. I've played on first division clubs all my life and know how handy a thousand dollars or so comes in at the end of the season.

"I feel second division players are as much entitled to a share of World Series money as first division players—even it it's only $250 apiece."

Tebbetts, despite loss of some kay personnel, piloted the Redlegs to fifth place in the National League last year, the club finishing only two games out of fourth place and five out of third.

Formerly a catcher with the Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers, Tebbetts is an insurance man in the off-season.

Tigers, Crimsons, Rebels Share Basketball Laurels

BIRMINGHAM, Jan. 13 (AP) — Alabama's Jerry Harper and George Linn and Mississippi's Joe Gibbons have joined Louisiana State's Roger Sigler as top Southeastern Conference basketball performers.

Statistics released today by SEC commissioner Bernie Moore showed Harper is the top rebounder; Linn, most accurate on the free throw line; and Gibbons, deadliest with field goal attempts.

Sigler leads the 12-team conference in scoring with 298 points in 12 games for an average of 24.8 points per contest.

The 6-8 Harper appears likely to repeat his rebound championship of last year. He has an average of 21 rebounds per game this season, compared to 19 in 1954-55.

Second to him through games of Jan. 7 is sophomore Jim Zinn, Florida. Zinn has an 18.6 average.

Linn, like Harper a senior, had dropped in 58 of 70 tosses from the free throw line for an average of 82.9 per cent. Second to him is Bobby Kimmel of Georgia Tech, 66 of 82 for 80.5 per cent.

Gibbons, a lefthanded senior, is close to netting about half his field shots. He has put in 90 of 184 attempts for two points.

Second to the Reb ace in this department is Kay Slayden, Auburn's six-four senior forward. Slayden is 45 for 95, a 47.3 per cent mark.

Gibbons ranks third in scoring behind Sigler and Linn. Linn has tallied 250 points in 11 games, Gibbons 227 in 10.

The top 10 men in rebounding, free throw and field goal shooting according to figures released by Moore:

McNeese's Reigel Heading Scorers

'Poke Ace First To Hit 500-Mark For This Season

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP) — Bill Reigel McNeese State of Louisiana is the first college basketball player to score 500 points this season.

NCAA service bureau statistics showed today that Reigel has tallied 507 points in 16 games for a 31.7 average.

The leader on percentage in the small-college scoring competition, however, is Dave Olmsted of Clarkson, N.Y., College, who has racked up a 32.4 average in seven games. He has 227 points.

Bob Hopkins, last week's pacesetter, dropped to third with a 31.2 mark. The Grambling, La., star has pumped in 374 points in 12 tilts.

Hopkins, who broke the college career record in his fourth game this season, pushed his 4-year total to 3,268 points by scoring 76 more in three games last week. He has racked up 309 points more than anyone else ever did in college basketball. The old mark was 2,959 by Carl Hartman of Alderson-Broaddus of West Virginia.

In the team statistics through games of Jan. 11, West Virginia Tech was better than 12 points a game ahead of Georgia Teachers in the offensive department. The West Virginians have registered 952 points in nine contests for 105.8 points a game. Georgia Teachers has 93.3.

For the fifth straight week, Pacific Lutheran led in team defense. The Lutes have permitted only 55.8 points a game to shade the 55.9 yield by McNeese State.

Individual scoring leaders (through games of Saturday, Jan. 7):

Reslate DeMarco With 'Bud' Smith In Boston Garden

BOSTON, Jan. 13 (AP) —Boston boxing promoter Sam Silverman tonight rescheduled the Wallace "Bud" Smith-Tony DeMarco nontitle fight from its Feb. 8 national television date with a blast at the International Boxing Club and what he termed "studio fights."

The bout between Smith, the lightweight champion from Cincinnati, and DeMarco, former welter king from Boston, was moved up a night to Tuesday, Feb. 7.

Silverman said there will be no television of the 10-rounder at Boston Garden. Previously it had been announced as the Feb. 8 show for the weekly Wednesday night TV program (ABC).

The rift with the IBC occurred when Silverman could not get the IBC to agree to a complete area blackout in the national TV program. Silverman said IBC secretary Truman Gibson wanted the fight blacked out on local Boston stations only. Silverman argued that channel 9 in Manchester, N.H., is powerful enough to be received in most Boston sets.

When the IBC refused to yield Silverman said he told the IBC: "Get yourself another fight for that date."

Manchester is about 90 miles from Boston.

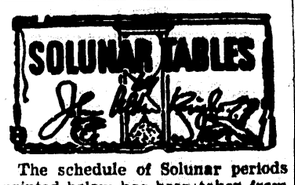

"It's about time boxing promoters in this country got wise to themselves," Silverman said. "Why should buildings like Madison Square Garden (New York), Cleveland Arena, Chicago Stadium—all with vast seating capacities—be used as studios?"

Silverman said the recent Baby Vasquez-Frankie Ryff fight drew a mere 500 people in New York and that in Cleveland the same week Rocky Castellani-Gene Fullmer brought in only $1,400.

Silverman said that if fights are televised locally there is no adequate compensation for the fighters or the clubs.

NATCHITOCHES, Jan. 13 (Special)—High-scoring Bill Reigel and his full supporting cast of McNeese State College Cowboys invade Demonland Saturday night for an important Gulf States Conference game with Northwestern State's Demons.

Tipoff time for the "big 'un" is 8 p.m.

Reigel, a strong candidate for Little All-America honors, will bring a 31.4 point-per game average into Demon gym. The 6'5" forward, voted the G.S.C.'s "most valuable cager last season, has already scored 533 points this year.

With 12 games left on the 'Poke slate, he'll pass the 900-point mark at his present rate and is virtually a cinch to rewrite the season record of 690, set by Northeast State's Bill Bradley last year.

Since joining McNeese at midterm last year, the Monaca, Penn, senior has reached 42 points—a conference single-game record—twice (Louisiana College and Southeastern, Oklahoma.)

Center Dudley Carver, averaging 12 points per game, and Frank Glenn, a terrific rebound despite his 6'2" height, give the Cowboys a dangerous trio under the baskets, while senior guards Dick McGowan, a former Tulane U. cager, and Dick McNabb combine speed with playmaking ability.

Northwestern will probably start one senior, two juniors and two freshmen. Coach "Red" Thomas' Demons, who have lost four of their last five games, will rely on 5'10" Dick Brown and 5'8" Eredz Leach at guards, 6'3½" George McConathy and 6'1" Bobby Wicker at forwards, and 6'3" "Loopy" Langston at the post. McConathy, all All-G.S.C. choice last year, is the only senior. Brown and Langston are juniors, Leach and Wicker freshmen.

McNeese State, a nationally-ranked defensive power, will carry a 15-2 record into their second conference outing while Northwestern is on the long end of an 8-6 tally. Both teams have won their only G.S.C. game and will be seeking to match defending co-champion Louisiana Tech's 2-0 loop mark.

Roger Craig, Two Others Sign '56 Dodger Contracts

BROOKLYN, Jan. 13 (AP)—Roger Craig, rookie righthander who started and won the fifth game of the 1955 World Series for the Brooklyn Dodgers, and two other hurlers have signed their 1956 contracts.

The Dodgers said today the signings brought the Brooklyn contract total to 12. Also signed were Chuck Templeton, a lefthander who had a 14-9 record last season with St. Paul, and righthander Don Elston, who was 17-6 with Los Angeles. Elston came to the Dodgers in the deal that sent Russ Meyer to the Chicago Cubs.

Templeton came to the Dodgers last September. In the spring of 1954 he was pitching in Class D ball with Union City, Tenn., of the Kitty League.

Craig had a 10-2 record with Montreal last year, and in mid-July was brought up to help the Dodgers mound corps. In 21 games, 10 as a starting pitcher, Craig showed a 5-3 record. His 2.77 earned run average was the second best on the Dodgers club.

Manager Walt Alston made him his surprise selection to start the fifth game of the series against the Yankees, and, although he was relieved by Clem Labine in the seventh inning, he got credit for the victory that put Brooklyn ahead 3-2 in the series.

Lake Providence Gets Ready For Basketball Meet

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Jan. 13 (Special)—The annual Lake Providence Invitational Basketball Tournament will be held January 26-27 -28 at the Lake Providence High School. This affair draws large crowds every year and some good games are expected.

Lake Providence coaches announce that the following teams have already entered:

Boys and girls' teams from each of Newellton, Monticello, Pioneer, Transylvania, Kilbourne, St. Joseph, Oak Grove, Forest and the host team, Lake Providence.

Several more teams are expected to enter before the deadline. Pairings will be made in a few days and initial games announced.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—Rory Calhoun, unbeaten White Plains, N. Y., middleweight, will box Jerry Luedee of New Haven in the 10-round televised bout at St. Nicholas Arena, Monday, Jan. 23.

The New York State Athletic Commission approved the match and will approve other Monday dates, pending a final decision on charges against the promoters. The hearing on the charges will be held Thursday, Jan. 19. It is not known when the decision will be given.

Contracts also have been submitted to the commission for a Jan. 30 rematch at St. Nick's between Gene Poirier of Niagra Falls and Carmine Fiore of Brooklyn. The two welters fought to a draw at the same club, Dec. 19.

Favor Austrians For Pre-Olympic Ski Event Today

KITZBUEHEL, Austria, Jan. 13 —UP—Austria's "wonder team" was favored to race off with the Hahnenkamm ski classic which begins here Saturday, with Ralph Miller and his United States Olympic team mates expected to grab off any consolation honors available.

A total of 178 skiers from 21 nations, including the Soviet Union, have gathered at this Alpine resort to take part in the last big international ski meet before the 1956 winter games at Cortina, Italy.

The traditional Hahnenkamm meet opens Saturday with the downhill event over the difficult Streifalm course and is expected to provide a tough test for Olympic championship contenders.

Ski experts figured most of the top honors in the meet to go to the Austrians, who won practically all the prizes at last weekend's Lauberhorn events at Wengen, Switzerland. However, the Americans are rated their strongest challengers, because France and Switzerland have entered only second-class teams.

"Nobody can possibly beat the Austrian ski-kings on their home courses where they know all bumps and cat-walks by heart," an American official said.

Austria's top stars like Toni Sailer, Anderl Molterer and Ernst Hinterseer — all of Kitzbuehel — should have no trouble on a course where they started skiing when they were youngsters.

Miami, O. Grid Staff Ends Duties Sunday

OXFORD, Ohio, Jan. 13 (AP)—Ara Parseghian and three assistants will formally conclude their connection with athletics at Miami University on Sunday, it was announced today.

He will take with him Paul Shoults, Dick Urich and Bruce Beatty, who helped him mold winning teams here.

Bengal Management Sends 37 Contracts

DETROIT, Jan. 13 (AP)—Management of the Detroit Tigers Friday mailed out contracts to 37 unsigned players.

The baseball club has signed contracts with five players. They are outfielder Al Kaline, pitchers Virgil Trucks and Dick Marlowe and two bonus players, Jim Brady and Jim Small, with whom the Tigers have three-year agreements.

Sea Island Event Gets Cash Boost From Sportsmen

SEA ISLAND, Ga., Jan. 13 —(AP)—The prize money or the third anual Sea Island Ladies' Invitational Golf Tournament was increased from $3,500 to $4,400 today by gifts from wealthy sportsmen.

The extra money, however, only served to more firmly entrench last years leading money winners as favorites in this 36-hole contest, starting tomorrow.

Patty Berg of Chicago, Louise Suggs of Sea Island and Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, each of whom won over $12,000 last year, turned in good warm-up rounds. They apeared to be the pick of the field of 21 professionals and 63 amateurs.

However, a chilly breeze sweeping in from the ocean made Marlene Stewart of Foxhill, Ont., the Canadian amateur champion, feel at home and she may provide the amateurs with a challenger.

Betty Dodd of San Antonio, Tex., picked up the wirst $100 of the tourney with a 225-yard drive in a preliminary distance contest today.

The extra money for the tournament was provided by Daniel Pomeroy of Sea Island, a retired Englewood, N.J., banker and big game hunter who posted $500, and Alexander Calter, also of Sea Island, board chairman of Union Bag and Paper Corp., who gave $400.

Meanwhile, friends reported that Betty McKinonn, professional golfer from Mt. Pleasant, Tex., plans to drop out of the Ladies Professional Golfers Association tournament tour this year. Several entries said they understand she is applying for permission to have her status changed back to amateur.

It was reported that she will enter the oil business in Texas with her father.

Miss McKinnon finished last among the L.P.G.A. money winners in 1955. She averaged 79.25 strokes per 18 holes and grossed $1,098.33 in winnings.

$1,757,700 Tag Put On Nashua's Sire, Nasrullah

DELRAY BEACH, Fla., Jan. 13 (AP)—A. B. (Bull) Hancock, Kentucky thoroughbred breeder, today placed a value of $1,757,700 on the stallion Nasrullah, sire of Nashua.

Hancock confirmed a report that a syndicate which he heads purchased five shares in Nasrullah and six shares in Ambiroix. The shares in the two imported stallions were owned by the estate of the late William Woodward Jr., owner of Belair stud and of Nashua, the 1955 horse of the year.

Hancock said that Max Gluck, New York and Kentucky sportsman, had offered a high bid of $251,100 for the Nasrullah shares. Under terms of an offer by the Hanover Bank of New York last week, Hancock's syndicate had six days in which to match Gluck's offer.

Hancock, vacationing at this resort, confirmed that his syndicate matched Gluck's offer. He said there are 35 shares of stock in Nasrullah, and if each is worth $50,220, the total value of the great English sire is $1,757,700.

Nashua sold to a syndicate headed by Leslie Combs II a month ago for $1,251,200 and is now in Florida preparing for a winter racing campaign as a 4-year-old.

Nasrullah is now 16. Asked how long Nasrullah could remain at stud, Hancock said:

"Well, his daddy is 23 and he's still going strong."

Nasrullah was sold to an American syndicate in 1949 for a reported $372,000.

Hancock confirmed that his syndicate had matched a high bid of $127,000 for six Ambiriox shares. This would make the 10-year-old French stallion worth $635,000 on the basis of 30 shares. Hancock said recently there were 30 shares in the French stallion.

N.A.I.A. Terming Basketball Split 'More Confusion'

EMPORIA, Kan., Jan. 3 —(AP)—The president of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics said today creation by the National Collegiate Athletic Association of its own small college basketball tournament "will merely add to the confusion."

Gus Fish, basketball coach at Emporia State Teachers College, said he was "sorry to see the N.C.A.A. start a small college tournament in competition with the N.A.I.A. at this time because many colleges are finding it difficult to finance balanced program.

"It will merely add to the confusion with two national tournaments being held for small schools."

The N.C.A.A. at its annual business session in Los Angeles this week decided to divide its 1957 basketball tournament into university and college sections.

Fish said the action should not hurt the N.A.I.A., and added:

"Our organization is open to all four-year colleges, regardless of size, race or creed, and we are constantly striving to broaden the program for the members."

Since the organization began 15 years ago as the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball, he said, it has been enlarged to include national track, golf and tennis meets. A committee now is working, he said, on a national baseball tournament.

"The way we administer our playoffs, with 32 districts represented to give independent schools an equal chance to qualify for national meets, makes the program completely democratic," he said. "All teams are selected on a competitive basis, and none are chosen."

The organization's name was changed to N.A.I.A. three years ago when track golf and tennis we added to its program. This year there are more than 460 members in the N.A.I.A., Fish said.

"The N.A.I.A., despite the action of the N.C.A.A., will continue to be a strong factor in promoting intercollegiate athletics," Fish said.

West Five-Point Favorite To Win Pro Bowl Sunday

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13 (AP) — The West remained a 5-point favorite today to defeat the East stars in the annual Pro Bowl game in Memorial Stadium Sunday.

With passers Norm Van Brocklin and Ed Brown, Los Angeles and Chicago Bears playmakers, shooting for such ends as Harlon Hill, Billy Wilson, Doak Walker and Bill Howton, the experts saw the West ouverhead game as the possible decisive factor.

The East will retaliate with Eddie Le Baron of Washington and Adrain Burk of Philadelphia and a flock of hard-running backs, including Fred Morrison of Cleveland and Ollie Matson of the Cardinals.

Seven Cleveland Browns insure defensive strength for the East against most of the running attack the West will muster. The only big Brown star not on hand is Otto Graham, who finally has retired for good.

Given a clear day, more than 50,000 fans are expected to sit in on the final game of the season.

The game will be the announced finale for at least two longtime pro stars—Doak Walker of Detroit and Pete Pihos, rugged Philadelphia end.

Hill, the great Chi-Bear end, is scheduled to receive the Jim Thorpe Award for the N.F.L.'s player of the year. He scored 12 touchdowns via passes this season and gained 1,124 yards on 45 total receptions.

One-Length Win For Bossy Mary At Fair Grounds

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 13 (AP) — Bossy Mary took the lead at the start today and had enough for a one-length victory in the $2,500 Rothermel purse at the Fair Grounds.

Jockey Henry Wadja rode Bossy Mary over the six furlongs in 1:13 2-5, just ahead of Judy Darling in a field of seven three-year-old fillies. Brookwood was third.

At the stretch, Bossy Mary held a three-length lead over Lush Lie. But Lush Lie faded as Judy Darling moved up to close the gap.

Bossy Mary paid $22.60, $7.60 and $4.40. Judy Darling returned $4.20 and $3, while Brookwood paid $3.20.

McNeese's Reigel Heading Scorers

'Poke Ace First To Hit 500-Mark For This Season

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP) — Bill Reigel McNeese State of Louisiana is the first college basketball player to score 500 points this season.

NCAA service bureau statistics showed today that Reigel has tallied 507 points in 16 games for a 31.7 average.

The leader on percentage in the small-college scoring competition, however, is Dave Olmsted of Clarkson, N.Y., College, who has racked up a 32.4 average in seven games. He has 227 points.

Bob Hopkins, last week's pacesetter, dropped to third with a 31.2 mark. The Grambling, La., star has pumped in 374 points in 12 tilts.

Hopkins, who broke the college career record in his fourth game this season, pushed his 4-year total to 3,268 points by scoring 76 more in three games last week. He has racked up 309 points more than anyone else ever did in college basketball. The old mark was 2,959 by Carl Hartman of Aldersen-Broaddus of West Virginia.

In the team statistics through games of Jan. 11, West Virginia Tech was better than 12 points a game ahead of Georgia Teachers in the offensive department. The West Virginians have registered 952 points in nine contests for 105.8 points a game. Georgia Teachers has 93.3.

For the fifth straight week, Pacific Lutheran led in team defense. The Lutes have permitted only 55.8 points a game to shade the 55.9 yield by McNeese State.

Individual scoring leaders (through games of Saturday, Jan. 7):

Reslate DeMarco With 'Bud' Smith In Boston Garden

BOSTON, Jan. 13 (AP) —Boston boxing promoter Sam Silverman tonight rescheduled the Wallace "Bud" Smith-Tony DeMarco nontitle fight from its Feb. 8 national television date with a blast at the International Boxing Club and what he termed "studio fights."

The bout between Smith, the lightweight champion from Cincinnati, and DeMarco, former welter king from Boston, was moved up a night to Tuesday, Feb. 7.

Silverman said there will be no television of the 10-rounder at Boston Garden. Previously it had been announced as the Feb. 8 show for the weekly Wednesday night TV program (ABC).

The rift with the IBC occurred when Silverman could not get the IBC to agree to a complete area blackout in the national TV program. Silverman said IBC secretary Truman Gibson wanted the fight blacked out on local Boston stations only. Silverman argued that channel 9 in Manchester, N.H., is powerful enough to be received in most Boston sets.

When the IBC refused to yield Silverman said he told the IBC: "Get yourself another fight for that date."

Manchester is about 90 miles from Boston.

"It's about time boxing promoters in this country got wise to themselves," Silverman said. "Why should buildings like Madison Square Garden (New York), Cleveland Arena, Chicago Stadium—all with vast seating capacities—be used as studios?"

Silverman said the recent Baby Vasquez-Frankie Ryff fight drew a mere 500 people in New York and that in Cleveland the same week Rocky Castellani-Gene Fullmer brought in only $1,400.

Silverman said that if fights are televised locally there is no adequate compensation for the fighters or the clubs.

Demons Attempt To Halt McNeese March Tonight

The schedule of Solunar periods printed below has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times. If you wish to find the best spot that each day has to offer.

TODAY

The major periods begain at the times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter.

NATCHITOCHES, Jan. 13 (Special)—High-scoring Bill Reigel and his full supporting cast of McNeese State College Cowboys invade Demonland Saturday night for an important Gulf States Conference game with Northwestern State's Demons.

Tipoff time for the "big 'un" is 8 p.m.

Reigel, a strong candidate for Little All-America honors, will bring a 31.4 point-per game average into Demon gym. The 6'5" forward, voted the G.S.C.'s "most valuable cager last season, has already scored 533 points this year.

With 12 games left on the 'Poke slate, he'll pass the 900-point mark at his present rate and is virtually a cinch to rewrite the season record of 690, set by Northeast State's Bill Bradley last year.

Since joining McNeese at midterm last year, the Monaca, Penn, senior has reached 42 points—a conference single-game record—twice (Louisiana College and Southeastern, Oklahoma.)

Center Dudley Carver, averaging 12 points per game, and Frank Glenn, a terrific rebound despite his 6'2" height, give the Cowboys a dangerous trio under the baskets, while senior guards Dick McGowan, a former Tulane U. cager, and Dick McNabb combine speed with playmaking ability.

Northwestern will probably start one senior, two juniors and two freshmen. Coach "Red" Thomas' Demons, who have lost four of their last five games, will rely on 5'10" Dick Brown and 5'8" Eredz Leach at guards, 6'3½" George McConathy and 6'1" Bobby Wicker at forwards, and 6'3" "Loopy" Langston at the post. McConathy, all All-G.S.C. choice last year, is the only senior. Brown and Langston are juniors, Leach and Wicker freshmen.

McNeese State, a nationally-ranked defensive power, will carry a 15-2 record into their second conference outing while Northwestern is on the long end of an 8-6 tally. Both teams have won their only G.S.C. game and will be seeking to match defending co-champion Louisiana Tech's 2-0 loop mark.

Roger Craig, Two Others Sign '56 Dodger Contracts

BROOKLYN, Jan. 13 (AP)—Roger Craig, rookie righthander who started and won the fifth game of the 1955 World Series for the Brooklyn Dodgers, and two other hurlers have signed their 1956 contracts.

The Dodgers said today the signings brought the Brooklyn contract total to 12. Also signed were Chuck Templeton, a lefthander who had a 14-9 record last season with St. Paul, and righthander Don Elston, who was 17-6 with Los Angeles. Elston came to the Dodgers in the deal that sent Russ Meyer to the Chicago Cubs.

Templeton came to the Dodgers last September. In the spring of 1954 he was pitching in Class D ball with Union City, Tenn., of the Kitty League.

Craig had a 10-2 record with Montreal last year, and in mid-July was brought up to help the Dodgers mound corps. In 21 games, 10 as a starting pitcher, Craig showed a 5-3 record. His 2.77 earned run average was the second best on the Dodgers club.

Manager Walt Alston made him his surprise selection to start the fifth game of the series against the Yankees, and, although he was relieved by Clem Labine in the seventh inning, he got credit for the victory that put Brooklyn ahead 3-2 in the series.

Lake Providence Gets Ready For Basketball Meet

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Jan. 13 (Special)—The annual Lake Providence Invitational Basketball Tournament will be held January 26-27 -28 at the Lake Providence High School. This affair draws large crowds every year and some good games are expected.

Lake Providence coaches announce that the following teams have already entered:

Boys and girls' teams from each of Newellton, Monticello, Pioneer, Transylvania, Kilbourne, St. Joseph, Oak Grove, Forest and the host team, Lake Providence.

Several more teams are expected to enter before the deadline. Pairings will be made in a few days and initial games announced.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—Rory Calhoun, unbeaten White Plains, N. Y., middleweight, will box Jerry Luedee of New Haven in the 10-round televised bout at St. Nicholas Arena, Monday, Jan. 23.

The New York State Athletic Commission approved the match and will approve other Mondav dates, pending a final decision on charges against the promoters. The hearing on the charges will be held Thursday, Jan. 19. It is not known when the decision will be given.

Contracts also have been submitted to the commission for a Jan. 30 rematch at St. Nick's between Gene Poirier of Niagra Falls and Carmine Fiore of Brooklyn. The two welters fought to a draw at the same club, Dec. 19.

Favor Austrians For Pre-Olympic Ski Event Today

KITZBUEHEL, Austria, Jan. 13 —UP—Austria's "wonder team" was favored to race off with the Hahnenkamm ski classic which begins here Saturday, with Ralph Miller and his United States Olympic team mates expected to grab off any consolation honors available.

A total of 178 skiers from 21 nations, including the Soviet Union, have gathered at this Alpine resort to take part in the last big international ski meet before the 1956 winter games at Cortina, Italy.

The traditional Hahnenkamm meet opens Saturday with the downhill event over the difficult Streifalm course and is expected to provide a tough test for Olympic championship contenders.

Ski experts figured most of the top honors in the meet to go to the Austrians, who won practically all the prizes at last weekend's Lauberhorn events at Wengen, Switzerland. However, the Americans are rated their strongest challengers, because France and Switzerland have entered only second-class teams.

"Nobody can possibly beat the Austrian ski-kings on their home courses where they know all bumps and cat-walks by heart," an American official said.

Austria's top stars like Toni Sailer, Anderl Molterer and Ernst Hinterseer — all of Kitzbuehel — should have no trouble on a course where they started skiing when they were youngsters.

Miami, O. Grid Staff Ends Duties Sunday

OXFORD, Ohio, Jan. 13 (AP)—Ara Parseghian and three assistants will formally conclude their connection with athletics at Miami University on Sunday, it was announced today.

He will take with him Paul Shoults, Dick Urich and Bruce Beatty, who helped him mold winning teams here.

Bengal Management Sends 37 Contracts

DETROIT, Jan. 13 (AP)—Management of the Detroit Tigers Friday mailed out contracts to 37 unsigned players.

The baseball club has signed contracts with five players. They are outfielder Al Kaline, pitchers Virgil Trucks and Dick Marlowe and two bonus players, Jim Brady and Jim Small, with whom the Tigers have three-year agreements.

At the stretch, Bossy Mary held a three-length lead over Lush Lie. But Lush Lie faded as Judy Darling moved up to close the gap.

Bossy Mary paid $22.60, $7.60 and $4.40. Judy Darling returned $4.20 and $3, while Brookwood paid $3.20.

Ministers' Group Votes Approval Of United Fund Here

The Twin City Ministerial Association, in meeting Wednesday in the First Presbyterian Church, unanimously approved a resolution for the establishment in these cities of a United Fund.

Devotional was led by Rev. Hugh E. Bradshaw. Several items of new business were discussed.

The inter - church co-operation committee was asked to plan for the Easter service and Lenten services were discussed.

A resolution as passed concerning the approval of the United Fund thus:

"Where there is a recognized need for community cooperation and co-ordination in the organization and execution of the various fund raising campaigns in the Twin Cities, and where as the 'United Fund' plan is successful in other cities,

"Be it resolved that the Twin City Ministerial Association endorses and supports such a project for Monroe and West Monroe."

It was urged that the members of the group use every possible effort to encourage all able to vote to see that this privilege is utilized at the polls.

The group was dismissed by Dr. Ben Oliphant.

Alex. Physician Trustee President

PINEVILLE, Jan. 13 (Special)—The new president of the Louisiana college board of trustees is Dr. James A. White, Jr., prominent Alexandria physician.

An alumnus of the local institution, he was elected at the regular January session of the board held this week on the Pineville campus.

Another Alexandrian, Max Ward, businessman, was reelected secretary of the group.

Rev. E. N. Weaver, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Elton, was chosen treasurer.

Both Weaver and Ward are also L. C. alumni.

Personnel of the new board executive committee includes, besides the four general officers, the following: S. W. Tudor, construction company owner of Pineville: C. O. Walker, businessman of Taylor: and Dr. M. B. Pearce, another practicing physician of Alexandria.

Walker, who is retiring president, and the other two committee members are L. C. graduates.

These officers and committeemen will serve during the ensuing year.

Building Permits

The following building permits have been issued by city building inspector S. H. Awl:

G. W. Hildabridle, to remodel a one and two-story frame and metal store at 2409 DeSiard at a cost of $500.

Vincent Marsala, to erect a one-story brick veneer residence at 2107 Valencia at a cost of $18,000.

George Young, to add to a one-story frame dwelling at 3912 Curry at a cost of $200.

Mrs. W. M. Parker, to move a one-story frame residence to 1103 Breard from 110 Pine, West Monroe.

S. C. Griffin, to add to a one-story frame apartment house at 1216 South Second at a cost of $1000.

James Splond to erect a one-story frame dwelling at 513 Wilson at a cost of $3000.

B. K. Owens, to add to a one-story frame residence at 108 Pershing Place at a cost of $1000.

Hunter and DuBois, to erect a one-story brick veneer residence at 519 Frederick at a cost of $9000. and at 502 Avoyelles at a cost of $8500.

Bids Slated For New Health Center

LAKE PROVIDENCE, Jan. 13 (Special) — The East Carroll parish police jury will receive bids for the erection of a one story brick health center January 27 at 11 a.m.

The firm of Rivers and Heuer, Monroe, architects for the building estimate the cost to be approximately $37,000. At an earlier meeting the Police Jury selected a site on the courthouse square for the new building. At the present time the Health Unit is housed in the old courthouse.

The L shaped building will consist of 21 rooms which will include a lobby, two vestibules, four rest rooms, dark room, X-ray room, janitor's supply closet, laboratory, equipment room, reception room, and private offices for the nurses, director, sanitarian and a general assembly room to be used in conducting special health classes.

The Hammites were the world's first civilized people to domesticate animals, invent the plow to till their fields and unite under the leadership of kings.

Applications For Farm Surpluses To Open Monday

J. S. Worley, director of the Ouachita Parish Department of Public Welfare, states that farmers eligible for U. S. government surplus commodities can file their applications beginning Monday, January 23, 1956.

Two offices have been set up to receive these applications. Persons living east of the Ouachita river will file their applications at the parish highway barn, Sterlington Road, Monroe and persons living west of the river will file their applications at the Agriculture Building, 704 Cypress street, West Monroe.

In order to be eligible for surplus commodities, a person must have derived the major portion of his income from farming during the past year. There is also a limit on the amount of present income they can have and still be eligible.

Concordia Paper Backs Morrison

The endorsement, made Thursday in a front page editorial is the first ever made by the paper in a gubernatorial campaign. The Sentinel is edited anl published by Percy L. Rountree, Jr.

The editorial stated: "Our sole purpose for making this endorsement is our desire for better and more enlightened government for the good of all the people. We believe that Mayor Morrison possesses to a greater degree than any other candidate all of the qualities necessary to achieve that end.

"Mr. Morrison is a man of unquestioned integrity. His public record and his personal life both reflect high standards of ethics and moral character. He has administered his public trust as a member of the State Legislature and as Mayor of New Orleans according to Christian principles. His record clearly mirrors his regard for all men and his respect for their rights and beliefs"

The paper praised Morrison's record as mayor and commented, "The City of New Orleans is there for all persons to see and nothing said by Chep Morrison's opposition can remove it."

The editorial concluded by saying, "We sincerely believe that he will become our next governor."

Morrison has previously been endorsed by The Times - Picayune, The New Orleans States, The Shreveport Times, The Jennings Daily News, The Monroe Morning World, The Monroe News-Star, The New Orleans Item, The Ruston Daily Leader, The Opelousas World The Terrebonne Press, The Madison Journal, The West Ban Herald and Richland Beacon - News.

Fairris Loses In Final Attempt To Avoid Execution

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 13—UP—The Oklahoma Pardon and Parole Board refused Thursday to keep Hurbie Franklin Fairris Jr. whose whole family is in jail, from following his uncle, outlaw Raymond Hamilton, into the electric chair.

Raymond Hamilton was a notorious desperado of the 1930s. He was electrocuted in Texas state prison at Huntsville in 1935 for one of the murders he committed. Hurbie Fairris, 21, killed a policeman in Oklahoma City in July, 1954, while helping a gang rob a grocery store.

He was sentenced to die in the electric chair last November, but Raymond Price, who had gotten off with life in the holdup, "confessed." He said it was he who killed Policeman Bennie Cravatt. This week, he changed his story and said it was gangster Leroy (Tincy) Eggleston.

Eggleston was a notorious hoodlum whose body was found in a well near Fort Worth, Tex., last September. The Pardon and Parole Board turned Fairris down when Price made his first confession. Members said there was no reason to change their minds when he tried to lay it on Eggleston.

A few seconds before he got the news, Fairris said, "it's Friday the 13th and maybe it's my unlucky day." He shrugged when he found out it was his unlucky day.

Fairris' mother, Marjorie, is serving five years in Texas' Gorree prison farm for killing the second of her three husbands. His father, Hurbie Sr., is in Texas state prison. Bethel Fairris, a brother of Hurbie Jr., is serving 12 years in the Texas prison for robbing a jewelry store.

His uncle Iwana is in the Dallas county, Tex., jail on three robbery charges. Another uncle, Floyd Hamilton, is in Leavenworth, Kans. federal prison.

Gov. Raymond Gary said he was going to follow the Pardon and Parole Board's recommendation and not interfere. Fairris will be executed at 12:01 a.m. next Wednesday.

"I have done everything I know to do," Tant said.

Pre-Civil War General Store Burns In Miss.

PANTHER BURN, Miss., Jan. 13 (AP)—Flames today wiped out the pre-Civil War general store on the Panther Burn plantation, once the second largest in the Mississippi Delta.

Dean is a member of the family that owns the plantation, about 26 miles south of Leland. He estimated damages at $15,000. Insurance covered part of the loss.

He promised to rebuild the store to serve the farm settlement. Panther Burn once was the second largest plantation in the area but recently was split up.

Cause of the fire was not known.

Publisher Says:

Advertising Is Barometer For Living Standards

LITTLE ROCK, Jan. 13 (AP)—J. O. Emmerich, publisher of the McComb, Miss., Enterprise Journal tonight said extensive use of advertising is essential to America's high standard of living.

"No nation has a surer barometer of progress or prosperity or the lack of them — than total advertising expenditures," Emmerich told the Arkansas Press Assn.

Emmerich said mass advertising is the reason the free world is outside the Iron Curtain today.

"It is admitted that America's industrial weight turned the tide of war," he added, "but this might spring from mass production which depends upon mass advertising to produce the mass desire to create the mass consumption necessary to industrial mass production."

Emmerich said limited use of advertising is one of the chief reasons for Europe's low standard of living. The power of sales initiative, he said, is essential to a dynamic economy.

"I observed on a recent European trip," said Emmerich, 'that newspapers in cities such as Loyons France, with a half million people, carried no more advertising volume than American cities of 25,000 population."

Turning his attention to newspaper routine, Emmerich told Arkansas newsmen that an editor must have the hide of a rhinoceros, to keep anyone from getting under his skin during controversies, and the memory of an ostrich to forget petty things as they happen.

Stepped up efforts in control of brucellosis cut losses to U. S. cattlemen from $100,000,000 in 1945 to $45,000,000 in 1955.

Capt. James Jabara of Wichita, Neb., became the first American jet ace May 29, 1951 when he shot down his fifth and sixth MIGs.

Ax Murderer Dies In Electric Chair In N. Car.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 13 (AP)—Sammy Wright, Jr., 20-year-old ax murderer, died in the state electric chair today after a last minute panic in which he had to be dragged from his death house cell.

Wright huddled under blankets on the floor of his cell for more than an hour before the 7 a.m. electrocution time. Three ministers prayed and sang hymns.

When guards entered the cell, Wright refused to get up. He was placed in irons and half-dragged, half-carried to the execution chamber.

Wright was convicted of the Feb. 26, 1955, slaying of Mrs. W. F. Stroman, well-to-do Orageburg white woman.

As the death-chair straps were fastened on him, he cried to guard captain Fuller Goodman.

"Cap'n, I didn't mean to kill anybody. In Jesus' name, I told them the truth about all I done. The Lord knows I never mean to kill anybody. Won't you'll have mercy on me. . . please, somebody, don't let them kill me now."

Wright sobbed as the mask was placed over his face. Two charges of electricity were given before he was pronounced dead at 7:08 by prison physician M. W. Cheatham.

Execution of the young Negro had been scheduled twice before, but had been stayed each time to allow further legal appeal steps. The state Supreme Court denied a plea for a new trial at its December term.

According to trial testimony, Wright, bent on robbery, entered the home with keys stolen from his grandmother, a cook in the Storman household for 30 years.

The state said he surprised the elderly Mrs. Stroman and her semi-invalid husband in the darkened den of their home, where they were watching television.

Woman Refuses To Reveal Name After Accident

CUSHING, Okla., Jan. 13—UP—Chivalrous police officers permitted a local accident victim to remain anonymous Friday on grounds she went through enough after an item of her intimate apparel had fallen to the floor.

The lady had entered a local department store when something underneath snapped. A horrified glance downward showed her flimsy underpants at ankle level.

In her heroic effort to hoist the silken garment, the woman fell. She went through a plate glass window, shattering same.

A doctor reported later that the woman wasn't hurt, at least physically. The cop who filed the accident report said the victim refused to give her name with the remark," I may have lost my pants but not my head."

Fairris Loses In Final Attempt To Avoid Execution

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 13—UP—The Oklahoma Pardon and Parole Board refused Thursday to keep Hurbie Franklin Fairris Jr. whose whole family is in jail, from following his uncle, outlaw Raymond Hamilton, into the electric chair.

Raymond Hamilton was a notorious desperado of the 1930s. He was electrocuted in Texas state prison at Huntsville in 1935 for one of the murders he committed. Hurbie Fairris, 21, killed a policeman in Oklahoma City in July, 1954, while helping a gang rob a grocery store.

He was sentenced to die in the electric chair last November, but Raymond Price, who had gotten off with life in the holdup, "confessed." He said it was he who killed Policeman Bennie Cravatt. This week, he changed his story and said it was gangster Leroy (Tincy) Eggleston.

Eggleston was a notorious hoodlum whose body was found in a well near Fort Worth, Tex., last September. The Pardon and Parole Board turned Fairris down when Price made his first confession. Members said there was no reason to change their minds when he tried to lay it on Eggleston.

A few seconds before he got the news, Fairris said, "it's Friday the 13th and maybe it's my unlucky day." He shrugged when he found out it was his unlucky day.

Fairris' mother, Marjorie, is serving five years in Texas' Gorree prison farm for killing the second of her three husbands. His father, Hurbie Sr., is in Texas state prison. Bethel Fairris, a brother of Hurbie Jr., is serving 12 years in the Texas prison for robbing a jewelry store.

His uncle Iwana is in the Dallas county, Tex., jail on three robbery charges. Another uncle, Floyd Hamilton, is in Leavenworth, Kans. federal prison.

Gov. Raymond Gary said he was going to follow the Pardon and Parole Board's recommendation and not interfere. Fairris will be executed at 12:01 a.m. next Wednesday.

Fairris' attorney, Dave Tant, Oklahoma City, conceded this was the Texan's last chance.

"I have done everything I know to do," Tant said.

Pre-Civil War General Store Burns In Miss.

PANTHER BURN, Miss., Jan. 13 (AP)—Flames today wiped out the pre-Civil War general store on the Panther Burn plantation, once the second largest in the Mississippi Delta.

Lack of water prevented Leland and Greenville firemen from saving the 50 by 100 foot store, owned by Charles Dean, president of the Bank of Leland. Firefighters, however, saved a nearby residence on the plantation.

Dean is a member of the family that owns the plantation, about 26 miles south of Leland.He estimated damages at $15,000. Insurance covered part of the loss.

He promised to rebuild the store to serve the farm settlement. Panther Burn once was the second largest plantation in the area but recently was split up.

Cause of the fire was not known.

Ax Murderer Dies In Electric Chair In N. Car.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 13 (AP)—Sammy Wright, Jr., 20-year-old ax murderer, died in the state electric chair today after a last minute panic in which he had to be dragged from his death house cell.

Wright huddled under blankets on the floor of his cell for more than an hour before the 7 a.m. electrocution time. Three ministers prayed and sang hymns.

When guards entered the cell, Wright refused to get up. He was placed in irons and half-dragged, half-carried to the execution chamber.

Wright was convicted of the Feb. 26, 1955, slaying of Mrs. W. F. Stroman, well-to-do Orageburg white woman.

As the death-chair straps were fastened on him, he cried to guard captain Fuller Goodman.

"Cap'n, I didn't mean to kill anybody. In Jesus' name, I told them the truth about all I done. The Lord knows I never mean to kill anybody. Won't you'll have mercy on me. . . please, somebody, don't let them kill me now."

Wright sobbed as the mask was placed over his face. Two charges of electricity were given before he was pronounced dead at 7:08 by prison physician M. W. Cheatham.

Execution of the young Negro had been scheduled twice before, but had been stayed each time to allow further legal appeal steps. The state Supreme Court denied a plea for a new trial at its December term.

According to trial testimony, Wright, bent on robbery, entered the home with keys stolen from his grandmother, a cook in the Storman household for 30 years.

The state said he surprised the elderly Mrs. Stroman and her semi-invalid husband in the darkened den of their home, where they were watching television.

Woman Refuses To Reveal Name After Accident

CUSHING, Okla., Jan. 13—UP—Chivalrous police officers permitted a local accident victim to remain anonymous Friday on grounds she went through enough after an item of her intimate apparel had fallen to the floor.

The lady had entered a local department store when something underneath snapped. A horrified glance downward showed her flimsy underpants at ankle level.

In her heroic effort to hoist the silken garment, the woman fell. She went through a plate glass window, shattering same.

A doctor reported later that the woman wasn't hurt, at least physicially. The cop who filed the accident report said the victim refused to give her name with the remark," I may have lost my pants but not my head."

Publisher Says:

Advertising Is Barometer For Living Standards

LITTLE ROCK, Jan. 13 (AP)—J. O. Emmerich, publisher of the McComb, Miss., Enterprise Journal tonight said extensive use of advertising is essential to America's high standard of living.

"No nation has a surer barometer of progress or prosperity or the lack of them — than total advertising expenditures," Emmerich told the Arkansas Press Assn.

Emmerich said mass advertising is the reason the free world is outside the Iron Curtain today.

"It is admitted that America's industrial weight turned the tide of war," he added, "but this might spring from mass production which depends upon mass advertising to produce the mass desire to create the mass consumption necessary to industrial mass production."

Emmerich said limited use of advertising is one of the chief reasons for Europe's low standard of living. The power of sales initiative, he said, is essential to a dynamic economy.

"I observed on a recent European trip," said Emmerich, 'that newspapers in cities such as Loyons France, with a half million people, carried no more advertising volume than American cities of 25,000 population."

Turning his attention to newspaper routine, Emmerich told Arkansas newsmen that an editor must have the hide of a rhinoceros, to keep anyone from getting under his skin during controversies, and the memory of an ostrich to forget petty things as they happen.

"This editorial temperament," Emmerich said, "is a protective shield necessary in the editorial grind."

Stepped up efforts in control of brucellosis cut losses to U. S. cattlemen from $100,000,000 in 1945 to $45,000,000 in 1955.

Capt. James Jabara of Wichita, Neb., became the first American jet ace May 29, 1951 when he shot down his fifth and sixth MIGs.

Candidate 'Pledged' To Ike Upsets GOP Plans In New Hampshire Race

By JOSEPH D. KAMIN

CONCORD, N.H., Jan. 13 (AP) — Two independent maneuvers surprised the Eisenhower ranks today as the candidate filing period for New Hampshire's March 13 presidential primary opened with a flurry of activity.

First, a weekly newspaper publisher filed as a delegate candidate "pledged" to the President's renomination. This was in direct contrast to the strategy of Eisenhower's organized supporters, who planned to file a complete slate of "favorable" candidates.

Then, a baker of Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) jumped into the delegate contest with a declaration that, "We must find a winning substitute and permit Mr. Eisenhower to retire to his Gettysburg farm and live out his alloted life span."

And late in the day another Knowland supporter also filed.

Meanwhile, Gov. Lane Dwinell, head of the Eisenhower forces in this state, and eight other GOP leaders submitted petitions placing their names on the ballot as delegate candidates "favorable" to Eisenhower.

The governor said he wasn't disturbed "even though it is Friday the 13th."

One of them, Patrick Napoleon Henry O'York, 77, of Dover, was the first candidate to file. He qualified for ballot listing as "favorable" to Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

The other, Emile A. Marcoux of Manchester, said he will run "pledged" to Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), who opens a three-day New Hampshire campaign tour tomorrow.

There was no sign of early activity in behalf of Adlai Stevenson. However, one of his leading supporters indicated a slate pledged to the 1952 Democratic nominee would be filed later.

The basic difference between a pledged candidate and a favorable one is that the former must produce written consent of his candidate before the end of the filing—Feb. 11.

If such consent is furnished, a pledged delegate is so listed on the ballot and must, by law, vote for his candidate as long as his name is before the national convention.

The Eisenhower forces long ago decided to enter a complete slate of delegates favorable to the President, thus avoiding any necessity for Eisenhower to give his consent.

But Earl S. Hewitt, publisher of the Hanover Gazette, submitted papers as a delegate contestant pledged to the President.

"Every candidate should run pledged to give the people a chance to know definitely where the delegates stand," he said.

Long Insists He Will Win Race For La. Governor

LA ROSE, Jan. 13 (Special)—Earl K. Long said today he would win the present governor's campaign on the basis of his qualifications, his experience and his platform.

Speaking along lower Bayou La-Fourche on a cool but bright afternoon, Long observed that his opponents are attacking others right and left." "I am not going to try to win this campaign on the demerits of my opponents. I am trying to win on my own qualifications and I think I can convince you I am the man to elect."

Long said he is going to make every effort to put Louisiana on a "Pay as you go" basis. He said now is the time to reduce state debts.

Gov. Robert Kennon increased the state debt $200,000,000 instead of decreasing it as he promised, Long charged.

At the same time the debt was being increased, the Kennon administration spending $350,000,000 more than any other administration in history. This, Long said, despite campaign promises to cut spending.

Long also hit at Mayor de Lesseps Morrison of New Orleans for circulating literature which termed "the most scurgilous" in Louisiana political history.

He said Morrison had claimed he was running a clean campaign and "that is the kind hyprocrisy he is dishing out."

Long said in additional comment on Louisiana politics that Dudley LeBlanc is going to "get the socks beat off him" in Vermillion and St Mary Parishes. LeBlanc is stumping for Morrison and seeking re-election to the state senate.

Saturday the two sections of the ticket, the other headed by Lether Frazar, will stump through the state and then commence at New Orleans for a state-wide rally Saturday night.

The Times-Picayune said Fort Lewis authorities confirmed that Cosse was sent overseas last month, but parish record showed he voted Tuesday.

Williams, reached at Nederland, Tex., told reporters, he "never cast an absentee ballot in my life," nor did his wife and that they were not in Louisiana Jan. 10.

Asked for comment, Nunez said if anyone is casting absentee ballots for people out of state, it probably is due to the disappearance Nov. 1 of a book containing about 500 registration certificates.

"It appears," said Nunez, "that some of those certificates are appearing here in other hands."

Atty. Gen. Fred S. LeBlanc has said he will look into the previous absentee vote charges.

Mrs. Gibson said her son had visited the mob-overrun Ajlun hospital several times and was there in November, about a month before Christmas. He has at times mentioned the hospital's director, Dr. Lloyd Lovegreen, in his letters to her, she said.

She explained that her son arrived in the mission in January, 1954, and that, although she is not certain, she does not believe he and his family are in immediate danger as a result of the Ajlun affair. Dr. and Mrs. Young are the parents of four children, Mrs. Gibson said.

Security Council Unanimously For Condemning Israel

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 13 (AP) Israel learned today that the U.N. Security Council was unanimous for condemnation of her Army's Dec. 11 raid on Syrian forces near the Sea of Galilee.

Four more members, in a 96 minute meeting, said the council should vote such a condemnation. They were China, Australia, Cuba and Peru. The other seven had said so before.

The council adjourned to Tuesday morning when it will hear from Syria and Israel and then may vote on pending proposals.

These include a strong Soviet resolution calling the attack "outrageous," a milder U.S.-British-French resolution calling it "flagrant" and Iranian amendments to make the latter more like the former.

"All condemn the attack. The Soviet and Iranian proposals, adopting a Syrian suggestion, also would have the council decide Israel should pay "adequate compensation" for loss of Syrian life and property.

The operation cost a reported 56 Syrian and 6 Israeli lives. Israel said it was to quiet Syrian guns that had fired on Israeli fishing and police boats on the sea, which is within Israel near the Syrian border. But Syria complained to the U.N. that it was "open aggression."

Tingfu F. Tsiang of Nationalist China and Victor Andres Belaunde of Peru came out today for having the council call for compensation as Russia, Yugoslavia and Iran already had done.

But that made only five of the 11 council members on record for such a provision, and seven votes would be necessary to put it across. The big Western powers and Belgium have called the idea impractical.

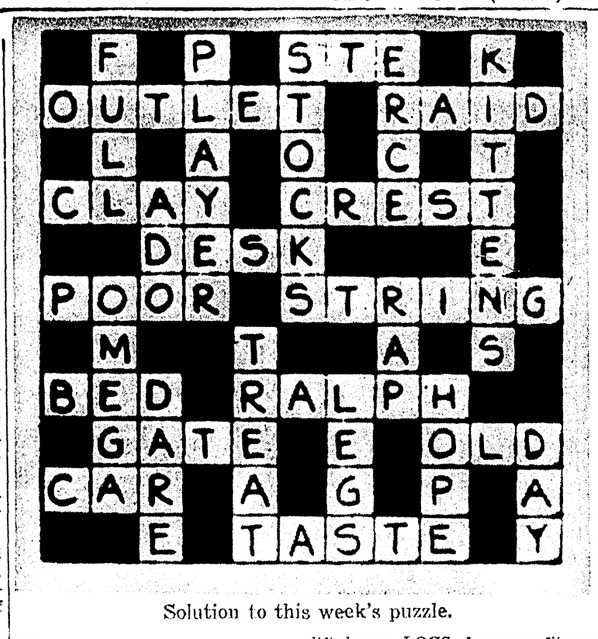

Tsiang said that, to ally distrust of the U.N. among Palestine Arab refugees, the council should vote for compensation and leave the details to the U.N. Palestine truce chief, Canadian Maj. Gen. Edson L. M. Burns.

But he said this should be done only if Israel failed to make a voluntary offer to pay for the Syrian losses.

The Israeli delegation forwarded this suggestion to Jerusalem with a request for instructions.

Tsiang, Belaunde and Carlos Blanco of Cuba all expressed general approval of the Western resolution. E. Ronald Walker, Australia's new representative to the U.N., indicated he held the same opinion.

The Chinese said the Israeli raid was unjustified. But he said Syrian interference with Israel activity on the sea also was unjustified. The Western resolution, unlike the Soviet text, mentions such interference.

grade teacher, graduate of Southern State College, Magnolia, Ark., the mother of one son, Larry, a Crossett High School senior, and an active church worker.

Several contestants missed the correct solution by only one letter. Among them were Mrs. Jessie Meredith, Oak Grove, who was the only previous winner of the jackpot; Mrs. Griffith Allen, Dubach; Mrs. E. N. Emfinger, Jr., Gilbert; Mrs. Sue Thompson, Delhi; Rose Trichell, 103 Chappell, and Marlon Guerriero, 307 Glenmar.

An entry from Mrs. J. D. Busby, Route four, Winnsboro, came close, but lost because of an apparent last minute dicision to change two letters. Erasures over light ink lines with heavier lettering imposed over them revealed that the original decisions had been correct, but the changes were wrong. Otherwise, the entry would have been a perfect solution.

Next week, the new puzzle published in the Monday and Tuesday editions of the World will carry a jackpot of $50, and each week the puzzle goes unsolved, $25 will be added to the total.

Entries should be pasted on postcards so judges can check them readily. Other rules are carried with the puzzles each week.

CLUES ACROSS:

3. STE. is correct. The lictionary defines a designation as an appointment or nomination. This rules out SUE, a girl's name. Neither could it be SHE, which is furthermore ruled out since the clue says "abbrev."

6. OUTLET is best. The clue mentions "some complaints". This means of course, a number of complaints. This makes CUTLET unlikely for if your CUTLET is too small you would hardly complain to a number of people but probably only to, say, the waiter or your butcher. Why any more? As for OUTLET, this would effect many people as a sink or sewer, or even the OUTLET to a lake, etc.

7. The answer, clearly, is "something to worry about and RAID, therefore, is favored. In many cases RAIN is something to HOPE FOR, not worry about.

8. CLAY is a medium of creative expression because it is used for modelling of all sorts of things. PLAY is too general a term. Furthermore, the PLAY is the finished product, not the medium. Neither is it correctly "creative" and the clue purposely says "creative". With CLAY you create something. With PLAY you do not necessarily.

10. "Stately" favors CREST, as of an old English family. An old CHEST may well be found in many a humble home.

14. STRING best fits the reference in the clue to being on the safe side. String is used to secure parcels, etc., safely. SPRINGS, on the other hand, come in hundreds of types and few of them have much to do with safety.

22. "Manager suggests a professional club, and GATE. EVERYBODY concerned with ANY club wants the GAME to be a good one.

23. OLD is apt because the clue says "might". A man's wife would certainly not want him to wear ODD socks but she might, or MIGHT NOT, want him to wear OLD socks, depending on what condition the socks were in. They might be OLD and still be very good.

25. CAR is correct. Many a man, including golfers, enjoy going around in a CAR. However, he can't enjoy going around in PAR because he doesn't know he has gone around in PAR until he has finished going around.

CLUES DOWN:

1. FULL is more apt. A life spent in the pursuit of pleasure can hardly be a FULL one. Amusements pall, and they may find life extremely DULL.

3. STOCKS is an excellent answer which EMBRACES STACKS, thus covering both cases. STACKS ARE STOCKS, or part of the STOCKS. STICKS is not favored.

16. They would certainly regard it as a TREAT and a privilege to be [illegible] our wishes or not [illegible] was GREAT would depend on how they felt when in the air.

18. DARE is best. The clue says "by this. DARK is, therefore, out since while one refers to being scared BY a DARE, one says scared OF the DARK, not BY the DARK.

20. It is only "WHEN YOU ARE TIRED that it may mean an effort merely to lift your LEGS. It may well mean an effort to lift heavy LOGS, however fit you feel.

21. HOPE is good, but the clue is an overstatement for HOME. Many a person has been utterly forsaken and desolate, and yet had a HOME. Since, in this usage, "forsaken" parctically means HOPELESS, HOPE is a particularly good answer.

600 Railroad Workers Off Jobs In Union Dispute

MARSHALL, Tex., Jan. 13 (AP) — Approximately 600 railroad workers were suspended from their jobs here today with the closing of the Texas & Pacific Railroad shops over a jurisdictional dispute between two union crafts.

Five of the six departments within the shops were closed down. Only the reclamation and general stores department is scheduled to keep functioning with 200 workers to report for duty in that department Monday.

T&P officials said the dispute was endangering the car building program at the Marshall shops this year. The local plant assembles railroad cars with about 250 cars scheduled for completion in 1956.

The company also has plans to erect a new car building shop here which would employ about 100 persons.

The dispute came to a head Tuesday when about 200 car shop employes walked out in support of a demand they should perform a certain welding job which previously was done by members of the boiler makers union.

Lee mailed his tax report to the Internal Revenue Service here. He sent along a letter outlining his views.

Charles I. Fox, district director of internal revenue, refused to comment.

An Internal Revenue Service official who asked that he not be quoted by name said Lee's return would be handled in a routine way. The official said a lien could be filed against a taxpayer's property to collect a tax claim.

"I am not attempting to avoid payment of taxes," Lee said in the letter accompanying his return, "but am simply using this means to bring a constitutional question before a federal court.

"I trust you will proceed with the necessary legal action against me to collect my unremitted tax and thus bring this matter before a federal court."

Humphrey Blasts Dulles

'Brink Of War' Tactics Stand Demanded Of Ike

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP) — A demand that President Eisenhower tell whether he approves "brink of war" tactics in foreign policy was made tonight by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn).

Humphrey declared "indiscreet" remarks by Secretary of State Dulles showed "callousness toward world opinion," tended to sap this nation's alliances and to dull the edge of its foreign policy.

Humphrey issued a statement calling on Eisenhower to state whether he agreed with Dulles.

Earlier in the day, Dulles okayed, as correct in substance, remarks attributed to him by an interviewer for Life magazine. Life had quoted him as saying the Eisenhower administration had "walked to the brink" of war three times and averted it by "strong actions."

Dulles said the Chinese Reds were put on notice that the United States would hit them with atomic weapons if they walked out of the [illegible] talks or intervened openly in Indochina. The third instance he mentioned was when Congress authorized Eisenhower to fight for Formosa.

Dulles' remarks stirred alarmed comment in British newspapers, one of them calling him "this edgy gambler."

Humphrey said that taken literally the magazine article "in effect expounds a new basis for American foreign policy. Mr. Dulles' art of getting to the verge of war comes precariously close to rejecting the traditional American conviction that we must never strike the first blow."

"America's prestige and leadership," Humphrey continued, "rest not only on guns and dollars but on the public image we project to the world. Much harm can be done by the way things are said, the postures we strike, and the heedles things we do for domestic political consumption. Indiscreet articles like the Dulles article sap the vitality of our alliances and dull the edge of our foreign policy.

"Is it too much to ask that henceforth we have an American secretary of state rather than a Republican one?"

Earlier Humphrey had told the Senate that Dulles' remarks were "diametrically opposite" to testimony Dulles himself had given the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in secret session. The senator said he would demand that this testimony be made public.

Wherens the Life magazine article pictured the administration policy on Indochina as a diplomatic feet saving much of Indochina, Humphrey described the policy as "disgraceful" and said the episode led to an "unfortunate" settlement dividing up Indochina with the Reds. The senator said that at the time Dulles sought to lay the blame on Anthony Eden of Britain and Mendes-France of France.

moved the locks at night "from every door in the joint," O'Keefe was quoted.

A keymaker employed by the gang fashioned keys from these locks, while gang members hid in parked trucks in the garage to watch for Brink's workers who might come along.

O'Keefe told Byrne that on the night of the holdup, McGinnis, one of the suspects, "didn't show."

"We met him later," O'Keefe said.

He told how they went to the scene in two trucks. O'Keefe said eight men rode in one truck, donning the fantastic pea jacket and other disguises en route. Another truck carried the lookout and was parked "upt he street" to divert attention in case of trouble.

They walked through a small park and entered.

"We had keys for everything," O'Keefe said.

The gang executed the holdup as planned, and met the next day to count the loot. They destroyed new bills and moved part of the loot to other places. Some days later the gang split up the loot.

O'Keefe said he counted his share and found he had been gypped of $2,000. This started his quarrel with the gang. O'Keefe said he later gave his $98,000 share to Maffie to hold for him but, he said, Maffie did not return any of the loot when he demanded it.

The defendants were indicted under state law because state penalties are heavier than federal.

to such things as improved navigation, better radio and other communications, and more accurate weather forecasting.

The Defense Department, which is conducting the satellite project with the U.S. National Committee for the International Geophysical Year, said only that the planners hope to get "at least one" satellite successfully launched during IGY, which extends from July 1957 to Dec. 31, 1958. The Defense Department's part is under Navy management.

The National Academy of Sciences, through the National Science Foundation, has recommended that the United States build 10 satellites with the hope that "at least five or six" would be successful. They would be launched one at a time.

The Defense Department announcement said present plans call for the first satellite to weigh 21½ pounds, and consist of a metallic sphere — possibly aluminum—having a diameter of "at least 20 inches."

This would be larger than the "basketball-sized objectives envisioned when the satellite program was first announced by the White House last July 29.

The first-stage rocket will burn out and drop off at 30 to 40 miles altitude. By this time the vehicle will have a velocity of 3,000 to 4,000 miles an hour.

The second rocket will burn out at 130 miles altitude, when the velocity will be 11,000 miles an hour.

After coasting to an altitude of 300 miles, the third rocket motor will fire and accelerate the satellite to a speed of about 18,000 miles an hour.

The satellite will then take off on its own and whirl in its orbit for possibly two weeks to a month before the atmosphere—thin though it is—gradually slows it down. Ultimately it will burn up like a "shooting star."

While orbiting, it is expected that its automatic instruments will radio back information on certain celestial and other observations.

The Defense Department selected Patrick Air Force Base, which has a firing range for rocket and missile tests extending southeastward toward over the Atlantic, "on the basis of operational requirements for large rocket launchings" and because it "is suitable to the scientific needs of the program."

A project official explained to a reporter that for one thing, the three burned-out rockets would fall at sea, rather than on inhabited areas.

The Defense Department said "engineering problems" remain to be solved for both the rockets and the satellite. But project officials voiced confidence that most of these will be solved in time.

The announcement indicated a belief that one major problem has been licked—protecting the satellite from the 1,000-degree temperature to which it may be exposed as it is rocketed up through the earth's atmosphere.

Heart Attack Fatal To Catahoula Man

SICILY ISLAND, Jan. 13 (Special)—Columbus D. Kiper, 66, veteran of World War I, and retired farmer of Catahoula parish was found dead at his residence near here today.

Catahoula parish coroner reported that Kiper died of a heart attack sometime late Thursday night or early Friday.

British Rush Troops To Trouble Spot In Latest Incident In Berlin Area

BERLIN, Jan. 13—UP—West Berlin police arrested two Communist border guards Friday half a mile inside the American sector of the divided city. The East German policemen said they wandered into the western territory "to buy western cigarets."

The two Reds who were armed resisted arrest and one of them swung his submachine gun into firing position when the western policemen approached, West Berlin police said. A western policeman knocked the gun out of the hands of the Communist guard and both men gave up.

It was the second border incident of the day in the city. Earlier, Communist police fired warning shots at a British repair crew attempting to remove a wrecked jeep and British troops rushed to the East-West border.

Twenty-five East German people's policemen threatened the repairmen at gunpoint and then held them at bay for almost five hours. The Red police allowed removal of the jeep only after 50 British troops arrived and a Soviet officer intervened.

The military police jeep skidded into a tree adjoining a path in Spandau forest late Thursday night. It was not towed away until 4 a.m. Friday.

The front end of the vehicle stayed in West Berlin territory, but the rear end swung over into the Soviet zone of Germany. The Communist police refused to let the repairmen move the rear end across the border.

The three British MPs in the jeep were injured only slightly.

The police aimed their carbines at the British crewmen and told them to stay away from the jeep. When the Britons moved, the police fired six warnings shots into the air.

A Soviet officer was summoned but he told the British officer in charge of the crew that the incident was beyond his competence.

The British officer then called in the 50 troops on the double. A short time later, another Soviet officer arrived and authorized removal of the jeep immediately.

Ex-Chairman Of ICC Admits He Was 'Indiscreet'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 —UP— The former chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission admitted before resigning Nov. 25 that he had been "indiscreet" in telephoning railroad officials about a contract for a friend last summer.

The ex-official, Hugh W. Cross, in testimony published Friday, denied that he brought any pressure on the railroads or that he had any "interest" in the projects of his friend, Chicago trucker John L. Keeshin.

Keeshin testified he had offered Cross a job previously but the proposal fell through. He said he had a standing offer to give the ICC official a job if he left government.

Cross acknowledged that a job with Keeshin was in the "formative stage" in 1954 but flatly denied the offer had been renewed.

The testimony was made public by the Senate Permanent Investigating subcommittee, which questioned Cross and others in the case behind closed doors last Nov. 15. Cross resigned 10 days later, citing health and his "respect and regard" for the ICC and Eisenhower administration. He denounced "conflict of interest" charges against him as "baseless."

Cross, former Republican lieutenant - governor of Illinois, was appointed to the ICC in 1949 by former President Truman.

Keeshin was awarded a contract last summer for transferring baggage between Chicago stations. The contract had been held for 102 years by the Parmalee Transportation Co.

Cross acknowledged he had discussed the contract with presidents of the three railroads involved. While acknowledging this was an "indiscretion" because of his official post, he said he could not believe "that my action in any way affected those contracts."

While the ICC regulates interstate traffic, the Chicago baggage contract did not come under its jurisdiction.

Paul E. Feucht, president of the Chicago g North Western Railway Co., testified that Cross telephoned him last May 13 to say he was "very much interested in seeing that Keeshin would get his contract."

Cross replied he phoned Feucht because the Chicago and North Western station was remote and he thought the line should consider the Keeshin bid along with two others.

Morrison Claims M'Lemore Is A 'Paid Hatchet Man

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 13 (AP) — Mayor deLesseps Morrison charged tonight that James McLemore is a "paid hatchet man" out to stir up racial hatred in the Louisiana governors race.

Morrison, following his custom, did not identify McLemore by name but made it very clear to whom he referred.

"This candidate, whom I call number five," he said, "is spending all of his time on the segregation issue and at the same time attacking me on this subject.

"This candidate is conducting an irresponsible and unbalanced appeal to prejudice in an effort to stir up race hatred. From the tenor of his remarks, I would judge that he is paid hatchet man to do this job.

Morrison defied anyone to show where the color line has been broken in New Orleans.

"This," he said, "is better assurance than the mouthing of a candidate who has never served a single day in public office and who has proven himself completely unsuited to manage the people's affairs in these grave times."

Candidate 'Pledged' To Ike Upsets GOP Plans In New Hampshire Race

By JOSEPH D. KAMIN

CONCORD, N.H., Jan. 13 (AP) — Two independent maneuvers surprised the Eisenhower ranks today as the candidate filing period for New Hampshire's March 13 presidential primary opened with a flurry of activity.

First, a weekly newspaper publisher filed as a delegate candidate "pledged" to the President's renomination. This was in direct contrast to the strategy of Eisenhower's organized supporters, who planned to file a complete slate of "favorable" candidates.

Then, a baker of Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) jumped into the delegate contest with a declaration that, "We must find a winning substitute and permit Mr. Eisenhower to retire to his Gettysburg farm and live out his alloted life span."

And late in the day another Knowland supporter also filed.

Meanwhile, Gov. Lane Dwinell, head of the Eisenhower forces in this state, and eight other GOP leaders submitted petitions placing their names on the ballot as delegate candidates "favorable" to Eisenhower.

The governor said he wasn't disturbed "even though it is Friday the 13th."

One of them, Patrick Napoleon Henry O'York, 77, of Dover, was the first candidate to file. He qualified for ballot listing as "favorable" to Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

The other, Emile A. Marcoux of Manchester, said he will run "pledged" to Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), who opens a three-day New Hampshire campaign tour tomorrow.

There was no sign of early activity in behalf of Adlai Stevenson. However, one of his leading supporters indicated a slate pledged to the 1952 Democratic nominee would be filed later.

The basic difference between a pledged candidate and a favorable one is that the former must produce written consent of his candidate before the end of the filing—Feb. 11.

If such consent is furnished, a pledged delegate is so listed on the ballot and must, by law, vote for his candidate as long as his name is before the national convention.

The Eisenhower forces long ago decided to enter a complete slate of delegates favorable to the President, thus avoiding any necessity for Eisenhower to give his consent.

But Earl S. Hewitt, publisher of the Hanover Gazette, submitted papers as a delegate contestant pledged to the President.

"Every candidate should run pledged to give the people a chance to know definitely where the delegates stand," he said.

Long Insists He Will Win Race For La. Governor

LA ROSE, Jan. 13 (Special)—Earl K. Long said today he would win the present governor's campaign on the basis of his qualifications, his experience and his platform.

Speaking along lower Bayou LaFourche on a cool but bright afternoon, Long observed that his opponents are attacking others right and left." "I am not going to try to win this campaign on the demerits of my apponents. I am trying to win on my own qualifications and I think I can convince you I am the man to elect."

Long said he is going to make every effort to put Louisiana on a "Pay as you go" basis. He said now is the time to reduce state debts.

Gov. Robert Kennon increased the state debt $200,000,000 instead of decreasing it as he promised, Long charged.

At the same time the debt was being increased, the Kennon administration spending $350,000,000 more than any other administration in history. This, Long said, despite campaign promises to cut spending.

Long also hit at Mayor de Lesseps Morrison of New Orleans for circulating literature which termed "the most scurgilous" in Louisiana political history.

He said Morrison had claimed he was running a clean campaign and "that is the kind hyprocrisy he is dishing out."

Long said in additional comment on Louisiana politics that Dudley LeBlanc is going to "get the socks beat off him" in Vermillion and St. Mary Parishes. LeBlanc is stumping for Morrison and seeking re-election to the state senate.

Saturday the two sections of the ticket, the other headed by Lether Frazar, will stump through the state and then commence at New Orleans for a state-wide rally Saturday night.

The Times-Picayune said Fort Lewis authorities confirmed that Cosse was sent overseas last month, but parish records showed he voted Tuesday.

Williams, reached at Nederland, Tex., told reporters, he "never cast an absentee ballot in my life," nor did his wife and that they were not in Louisiana Jan. 10.

Asked for comment, Nunez said if anyone is casting absentee ballots for people out of state, it probably is due to the disappearance Nov. 1 of a book containing about 500 registration certificates.

"It appears," said Nunez, "that some of those certificates are appearing here in other hands."

Atty. Gen. Fred S. LeBlanc has said he will look into the previous absentee vote charges.

Emfinger, Jr., Gilbert; Mrs. Sue Thompson, Delhi; Rose Trichell, 103 Chappell, and Marion Guerriero, 307 Glenmar.

An entry from Mrs. J. D. Busby, Route four, Winnsboro, came close, but lost because of an apparent last minute dicision to change two letters. Erasures over light ink lines with heavier lettering imposed over them revealed that the original decisions had been correct, but the changes were wrong. Otherwise, the entry would have been a perfect solution.

Next week, the new puzzle published in the Monday and Tuesday editions of the World will carry a jackpot of $50, and each week the puzzle goes unsolved, $25 will be added to the total.

Entries should be pasted on postcards so judges can check them readily. Other rules are carried with the puzzles each week.

CLUES ACROSS:

3. STE. is correct. The lictionary defines a designation as an appointment or nomination. This rules out SUE, a girl's name. Neither could it be SHE, which is furthermore ruled out since the clue says (abbrev.)

6. OUTLET is best. The clue mentions "some complaints". This means of course, a number of complaints. This makes CUTLET unlikely for if your CUTLET is too small you would hardly complain to a number of people but probably only to, say, the waiter or your butcher. Why any more? As for OUTLET, this would effect many people as a sink or sewer, or even the OUTLET to a lake, etc.

7. The answer, clearly, is "something to worry about and RAID, therefore, is favored. In many cases RAIN is something to HOPE FOR, not worry about.

8. CLAY is a medium of creative expression because it is used for modelling of all sorts of things. PLAY is too general a term. Furthermore, the PLAY is the finished product, not the medium. Neither is it correctly "creative" and the clue purposely says "creative". With CLAY you create something. With PLAY you do not necessarily.

10. "Stately" favors CREST, as of an old English family. An old CHEST may well be found in many a humble home.

14. STRING best fits the reference in the clue to being on the safe side. String is used to secure parcels, etc., safely. SPRINGS, on the other hand, come in hundreds of types and few of them have much to do with safety.

22. "Manager suggests a professional club, and GATE. EVERYBODY concerned with ANY club wants the GAME to be a good one.

23. OLD is apt because the clue says "might". A man's wife would certainly not want him to wear ODD socks but she might, or MIGHT NOT, want him to wear OLD socks, depending on what condition the socks were in. They might be OLD and still be very good.

25. CAR is correct. Many a man, including golfers, enjoy going around in a CAR. However, he can't enjoy going around in PAR because he doesn't know he has gone around in PAR until he has finished going around.

CLUES DOWN:

1. FULL is more apt. A life spent in the pursuit of pleasure can hardly be a FULL one. Amusements pall, and they may find life extremely DULL.

3. STOCKS is an excellent answer which EMBRACES STACKS, thus covering both cases. STACKS ARE STOCKS, or part of the STOCKS. STICKS is not favored.

16. They would certainly regard it as a TREAT and a privilege to be taken up; out whether or not they thought it was GREAT would depend on how they felt when in the air.

18. DARE is best. The clue says "by this. DARK is, therefore, out since while one refers to being scared BY a DARE, one says scared OF the DARK, not BY the DARK.

20. It is only "WHEN YOU ARE TIRED that it may mean an effort merely to lift your LEGS. It may well mean an effort to lift heavy LOGS, however fit you feel.

21. HOPE is good, but the clue is an overstatement for HOME. Many a person has been utterly forsaken and desolate, and yet had a HOME. Since, in this usage, "forsaken" parctically means HOPELESS, HOPE is a particularly good answer.

Security Council Unanimously For Condemning Israel

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 13 (AP)—Israel learned today that the U.N. Security Council was unanimous for condemnation of her Army's Dec. 11 raid on Syrian forces near the Sea of Galilee.

Four more members, in a 96-minute meeting, said the council should vote such a condemnation. They were China, Australia, Cuba and Peru. The other seven had said so before.

The council adjourned to Tuesday morning when it will hear from Syria and Israel and then may vote on pending proposals.

These include a strong Soviet resolution calling the attack "outrageous," a milder U.S.-British-French resolution calling it "flagrant" and Iranian amendments to make the latter more like the former.

"All condemn the attack. The Soviet and Iranian proposals, adopting a Syrian suggestion, also would have the council decide Israel should pay "adequate compensation" for loss of Syrian life and property.

The operation cost a reported 56 Syrian and 6 Israeli lives. Israel said it was to quiet Syrian guns that had fired on Israeli fishing and police boats on the sea, which is within Israel near the Syrian border. But Syria complained to the U.N. that it was "open aggression."

Tingfu F. Tsiang of Nationalist China and Victor Andres Belaunde of Peru came out today for having the council call for compensation as Russia, Yugoslavia and Iran already had done.

But that made only five of the 11 council members on record for such a provision, and seven votes would be necessary to put it across. The big Western powers and Belgium have called the idea impractical.

Tsiang said that, to ally distrust of the U.N. among Palestine Arab refugees, the council should vote for compensation and leave the details to the U.N. Palestine truce chief, Canadian Maj. Gen. Edson L. M. Burns.

But he said this should be done only if Israel failed to make a voluntary offer to pay for the Syrian losses.

The Israeli delegation forwarded this suggestion to Jerusalem with a request for instructions.

Tsiang, Belaunde and Carlos Blanco of Cuba all expressed general approval of the Western resolution. E. Ronald Walker, Australia's new representative to the U.N., indicated he held the same opinion.

The Chinese said the Israeli raid was unjustified. But he said Syrian interference with Israel activity on the sea also was unjustified. The Western resolution, unlike the Soviet text, mentions such interference.

600 Railroad Workers Off Jobs In Union Dispute

MARSHALL, Tex., Jan. 13 (AP) — Approximately 600 railroad workers were suspended from their jobs here today with the closing of the Texas & Pacific Railroad shops over a jurisdictional dispute between two union crafts.

Five of the six departments within the shops were closed down. Only the reclamation and general stores department is scheduled to keep functioning with 200 workers to report for duty in that department Monday.

T&P officials said the dispute was endangering the car building program at the Marshall shops this year. The local plant assembles railroad cars with about 250 cars scheduled for completion in 1956.

The company also has plans to erect a new car building shop here which would employ about 100 persons.

The dispute came to a head Tuesday when about 200 car shop employes walked out in support of a demand they should perform a certain welding job which previously was done by members of the boiler makers union.

Humphrey Blasts Dulles

'Brink Of War' Tactics Stand Demanded Of Ike

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)— A demand that President Eisenhower tell whether he approves "brink of war" tactics in foreign policy was made tonight by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn).

Humphrey declared "indiscreet" remarks by Secretary of State Dulles showed "callousness toward world opinion," tended to sap this nation's alliances and to dull the edge of its foreign policy.

Humphrey issued a statement calling on Eisenhower to state whether he agreed with Dulles.

Earlier in the day, Dulles okayed, as correct in substance, remarks attributed to him by an interviewer for Life magazine. Life had quoted him as saying the Eisenhower administration had "walked to the brink" of war three times and averted it by "strong actions."

Dulles said the Chinese Reds were put on notice that the United States would hit them with atomic weapons if they walked out of the Korean truce talks or intervened openly in Indochina. The third instance he mentioned was when Congress authorized Eisenhower to fight for Formosa.

Humphrey said that taken literally the magazine article "in effect expounds a new basis for American foreign policy. Mr. Dulles' art of getting to the verge of war comes precariously close to rejecting the traditional American conviction that we must never strike the first blow."

"America's prestige and leadership," Humphrey continued, "rest not only on guns and dollars but on the public image we project to the world. Much harm can be done by the way things are said, the postures we strike, and the heedles things we do for domestic political consumption. Indiscreet articles like the Dulles article sap the vitality of our alliances and dull the edge of our foreign policy.

"Is it too much to ask that henceforth we have an American secretary of state rather than a Republican one?"

Earlier Humphrey had told the Senate that Dulles' remarks were "diametrically opposite" to testimony Dulles himself had given the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in secret session. The senator said he would demand that this testimony be made public.

Whereas the Life magazine article pictured the administration policy on Indochina as a diplomatic feet saving much of Indochina, Humphrey described the policy as "disgraceful" and said the episode led to an "unfortunate" settlement dividing up Indochina with the Reds. The senator said that at the time Dulles sought to lay the blame on Anthony Eden of Britain and Mendes-France of France.

to such things as improved navigation, better radio and other communications, and more accurate weather forecasting.

The Defense Department, which is conducting the satellite project with the U.S. National Committee for the International Geophysical Year, said only that the planners hope to get "at least one" satellite successfully launched during IGY, which extends from July 1957 to Dec. 31, 1958. The Defense Department's part is under Navy management.

The National Academy of Sciences, through the National Science Foundation, has recommended that the United States build 10 satellites with the hope that "at least five or six" would be successful. They would be launched one at a time.

The Defense Department announcement said present plans call for the first satellite to weigh 21½ pounds, and consist of a metallic sphere — possibly aluminum—having a diameter of "at least 20 inches."

This would be larger than the "basketball-sized objectives envisioned when the satellite program was first announced by the White House last July 29.

The first-stage rocket will burn out and drop off at 30 to 40 miles altitude. By this time the vehicle will have a velocity of 3,000 to 4,000 miles an hour.

The second rocket will burn out at 130 miles altitude, when the velocity will be 11,000 miles an hour.

After coasting to an altitude of 300 miles, the third rocket motor will fire and accelerate the satellite to a speed of about 18,000 miles an hour.

The satellite will then take off on its own and whirl in its orbit for possibly two weeks to a month before the atmosphere—thin though it is—gradually slows it down. Ultimately it will burn up like a "shooting star."

While orbiting, it is expected that its automatic instruments will radio back information on certain celestial and other observations.

The Defense Department selected Patrick Air Force Base, which has a firing range for rocket and missile tests extending southeastward toward over the Atlantic, "on the basis of operational requirements for large rocket launchings" and because it "is suitable to the scientific needs of the program."

A project official explained to a reporter that for one thing, the three burned-out rockets would fall at sea, rather than on inhabited areas.

The Defense Department said "engineering problems" remain to be solved for both the rockets and the satellite. But project officials voiced confidence that most of these will be solved in time.

The announcement indicated a belief that one major problem has been licked—protecting the satellite from the 1,000-degree temperature to which it may be exposed as it is rocketed up through the earth's atmosphere.

Heart Attack Fatal To Catahoula Man

SICILY ISLAND, Jan. 13 (Special)—Columbus D. Kiper, 66, veteran of World War I, and retired farmer of Catahoula parish was found dead at his residence near here today.

Catahoula parish coroner reported that Kiper died of a heart attack sometime late Thursday night or early Friday.

Interment will follow in the Pine Hill Cemetery near Sicily Island.

Survivors include four brothers, Charlie and S. R. Kiper, of Sicily Island; Willie of Winnsboro; and Allen Kiper, Denham Springs, La.; one sister, Mrs. Susie Price, Wisner and a number of neices and nephews.

O'KEEFE NAMED BRINKS CASE "LEAK" — Joseph J. "Specs" O'Keefe (left), 47, described as the "leak" in the million dollar Brinks robbery case, enters court at Boston to testify before a grand jury investigating the biggest cash holdup in the history of the nation. With him is Dist. Atty. Garrett H. Byrne who will head the prosecution of 11 men arrested by the FBI and charged with the robbery which took place Jan. 17, 1950. O'Keefe is one of the accused men. Officers say he decided to "talk" because he didn't get his share of the loot. (AP Wirephoto)

British Rush Troops To Trouble Spot In Latest Incident In Berlin Area

BERLIN, Jan. 13—UP—West Berlin police arrested two Communist border guards Friday half a mile inside the American sector of the divided city. The East German policemen said they wandered into the western territory "to buy western cigarets."

The two Reds who were armed resisted arrest and one of them swung his submachine gun into firing position when the western policemen approached, West Berlin police said. A western policeman knocked the gun out of the hands of the Communist guard and both men gave up.

It was the second border incident of the day in the city. Earlier, Communist police fired warning shots at a British repair crew attempting to remove a wrecked jeep and British troops rushed to the East-West border.

Twenty-five East German people's policemen threatened the repairmen at gunpoint and then held them at bay for almost five hours. The Red police allowed removal of the jeep only after 50 British troops arrived and a Soviet officer intervened.

The military police jeep skidded into a tree adjoining a path in Spandau forest late Thursday night. It was not towed away until 4 a.m. Friday.

The front end of the vehicle stayed in West Berlin territory, but the rear end swung over into the Soviet zone of Germany The Communist police refused to let the repairmen move the rear end across the border.

The three British MPs in the jeep were injured only slightly.

The police aimed their carbines at the British crewmen and told them to stay away from the jeep. When the Britons moved, the police fired six warnings shots into the air.

A Soviet officer was summoned but he told the British officer in charge of the crew that the incident was beyond his competence.

The British officer then called in the 50 troops on the double. A short time later, another Soviet officer arrived and authorized removal of the jeep immediately.

Morrison Claims M'Lemore Is A 'Paid Hatchet Man

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 13 (AP) — Mayor deLesseps Morrison charged tonight that James McLemore is a "paid hatchet man" out to stir up racial hatred in the Louisiana governors race.

Morrison, following his custom, did not identify McLemore by name but made it very clear to whom he referred.

"This candidate, whom I call number five," he said, "is spending all of his time on the segregation issue and at the same time attacking me on this subject.

"This candidate is conducting an irresponsible and unbalanced appeal to prejudice in an effort to stir up race hatred. From the tenor of his remarks, I would judge that he is paid hatchet man to do this job.

Morrison defied anyone to show where the color line has been broken in New Orleans.

"This," he said, "is better assurance than the mouthing of a candidate who has never served a single day in public office and who has proven himself completely unsuited to manage the people's affairs in these grave times."

Special Board

lieved the new board, "together with the regular reviews" conducted by appropriate congressional committees, will guarantee that CIA's "highly important and sensitive work is being efficiently conducted."

Besides Killian other members of the new board are:

Adm. Richard L. Conolly (retired), former staff commander of the U.S. Fleet and now president of Long Island University, Brooklyn.

Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, Air Force hero of World War II, and now an industrial consultant in New York.

Benjamin F. Fairless. director and member of the finance committee of U.S. Steel Corp.

Gen. John E. Hull, former commanding general of American forces in the Far East and now president of the Manufacturing Chemists' Association, Inc., Washington.

Ex-Chairman Of ICC Admits He Was 'Indiscreet'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 —UP— The former chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission admitted before resigning Nov. 25 that he had been "indiscreet" in telephoning railroad officials about a contract for a friend last summer.

The ex-official, Hugh W. Cross, in testimony published Friday, denied that he brought any pressure on the railroads or that he had any "interest" in the projects of his friend, Chicago trucker John L. Keeshin.

Keeshin testified he had offered Cross a job previously but the proposal fell through. He said he had a standing offer to give the ICC official a job if he left government.

Cross acknowledged that a job with Keeshin was in the "formative stage" in 1954 but flatly denied the offer had been renewed.

The testimony was made public by the Senate Permanent Investigating subcommittee, which questioned Cross and others in the case behind closed doors last Nov. 15. Cross resigned 10 days later, citing health and his "respect and regard" for the ICC and Eisenhower administration. He denounced "conflict of interest" charges against him as "baseless."

Cross, former Republican lieutenant - governor of Illinois, was appointed to the ICC in 1949 by former President Truman.

Keeshin was awarded a contract last summer for transferring baggage between Chicago stations. The contract had been held for 102 years by the Parmalee Transportation Co.

Cross acknowledged he had discussed the contract with presidents of the three railroads involved. While acknowledging this was an "indiscretion" because of his official post, he said he could not believe "that my action in any way affected those contracts."

While the ICC regulates interstate traffic, the Chicago baggage contract did not come under its jurisdiction.

Paul E. Feucht, president of the Chicago g North Western Railway Co., testified that Cross telephoned him last May 13 to say he was "very much interested in seeing that Keeshin would get his contract."

Cross replied he phoned Feucht because the Chicago and North Western station was remote and he thought the line should consider the Keeshin bid along with two others.

Production Cost For Small Yield Is High

A favorable outlook for ample sources and supplies of fertilizer for the coming crop year prompted A. G. Killgore, associate agronomist with the LSU Agricultural Extension Service, to comment on the use of adequate plant foods for the 1956 corn crop.

From the standpoint of the plowing, planting and cultivating done, Killgore pointed out that it costs as much for a 20-bushel corn crop as for a one-hundred bushel corn crop. Other factors being equal, with an extra $20 worth of fertilizer per acre one-hundred bushels of corn can be grown per acre.

TAX CHIEF — Russell Chase Harrington, 65, of Providence, R. I., is the new Commissioner of Internal Revenue. He replaces T. Coleman Andrews, who resigned the post.

Production Cost For Small Yield Is High

A favorable outlook for ample sources and supplies of fertilizer for the coming crop year prompted A. G. Killgore, associate agronomist with the LSU Agricultural Extension Service, to comment on the use of adequate plant foods for the 1956 corn crop.

From the standpoint of the plowing, planting and cultivating done, Killgore pointed out that it costs as much for a 20-bushel corn crop as for a one-hundred bushel corn crop. Other factors being, equal, with an extra $20 worth of fertilizer per acre one-hundred bushels of corn can be grown per acre.
